San Miguel de Allende, Mexico

We spent a pleasant Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Mullin, who are getting so much pleasure out of their retirement in San Miguel that we are going to tell you about it. It gives an idea of the perfect way to spend the last few years of a lifetime. Their experience would not be possible in the United States because that country is overcrowded with others who are trying to do the same thing.

The Mullins are protected from the outside world by thick cement walls. Their friends in the American colony are available to them at any time, but they have a perfect haven in their own casa with many species of bird life (including a parrot or two) and abundant foliage that surrounds over 200 specimens of orchids (160 varieties).

Starting at the beginning, Mr. Mullin resided 45 years in Hawaii. When it came time to retire he was fed up with tourists and the city way of life. He found San Miguel eight years ago. For a hobby he took up photography in the Instituto Allende, with such success that his pictures have been given national recognition by a number of magazines.

His files of scenes around Mexico are a veritable storehouse of Mexican living. "They are just for my friends," he said as he handed a few of them to us, refusing any mention of pesos.

Mrs. Mullin is an artist who finds additional expression for her hobby in the cultivation of the orchid. It is no easy job to grow that plant, but she and her husband get a lot of satisfaction watching their development and acquiring new species —not the usual hot house kind that are sold in U.S. florist shops. How are they able to take the time to do it? The same way that many members of the American colony find life easy in San Miguel—the year round employment of a Criada and a Mozo (Man and Wife) who are also tucked away in their own apartment within those thick cement walls.

The Mullins are surrounded by wild bird life for which they have provided cages and the food that the various kinds of birds thrive upon. In return, their bird guests fill the hours with their song—not to omit a hello or two from parrots. (The caging of wild birds is not prohibited in Mexico.)

We took three days vacation to visit Guadalajara—200 miles distant, the second largest city in Mexico. If our readers cannot pronounce that city correctly, here is how to do it—Guah-dah-lah-HAH-rah. It has well earned its reputation as a beautiful city with its many large fountains, parks, public buildings and large concourses for public gardens—where thousands can gather for fiestas, etc.

Of course, like all Mexican cities, there is the regulation band stand where we enjoyed a 40-piece "band-orchestra" concert that is repeated twice weekly. We did not need a lecturer to tell us last night that there is a brand of cultural life in Mexican cities that is missing in many U.S. places. Somehow, some way, many modern Mexican cities have a spaciousness that is missing back home, even if their cities are several hundred years old.

The family of our hotel manager was delighted last week with the safe arrival in a Mexican hospital of a good Irishman, Christopher William, who has grown over four inches in 10 days. Further additions to the family are three pure-bred French poodles, which the manager hopes will pay the bill for the arrival of the Irishman.

Park Election

Thompson and Edwards Win

Incumbent Douglas Thomson and Hasbrook Subdivision favorite John C. Edwards won seats on the Arlington Heights Park District Board of Commissioners as a result of balloting Tuesday.

In a light turnout, voters awarded Thomson, of 802 Catino, 347 votes, and Edwards, of 1612 N. Ridge Ave., 297 votes.

Other candidates were: S. Frederick Marks, 520 S. Mitchell Ave., 217 votes; John E. Gessert, 929 S. Chestnut Ave., 158 votes; Orville V. Anderson, 701 S. Walnut Ave., 136 votes; and Arlene Ruth Tina, 22 N. Salem Ave., 85 votes.

WRITE-IN votes—one each—were accorded to Helen Kilfoy, Gilbert Yeogel, Stewart Grant, Murph Fink and Robert Byrne.

Edwards, a 34-year-old department manager for U. S. Gypsum Co., was the recipient of a concerted campaign drive by his Hasbrook neighbors.

Pro-Edwards telephone calls were made in the subdivision Tuesday and literature in the candidate's behalf was distributed door-to-door in several sections of the village.

TWO POLLING places were used for the election. They were at the Pioneer and Recreation Park Fieldhouses.

Total votes by precinct follow, Pioneer totals listed first:

Thomson, 189-158; Edwards, 75-222; Marks, 138-79; Gessert, 83-75; Anderson, 81-55; Mrs. Tina, 55-30.

Approve Transfer Of $100,000 Cash To Local Schools

by JACK MARTIN

Wheeling Township residents approved the Town Fund budget but hassled over surplus funds Tuesday during the annual town meeting at Arlington Heights Miner Junior High School.

In what moderator Richard Cowen, 124 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, called "the only true example of grassroots government," the assemblage voted $100,000 in surplus funds to elementary school districts in the township and approved a $25,000 loan to the Road and Bridge Fund.

The group of over 200 residents turned down a request for $10,000 to aid a non-profit, non-sectarian guidance center for "senior citizens."

THE DISPUTE over surplus funds was a duplicate of last year's controversy which saw $90,000 go to the grade schools.

The schoolmen came to the meeting somewhat smarting because the districts still hadn't received the funds voted them at the last annual meeting. The funds have been held up through legal technicalities.

(Under Illinois law, surplus funds may be voted to the schools if the township has not taxed for "township purposes" for three years. There has been no such tax, although the Road and Bridge Fund has taxed. The question of law concerned is whether the Road and Bridge Fund tax nullified the schools' right to the funds.)

The motion to give the schools $100,000, submitted by Mrs. R. B. Yadon, 946 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, required a two-thirds majority, which it received, 142-45.

THE DECISION was not without contest, however. Several attempts were made to cut the figure, with George Coker, 1611 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights, asking for an amendment slicing the amount to $50,000 because "the township was not now accepting its responsibility for general assistance."

He wanted $100,000 kept in reserve and $50,000 given to the schools.

The amendment failed 130-56.

Some felt the school dole would leave the township fund strapped for funds, while others would have preferred to see the money spent on road improvements.

The petition for $10,000 for a guidance center for senior citizens was voted down on the strength of protests that the sponsoring group had not yet formed.

Pancake Day Set April 27

Arlington Heights Little League will stage its annual Pancake Day at Arlington High School cafeteria on Saturday, April 27, starting at 7:30 a.m.

Before the last pancake is taken from the griddle some 12 hours later, it is estimated that 5,000 persons will have turned out in support of the league's principal fund raising event of the year.

Asked this week what it requires to feed that number of people, John O'Berry, 733 S. Mitchell, who is in charge of procurement, replied:

"TWELVE hundred pounds of pancake mix, 175 gallons of milk and 600 eggs for the batter; 18,000 links of sausage; 4500 half pint cartons of milk for the youngsters; 720 bottles of syrup; 588 ounces of instant coffee plus 60 pints of half and half for the adults; and 13,800 pads of butter. . .should do it."

"Incidentally, all team members will want to know that Pancake Day tickets are being mailed to them now and you can get yours from your favorite little leaguer when he calls at your home," added O'Berry.

COMBINED APPEAL MEET WEDNESDAY

Directors to Be Selected

Seven members of the Board of Directors of the Arlington Heights Combined Appeal will be elected Wednesday at the corporation's annual meeting.

Announcement of the meeting was made this week by Thomas H. Stewart, 1011 N. Gibbons Ave., president.

It will be held at 8 p.m. at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Highway.

"Anyone who contributed $5 or more is considered a member of the corporation and an eligible voter," Stewart said.

Business to be conducted at the meeting includes the election of new directors, presentation of a financial report, consideration of changing the organization's name to Arlington Heights United Fund, and appointment of committee chairmen.

IN ADDITION, Stewart pointed out, representatives of participating agencies may want to voice opinions about past and future successes of the fund drive.

The Combined Appeal, organized in July, 1962, collected a total of $25,800 last year. Goal was $75,000.

Stewart explained the disparity between the goal and the amount collected by citing:

The late start of organization, lack of total cooperation from independent charitable operations, payroll deduction difficulties, conflict in timing with Chicago's Crusade of Mercy, collection lags in the business community and Scarsdale and Scarsdale Estates Subdivisions, and a total goal known to be too lofty.

DISTRIBUTION OF the funds was as follows:

Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, 25 per cent; Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook County, 16.66 per cent; American Red Cross, 11.67 per cent; Northwest Suburban YMCA, 10 per cent; Birth Defects and Polio Fund, 10 per cent.

Also, Campfire Girls, 8.34 per cent; Northwest Family Service, 6.67 per cent; Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, 5 per cent; Mental Health Association, 4.33 per cent, and USO, 2.3 per cent.

"Most of the 10 participating agencies have received an amount comparable to what they have collected independently here in the past," Stewart said.

"Of course, it must be pointed out that all of us working for the Combined Appeal are amateurs and that we expect to achieve much more success this year. This type of thing was completely new to us.

"WE INTENTIONALLY established our goal on the high side and hoped to make it. Budget requests were not reduced. They were simply added together and that total became our goal."

The $75,000 goal was equal to $2.25 per capita or $10 per household, Stewart said. Experts in the fund collecting business says $1 per capita is considered "good success" the first year a combined organization operates.

After organization in July, the village was divided into four geographical areas plus the business and professional classification.

Expectation was $20,000 from business and industry, $10,000 from payroll deductions, and the remainder ($45,000) from the door-to-door canvass.

ADMINISTRATIVE expenses totalled $600 or a little more than two per cent.

This year's Combined Appeal budget hearings will be held in July and August, Stewart said. The drive will probably be conducted in October.

Other 1962 officers are Donald Hartman, 1021 N. Princeton Ave., vice president; Paul E. Collins of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, treasurer, and Mrs. Ben F. Carns, 522 S. Chestnut Ave., secretary.

The board of directors has 21 members.

To Tom Kouros:

Humor's Part Of Business

Tom Kouros is a young Arlington Heights businessman with a sense of humor.

And he believes in sharing his fun with others.

Kouros, owner of Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes, 8 N. Vail Ave., has erected a sign in front of his business for publicly displaying bits of humor, witty sayings and commercials suggested by customers.

Sometimes high bowling scores are listed. People who have never been in the establishment notice the sign and make suggestions as to its content.

"WE HAVE a lot of fun here," Kouros explained. "The sport of bowling is light-natured, and we're just carrying our fun to the rest of the community."

Currently on display in large letters over the bowling alley entrance are: "Vots Mit Dese Gluey Pins" and "Hurray Village Theatre."

The former is a poke in the ribs for all bowlers and the latter a plug for the Arlington Heights theatrical group, Kouros said.

THE 35-YEAR-OLD businessman believes his is a unique approach to recreation. Stress at the six-lane alley is on its "clubbish atmosphere."

"We're not too large, but we have 22 leagues here and others waiting to sign up," Kouros beamed. "We try to create a homey, do-it-yourself atmosphere."

Kouros, a resident of Arlington Heights for 25 years, moved to Barrington Woods four years ago. He and his wife, Dawn, have three children, Chris, 5, Marcy, 4, and Tyson, 2.

HE HELPED to organize the Paddock Classic Traveling Bowling League and is active in local business circles.

About his business billboard, Kouros said: "I hope anyone with a good suggestion will let me know what it is. Humor is not discouraged."

Next Phase Of Pickup Is Monday

The Village of Arlington Heights and Laseke Disposal Co. will undertake part two of a four-phase rubbish pickup program Monday.

Residents living north of Northwest Highway and east of State Road are asked to place all rubbish at the curbs for pickup Monday, April 8.

Pickup dates are also April 15 and 22.

THE APRIL 15 pickup is for those living south of Northwest Highway and west of State Road. The April 22 collection is for those south of Northwest Highway and east of State Road.

Rubbish should be placed in liftable containers and large items piled in orderly fashion. No dirt, concrete or building material will be picked up.

Candy Eggs To Be Given

The Easter Bunny arrives at Arlington Market Shopping Center, Dryden Place at Kensington Road, this Saturday.

Like all Easter Bunnies, he will be loaded with candy eggs for the children. However, this bunny has a special treat in store for the children at 10 a.m. Saturday.

HE'LL BE giving away 2,000 eggs of which 400 will contain prizes — $100 in cash, 100 Easter Baskets, and many other gifts.

The Easter Bunny will be featured at the Market on two Saturdays, April 6 and April 13, and will be giving out candy eggs from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Easter Egg Hunt Slated April 13

Children in the fifth grade, or younger, are invited to the Arlington Heights Park District's annual Easter egg hunt at Recreation and Pioneer Parks Saturday, April 13.

Movies, eggs, candy and prizes are in store for children who show up for the festivities which begin at 10 a.m.

Assigned to St. James

The Rev. Edward J. Laramie assumed his duties this week as parish priest at Arlington Heights St. James Catholic Church, 821 N. State Road.

He succeeds the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. George J. Stier, who died Feb. 6 at the age of 70.

"I have a great interest in schools, and look forward to working with the many children here," Rev. Laramie told the Herald.

THE NEW pastor is a graduate of Quigley Preparatory Seminary, Chicago, and St. Mary of the Lake Seminary, Mundelein. He has served at St. Martin's Church on Chicago's south side for the past 15 years.

Rev. Laramie becomes the second pastor at St. James in the last 28 years. Msgr. Stier was pastor from 1935 until his death earlier this year.

The church supports an elementary school and a junior high school which is now under construction and is expected to be ready for occupancy in September.

Sweeney to Head Community Council

Donald Sweeney, 1136 N. Forrest Ave., was elected president of the Arlington Heights Community Council last week.

Others elected to office for 1963 were:

Philip Gorman, 1821 N. Patton Ave., vice president; Thomas Stewart, 1011 N. Gibbons Ave., treasurer; Mrs. Carol Cairns, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Toot, 901 N. Princeton Ave., recording secretary.

Elected to the board of directors for two-year terms were Mrs. Robert Staebler, 411 N. Stratford; Mrs. John Crawford, 524 S. Lincoln Lane, and Roger J. Burke, 438 S. Vail Ave.

ELECTED to the board for one-year terms were Mrs. Lillian Peters, 403 N. Belmont Ave. and Mrs. Lyle Ewing, 110 Stratford.

Twenty-two community organizations were represented at the council meeting. Presidents of member organizations were honored guests.

President Sweeney urged more civic groups to join the council "to further a better understanding of local problems and to reach more equitable solutions."

All council meetings are open to the public.

Approve $1,518,210 Budget for Next Year

Arlington Heights trustees voted unanimously Monday to approve the village's $1,518,210 budget for 1963-64.

At a public hearing in the municipal building trustees and 20 residents in the audience heard Trustee Norval Stephens describe the budget as "an extraordinary document."

He said: "It is significant that Arlington Heights' name was left out of Chicago newspaper stories listing the many suburbs which are increasing taxes."

ARLINGTON Heights tax rate is being cut one cent (.01) per $100 of assessed valuation.

Village President John G. Woods continued: "Paddock Publications published a very good analysis of the budget last week, as well as the cost allotments causing growth in total anticipated expenditure."

In for some praise Monday was Trustee William Sauer, chairman of the village finance committee which has been working on preparation of the budget since Jan. 1.

IT WAS pointed out that the committee, also including Trustees Samuel Wit and Justin Nelson, met on eight of the 13 Saturdays since the first of the year.

Sauer volunteered that the committee received "100 per cent cooperation" from Village Manager L. A. Hanson, Village Treasurer Ray Dietrich and department heads.

"This was the easiest budget job in four years because of this cooperation," Sauer said.

"The task now is to work to make the entire tax base, including the schools, level off. Our goal should be continued tax cuts in years to come."

ROBERT Blackburn, treasurer of the Arlington Heights Library Board of Trustees, explained a $1,500 decrease in funds to be spent for book purchasing is caused by a lack of facilities for housing them.

The budget calls for $16,000 for buying books. Last year's budget appropriated $1,750.

"There's no use buying books we don't have room to put under our roof," Blackburn told the board. He said the library board is currently studying the problem of crowded facilities.

Polio Vaccine Drive Planned

A community-wide oral polio vaccine program will be held in the northwest suburban area under the sponsorship of Northwest Community Hospital and its medical staff.

The program, constituting three separate oral dosages, will be held on Sundays at various public buildings.

Exact locations for the mass immunization program will be announced later. Sites will be sought to conveniently serve the area ranging from the Lake County line on the north to the DuPage County line on the south, and from Des Plaines on the east to Barrington on the west.

No charge, or a minimal charge to cover actual vaccine costs, is planned.

FIRST DATE for the vaccine program will be May 5. The second dosage will be administered on June 16. The third date will be announced later.

The program is for children and adults. Emphasis will be placed on getting all residents from six weeks of age to 30 years included in the program.

The three dosages are designed to grant immunization to the three types of polio.

People who have had Salk vaccine shots may take the Sabin oral vaccine without harm. The oral vaccine gives a more permanent type of immunization, according to Dr. Donald G. Ewald, chairman of the medical staff committee planning the program. Dr. Werner F. Cryns and Dr. Ewald have been named by the hospital executive committee to work out the program to bring the coverage to as many people in the area as possible.

Cats Evicted From Auto Domicile

A cat and its litter of kittens were discovered last Friday in an old auto by an Arlington Heights woman.

Mrs. James Pierry, 409 N. Reuter, told police she found the animals in a vehicle on her property. The car had not been operated in some time, she said.

The cats were taken to an area animal shelter. (A

HOW GOOD IS PLYMOUTH'S NEW WARRANTY?

*Facts about our 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty

DOES IT INCLUDE THE COST OF LABOR?

Yes. There is absolutely no charge for labor and parts. For the entire life of the warranty, should any defect in material or workmanship occur in the parts covered by the warranty, it will not cost you one cent to have it corrected.

DOES IT COVER EXPENSIVE PARTS?

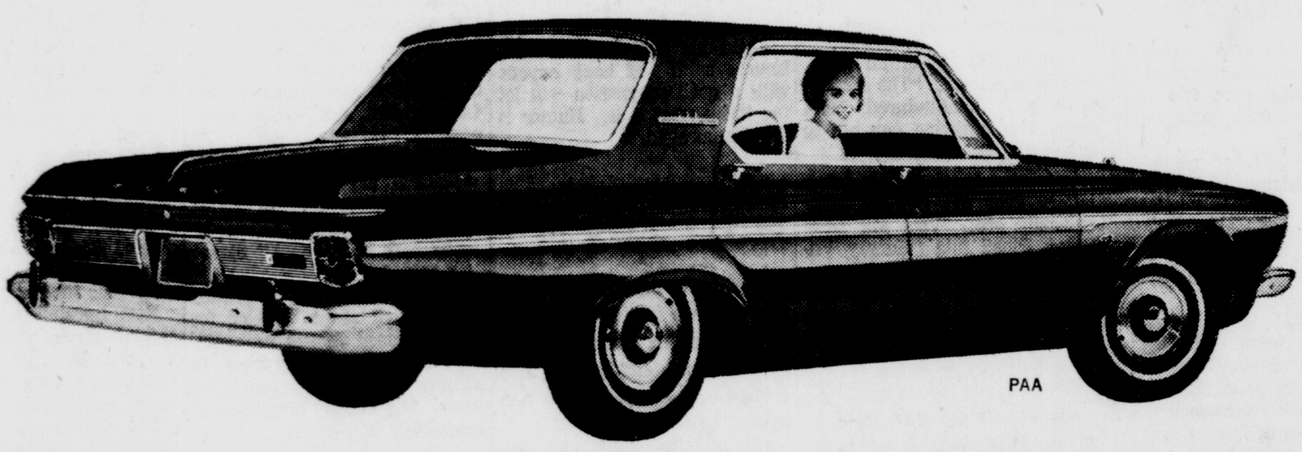
Absolutely! It covers the major power train components—the engine block and its internal parts, the automatic transmission and its internal parts, the rear axle—parts that would most certainly cost you plenty to replace or repair.

IS IT TRANSFERABLE WHEN YOU SELL?

Yes. As long as the car has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Valiant Certified Car Care schedules, the warranty can be passed on to the new owner. Think what that will mean to the resale value of your car!

MUST YOU SPEND MORE FOR MAINTENANCE?

No. All that is required is the normal care that most car owners would usually give their car. Only one chassis lubrication is required for the entire life of the warranty. Other maintenance consists of inspections at reasonable intervals.



PAA

*Your Authorized Plymouth-Valiant Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair, without charge for required parts or labor, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch); torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Valiant Certified Car Care schedules.

Township's Tax Rate Shows 4-6 Cent Hike

Arlington Heights' taxpayers face an increase of about seven cents per $100 assessed valuation in tax bills, according to tax rates released Wednesday by County Clerk Edward J. Barrett.

This figures out to approximately a $7.60 increase a home owner would pay on a home assessed at $10,000.

Arlington Heights' assessed valuation rose $9,108,583 from $100,034,553 in 1961 to $109,143,136 in 1962. The most common tax rate showed an increase of from $5.060 to $5.136.

The tax rates are based on what various taxing bodies levied in 1962 payable in 1963. In simplified form, what John Crane, supervisor of tax extensions in the county clerk's office, does is to divide this levy into the total valuation of the township to arrive at the rate.

THE AVERAGE rise in total tax rates throughout Wheeling Township was between four and six cents per $100 assessed valuation, although there were also reductions in some areas.

The village of Wheeling showed a tax hike of about six cents. The village's assessed valuation showed an increase of $2,797,760 from $22,128,582 in 1961 to $24,926,342. The tax rate went from $5.218 to $5.280.

Buffalo Grove's tax rate increased approximately 4½ cents per $100 assessed valuation, going up from $5.138 to $5.184. Valuation rose from $3,732,793 to $4,644,215, an increase of $911,522.

PROSPECT Heights tax rate shot up approximately 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation, but still did not top the 26-cent tax increase registered for the Feehanville school area.

The predominant Prospect Heights tax rate went from $5.012 to $5.172. The Feehanville rate climbed from $4.074 to $5.136.

That portion of Mount Prospect lying in Wheeling Township showed a decrease of about 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The area of Mount Prospect located in Elk Grove Township generally dropped 17 cents. The village's assessed valuation increased $5,301,835 from $68,196,686 in 1961 to $73,498,521.

Most common tax rate in the village's Wheeling Township section dropped from $5.146 to $4.986. In the Elk Grove Township section the rate slid from $5.168 to $4.994.

The tax rates vary from section to section with in a village and according to the levies of various taxing bodies.

(An analysis of the individual rates levied by each taxing body will be carried in next week's editions of the Herald.)

Masons Set European Film Trip

Movies featuring skiing in Switzerland and scenes from other European countries will be shown at 8:30 p.m., tonight, Thursday, at the Arlington Heights Masonic Lodge.

The films, including scenes taken in East Berlin, were made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Carlson.

Carlson, a native of Arlington Heights, graduated from the local high school and is a Past Master of the Arlington Masonic Lodge.

Screening of the travel films will be open to the public. (A

Zone Ordinance Rule Challenged by Suit

A local attorney has filed suit in Cook County Circuit Court challenging an Arlintgon Heights ordinance which requires five affirmative votes to approve a zoning variation.

Filing the suit on behalf of W. J. Wissert, contract purchaser of two lots in the 400 block on south Belmont Avenue, was Rolland A. Franzen, 819 S. Beverly.

"The village ordinance is not proper and needs to be changed," Franzen told the Herald.

HE EXPLAINED Wissert was recently denied variations by the zoning board of appeals for building single-family homes.

The seven-member board voted 4-2 against granting the variations.

According to the village zoning ordinance, 70-foot frontages are required of residential lots. Wissert sought the variations on 50-foot lots.

Franzen said state law provides only four affirmative votes are necessary to authorize variations.

A second part of the suit, Farnzen said, alleges the local ordinance penalizes a person who owns more than one 50-foot lot, in that building permits will not be granted for building on dual-lot parcels.

THE SUIT charges Harold Best, building commissioner, with "arbitrary and capricious" action in denying building permits for the two lots.

The lots are located in the Scarsdale Subdivision. Franzen pointed out that most lots in the subdivision have 50-foot frontages.

The suit requests that the court issue a Writ of Mandamus compelling the village to give building permits. Plaintiffs in the suit are Mrs. Albert Foerster, village clerk, and Best.

Modern Etiquette

Q. After an evening of bridge, and the hostess is setting the table for salad and dessert requiring only a fork and spoon, where should she place these pieces?

A. The fork on the left, the spoon on the right, as always.

Q. Recently while attending a lecture in which we were both very much interested, my husband and I were annoyed by the persistent whispering of two women seated behind us. Would it have been proper for us to ask these women to stop their chatter?

A. Your husband would have been well within his right to speak to the women.

How much do you know about Money?

This little True-False test might prove profitable — try it.

1. "Never keep your savings and checking accounts in one place."
   True ☐ False ☐
2. "Never get too confidential with a banker. Your finances are your business."
   True ☐ False ☐
3. "You're better off never borrowing any money."
   True ☐ False ☐

The Answers?
As you've guessed, they're all FALSE. Here's why: If you spread your accounts all over town, you're not as likely to become an important customer at any ONE place. By concentrating your banking business, you have the edge when you need a major loan later on. The more your bank knows about you, the more it can help you through counsel, credit references, and — most important — loans.

Get started with Arlington Heights National Bank.

If there's any secret to "knowing about money," it's to get to know your banker before you need him and then use him for all he's worth. A firm friendship with a Full Service commercial bank (such as ours) is probably the best financial and personal reference anyone can have.

Tell Stands on Village Issues

Residents of Arlington Heights will vote April 16 to formalize the selection of five Caucus Party candidates, four for village trustee posts and one for police magistrate.

The Caucus candidates are unopposed.

They are:

George C. Beacham Jr., 1516 N. Kennicott Ave., Carl F. Mees, 408 E. Euclid Ave., Eugene F. Schlickman, 712 N. Fernandez Ave., and John J. Walsh Jr., 404 E. Marshall St., all trustee candidates, and Robert C. Buckley, 222 N. Derbyshire, candidate for police magistrate.

The candidates were selected Feb. 11 through the balloting of 400 citizens attending the Caucus Party's endorsement meeting.

Deadline for filing petitions of nomination for the village offices was Feb. 25.

This year's uncontested election is in real contrast to the village election of 1961 when three full slates were battling for village clerk, three trustee offices and the presidency of the board.

The Caucus captured all four seats in that election.

The Herald has undertaken to question the four candidates for trustee in regard to their attitudes toward community problems, apartment units, street widths, the right-to-know laws, revitalization of the downtown business district and others.

Questions asked and the candidates' answers follow.

1. Excluding the "growth" problem, what is the most significant problem facing Arlington Heights as a community?

2. Would you support construction of high - rise (in excess of four stories) apartment buildings in the village?

3. Concerning street widths, would your thinking be more in line with the prevailing opinion among members of the Board of Local Improvements (wider streets) or of the Board of Trustees (narrower streets)?

4. WILL YOU insist upon public deliberation of issues considered by trustees except in instances where the law permits a closed meeting — acquisition or sale of property and employment of dismissal of employes?

5. What steps do you believe can be taken by the Board of Trustees to implement the "revitalization" of the old downtown business community?

GEORGE C. BEACHAM JR.
Trustee Candidate

1. The most significant problem is that of appropriately maintaining Arlington Heights as basically a premium residential community, while on the other hand and at the same time attempting to attract desirable light industry to occupy areas of the village not in conflict with residential development.

2. Based on my present knowledge, I would not support the construction of high-rise apartment buildings in the village.

3. I AM not aware of the fact that in general there is any difference of opinion between the Board of Local Improvements and the Board of Trustees, except in rare instances where isolated special projects have been involved.

4. I will support as much public deliberation of issues as is possible under the good intents of the law.

5. I believe we can promote such revitalization by organized planning to this end, implementation of certain projects that could be considered in the general public interest such as increased parking facilities and improved lighting where needed, as well as effective cooperation with the local Chamber of Commerce.

CARL F. MEES
Trustee Candidate

1. One of the significant problems facing the village, as I see it, is to maintain the village essentially as a residential community, but yet not let taxes become too great a burden.

2. I DO NOT think that the construction of high-rise apartment buildings is the worst thing that could happen to a village, but neither do I approve of stacking one on top of the other, unless there are very good reasons.

3. Arlington Heights basically Is not a community of wide streets. Wide streets tend to speed up traffic, thus adding hazards to safety. I see no good reason of going overboard on wide streets, therefore, my thinking would be more in line with the Board of Trustees.

4. I would support the statutes in public deliberation of issues. However, if the press reported the proceedings to the public, I would insist that the entire proceedings be reported and that no statements be reported out of context.

5. In my opinion, furnishing leadership and encouragement is the best program the Board of Trustees can follow to implement the "revitalization" of the old downtown business community.

EUGENE F. SCHLICKMAN
Trustee Candidate

1. MAINTAINING THE fine character of Arlington Heights, while securing tax relief in the face of increased demands for municipal and educational services and improvements, constitutes the most significant problem for Arlington Heights' residents.

2. The need for high-rise apartment buildings in Arlington Heights remains to be fully demonstrated, and if it is, careful standards will have to be developed to insure that the character and well-being of our community are not adversely affected.

3. Generally, there is no difference of opinion between the Board of Trustees and the Board of Local Improvements with respect to street widths, although on occasion individual members of each board have expressed differing views concerning the application of standards in specific situations.

4. I will continue to support open deliberation of issues considered by the Board of Trustees in accordance with the letter and spirit of the law.

5. Revitalization and future growth of the downtown business community can be accomplished best by an alert and aggressive business leadership whose efforts will be supported and encouraged by the Board of Trustees.

JOHN J. WALSH JR.
Trustee Candidate

1. LAND USE IS the village's biggest problem. This means annexation, zoning of newly annexed land, zoning of present village land downtown and outlying, and other considerations pertaining to the development of our available land which will in effect determine the future character of Arlington Heights.

2. Yes, I would support construction of high-rise apartments. This is qualified by limitation as to number, location and need.

3. I disagree with the presumption that a basic difference of opinion exists. I would, however, be inclined to temper strict interpretation of any policy with consideration of specific circumstances to which it is applied.

4. Yes. However, the word "insist" may be a little strong. I would "insist" that provision be made for public deliberation of all issues as required by law.

5. REVITALIZATION may be accomplished by cooperating with merchants in providing improved parking facilities, providing a favorable climate and cooperation for prospective desirable commercial interests to increase services and products, working with present merchants to encourage them to upgrade present facilities through actual committee action if necessary, and generally making it understood you stand ready to help work out any problem within your jurisdiction.

Elections Tues. For Fellowship

A slate of officers for 1963-64 will be presented for election April 9 when members of the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights meet at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Richard Lanigan, 1525 N. Patton.

No formal program is planned and the evening will be spent in completing Friendly Service Projects.

In charge of devotions is Mrs. Charles Aldag, and co-hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Staley and Mrs. John E. Taylor, all of Arlington Heights. A

Literary Classics Taught In Unique School Program

Increased numbers of elementary grade students are finding excitement and rewards in exploring the great literature of all times.

St. James School of Arlington Heights is one of the pioneer groups in the Chicago area to initiate the Great Books for Juniors Program. This program, under the auspices of the Great Books Foundation, a non-profit organization, encourages young people to examine the philosophies which have helped to shape the present Western civilization and provides a useful addition to the student's formal education.

Sister M. Joan, Chicago archdiocesan reading consultant, assisted in setting up the program which is an extension of the archdiocesan reading program, and spoke to over 100 interested parents at the evening orientation meeting early in March.

Participants are encouraged to challenge the authors' and each other's opinions. Leaders do not intorduce their own opinions and comments, but merely lead and guide the discussions.

Outside authorities and references cannot be quoted, so participants think for themselves.

An example of the works used by the groups are the choices for this week's discussions: sixth grade—Charles Lamb translations of Shakespeare's "King Lear" and "Hamlet"; seventh and eighth grades—"Life Is A Dream" by Calderon.

Future selections include Benjamin Franklin's Autobiography the Emancipation Proclamation, "Antigone" by Sophocles, and other works.

The St. James group includes students from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades chosen for their above-average interest in reading and willingness to tackle serious works with a critical eye.

Volunteer discussion leaders participated in a leader training course at Park Ridge early this year. At the present time Mrs. J. E. Foley, 406 S. Carlyle, is moderating the sixth grade group. Mrs. Harry Jenkins, 915 N. Belmont, has the seventh grade group, and Mr. Norbert Siewert, 910 N. Stratford, conducts the eighth grade group.

Additional students are reportedly eager to join the groups, but at the present time the number of leaders limits the groups. A new leader training course is starting at a local parish in June; and Sister Mary Placide, coordinator of the program at St. James, is hopeful more volunteers will enroll to fulfill the demand for expansion of the program.

At the present time the discussions are held after school every other Wednesday. Evening sessions are being considered with the hope that this time will be more acceptable for men to join their wives as leaders for the fall program. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

A welcome is extended to new terrace residents, Betty and Charles Combs and their sons, Terry, 7, and Rick, almost 6, at 1211 N. Race. Charles, in the Army and attached to the 45th Brigade Headquarters in Arlington Heights, has just returned from a year's tour of duty in Korea; while Betty and the boys were living in their "home" state of Missouri, in Neosho. Betty enjoys bowling occasionally, while Charles' schedule leaves little time for leisure.

The Cech family at 1402 N. Chicago assembled at O'Hare field Saturday afternoon to greet Betty's father, David Williams and his wife, who arrived from their home in New Quay, County Cardiganshire, South Wales. In addition to catching up on all the news in the two years since they've seen him, the Cechs also had the opportunity of meeting Mrs. Williams for the first time. They spent Sunday at a family get-together at the home of Betty's sister, the Rober Plattners in Mount Prospect.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT on the opening days of their visit was Tuesday night, when everyone was able to attend Marcia Cech's initiation into the National Honor Society at Arlington High School.

A "Welcome Neighbor" coffee was held recently for Betty Combs and held at the home of Florence Paul, 1215 N. Race.

Greeting guests included Irene Pedersen, Darlene Krug, Edith Larson, Connie Dolejs, Marilyn Schmidt, Lorraine Ninneman, Lee Pods, Myna Dittmer, Katherine Bartel, Louise Hersey, Ina Merckx and Annaliese Sommerfield.

An after-school party was held Friday for Joey, son of Michael and Sue Caprara, 1217 N. Chicago. Guests included his brothers, Michael and Nicky, Jonathon Noon, Dean Schafer, Clifford Brosius, Kathy Ann Roden, Karen Pedersen and Kathy Zare.

A SECOND set of visitors to the Terrace from foreign shores is reported this week at the home of Norma and Gene Peterson, 1239 N. Illinois. Their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Maghan, had arrived back in the States from a tour of foreign service duty in Kabul, Afghanistan, where Mr. Maghan was attached to the U.S. Information Service. Following their visit here they will be en route to Nepal, where he will be stationed for the next two years.

Jimmy, son of Eileen and Ray Brown, 1504 W. Oakton, celebrated his ninth birthday recently with a family dinner.

A cocktail party was hosted recently by Phil and Dolores Bracht, 1337 N. Wilke, which preceded the Coterie Costume Ball. In addition to Terrace neighbors, Dom and Mary Massa, who depicted Cleopatra and Marc Anthony, other guests included the Ray Kelloggs, Earl Snodgrasses, Frank Renners, Mick Masneys, Joe Wileys, Ted Meyers, Bob McGinnises and Delores' sister and brother-in-law who were their weekend guests from Terre Haute, the Carl Atkinsons.

ANOTHER costume party, held at a junior level, was given Saturday in honor of Kathy Ann, daughter of Bob and Kay Roden, 1212 N. Illinois. Enjoying the indoor and outdoor games were Wendy Miller, Mark and Michael Moustakis, Danny Yore, Kathy Zare, Joey Caprara, Jonathan Noon, Dean Schafer, Karen Pedersen, Jo Ann Ninneman, Clifford Brosius and Jill Ansel of Rolling Meadows.

Returning to 1259 N. Chicago last week, after a month-long business and pleasure trip, were George and Carol Clarkson. After stopping in Los Angeles for a brief stay, they drove to Shelter Island, built on the bay at San Diego, and then continued on to Tijuana in Mexico, which proved very interesting, according to Carol, for sightseeing and shopping. The next stop was San Francisco, where, in addition to the usual stops at Fisherman's Wharf and Chinatown, they enjoyed seeing the shows at the "Hungry I" and the Purple Onion.

MORE SHOWS were in store when they visited Las Vegas and saw Jimmy Durante, Helen Traubel and Sarah Vaughn. Meanwhile, back at the ranch house, Carol's parents were keeping grandchildren Cheri and Melanie company—along with the two cases of chicken pox which descended upon them.

A birthday luncheon and a trip to the Arlington matinee were on the agenda Saturday, when Mark, son of Cathy and Bill Gunnison, celebrated his seventh birthday. Celebrants included Tim Stanley, Mark Fietsch, Doug Fietsch and Mike Herbert.

Due to tonsil-complications Marty, son of Edith and Joe Singer, 1402 N. Illinois, was feted at a belated sixth birthday last week. With a dinosaur theme, the "archaeologists" present included Eric Bloom, Dougie and Lori Martin, "T. J." Bang and Donna Kirstein and Marty's sister, Lisa.

MORE SINGER birthday news included the family dinner held Sunday for Lisa, who was 3. Guests included grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Singer, aunts, Sandy and Gertrude Singer, and great-grandmother, Mrs. Frances Lehman, all of Chicago. A second family dinner was held Monday night for Lisa and attended by her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Meyer of Woodstock.

Another family to "double up" on birthdays last week were Charles and Diane Moser, 1418 N. Illinois. Wednesday afternoon Mark, who was 4, celebrated the occasion with Kevin, Mike and Marianne Mullins, Kenny and Michael Brown, Suzanne Von Ebers and Jerry Milligan. When Saturday rolled around it was time to sound the trumpets for Valerie, who was 8. Focusing on a trip to Mount Prospect to see "The Clown and the Kid"; guests included Gail Chodera of Sherwood, along with Cheryl Speers, Wendy Bloom, Sharon and Dee Dee Leister, Joyce and Carol Jean Randle. They returned to the Moser home for birthday cake and ice cream . (A

Ridge Park–Sherwood

Whether March went out like a lion or a lamb depended upon your opinion of weekend weather. There could be no question of the appropriate animal at Donny Miley's recent birthday party, however.

With table decorations based on the Flintstones theme, dinosaurs were the featured pets. Donny, son of the Benjamin Mileys, 1015 N. Salem, welcomed Jimmy Machas, John Walsh, Greg and Donald Andrew, Jimmy Polites, Larry Bossert and Randy Munson for cake, ice cream and games in honor of his eighth birthday.

Another Ridge Park birthday child is Patti Shumate, daughter of the F. Deane Shumates, 717 N. Salem. Patti, 10, celebrated with an outdoor party Saturday for Roxanne Kurl, Barbara Warner, Jerry Geisinger, Kathy Owens, Joanne Snyder, Cindy Cort, Diane Corda, Susan Inselberger, Marjorie Phillipp, Donna Miller, LeAnne Niell and Kathy Cryer. Patti proudly baked her own cake and carried it to school Monday for treats.

FRIENDS AND neighbors are wishing a speedy convalescence to Mrs. Henry Rosenblatt, 1017 N. Salem, home after recent surgery in Northwest Community Hospital. She is looking forward to the arrival of her daughter, Diana, for spring vacation from Northern Illinois University, DeKalb. Diana has been enjoying her Several Ridge Park collegians are expected this weekend for spring vacation. Donna Cunningham, daughter of the Vincent Cunninghams at 802 N. Harvard, and Valerie Juhl, daughter of the Stanley Juhls, 831 N. Salem, are from DeKalb.

Coming home for spring vacation the hard way will be Ralph Law, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Law, 824 N. Salem. Ralph expects to take part in a 70-mile hike from his DeKalb dormitory to State and Madison Streets, Chicago. A number of his classmates will join him for the hike, which begins at night to avoid some of the traffic. Ralph's roommate, Marty Lynch, of Brookfield, will be a guest of the Laws for several days.

Chicken pox canceled out the cousins for Andy Schlickman's 11th birthday celebration Sunday. Mary has recovered, but Margaret is waiting for Monica to get them. Although the younger relatives didn't come along, Andy was joined by his Rockford grandparents, the L. J. Schlickmans and Mrs. Lucy Muraski. Mrs. Muraski brought Andy's birthday cake, a traditional German sweet chocolate. The visitors enjoyed a tour of the new village hall.

Andy is the son of the Eugene Schlickmans, 712 N. Fernandez.

GREG INSELBERGER, son of the Hank Inselbergers, 640 N. Salem, celebrated his recent 13th birthday by dinner out with his family. His brother, Jerry, called from Bangor, Maine, where he's stationed, to wish him well.

Visitors at the Alfred R. Hansens', 704 W. Elm, this week, have been their grandsons, Mark, Scott and Todd of Evanston, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Nissen, 820 N. Fernandez, had their Florida vacation cut short recently when their daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Sherwood of Lake Villa, broke her leg in a fall. The Nissens left their trailer home in Miami to return to help out.

A "sweet 16" birthday party honored Marguerite Seaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Seaman, 909 N. Fernandez, this weekend. Present were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anders Hogfelt of Harwood Heights, and the Ronald Hogfelt and Gus Pantelis families of Chicago. Also joining them for the day was Telie Avlonas, a foreign student from Athens.

Mrs. Matilda Seaman, spent the preceding weekend as a guest.

. Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Harrington, 1212 W. Northwest Hwy., have been enjoying a week's visit of his mother, Mrs. R. E. Given of Ripley, Tenn.

A JOINT family party honored Mary and Gary Scalzitti, children of the Guy Scalzittis, 836 N. Fernandez. Mary, 7, and Gary, 8, were joined by their of Chicago. Others included Johnny Scalzitti of Chicago, Mrs. Tony Ventresca and sons of Melrose Park and the Michael Roman family of Park Ridge. Mary planned a birthday dinner Wednesday. Among her guests were Karen Daughtry, Susan Juhl, Margie Kelly, Debbie Grote, Monica Toretto, Delores Stebbins, Diane Colgrove, Karen and Sharon Sundquist, Marianne Patterson, Karen Kline, Susie Domiano and Janet Chaplin.

Kathy Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, celebrated her 11th birthday with a family party Sunday. Present were her grandparents, the Herman Fischers of Barrington and Mr. and Mrs. James J. Barnes of Chicago, as well as the James Kenneth Barnes family of Chicago.

SEEING THE border of Red China, koala bears in a eucalyptus tree and Mt. Fujiama provided Warren Johnston, 728 N. Fernanden with never-to-be-forgotten thrills.

Back from a 29,000 mile business trip to Australia, Singapore, Hong Kong and Tokyo, Johnston is busy telling his family about his exciting adventures.

Among his stories is one of being forbidden to swim at the famous Sydney beaches, only 20 feet away, because of a recent shark scare. A young girl had lost a leg to a shark shortly before Johnston's visit, so bathing was momentarily prohibited.

In Hong Kong, Johnston took a sightseeing trip around the island and visited the mainland, coming within less than a mile of the Red China border, wall and guards. In Japan, he took a two-day trip to Mt. Fujiama, but snow prevented him from making the climb. , (A

Because of current floods, the area covered by the Bundle Days Drive has been in dire need of clothing and another Bundle Day Drive has been set for Tuesday, April 16, and Wednesday, April 17. Usable clothing may be brought to the school on those days.

Kensington Kindergarten Round-up will be May 28. All parents registering children must have a state birth certificate along with the rest of the completed forms on that day.

The Science Fair is scheduled for April 25 and 26. (A

Holy Land Film for 'Over 50'

A film presentation of the Holy Land followed by a trip to the Sweden House in Elgin for a Smorgasbord luncheon is on the horizon for the "Over 50 Club" of the Arlington Heights Park District.

The club will meet at 10:30 a.m. at Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez Ave., on Thursday, April 11, to see the film program, given by Mrs. Edith Hansen, and then leave by bus for Elgin. The club will travel to Lee Ward's after lunch.

Plans ahead for the club include a trip to Lombard to see the lilacs and a visit to the Norwood Park Senior Citizens Club for a potluck luncheon.

A special day has been set aside for craft work in ceramics. Other events will include making hats for Easter and learning Swedish weaving.

Forty-four attended the last meeting of the "Over 50 Club." (A

OFTEN MISUSED

Distinguish between MUTUAL and COMMON. The word MUTUAL means interchanged as "Their mutual profit." The word COMMON may mean shared equally, as "Our common friend."

Do not say, "We spent the evening like in the old days." Say, "We spent the evening AS in the old days."

Vote Funds To Schools

WILLIAM J. Moore, 6 S. Waterman, had submitted the petition, asserting that "if the kids are worth $100,000, the old folks are worth $10,000."

The request was the first of its kind at a local township meeting and was made possible by recent legislation.

Only six persons voted for the $10,000 transfer.

The $25,000 loan to the Road and Bridge Fund passed without opposition. The motion stipulated that the funds should be repaid no later than the receipt of the second installation of taxes.

The budgetary section of the meeting was marked by a request to have township employes' travel expenses itemized and approved by the trustes and by a dispute over aerial photography.

THE FORMER matter was approved via motion and oral vote, but there was much discussion of the photography, which was a $12,000 item in the budget.

A representative of the firm doing the photography broke the costs down to maps ($8,550), clerical help ($2,500), and rental of viewer ($90). The township hopes to find unlisted real estate improvements and thus raise the assessed valuation.

John White, 1026 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, suggested that the village of Arlington Heights already had aerial photos and that the township should not repeat the process and duplicate the costs.

It was pointed out that the village maps would not include legal description of the real estate and therefore would not duplicate the proposed survey.

A motion to remove Arlington Heights from the survey failed.

Caught in Machine, Man Dies

Palatine firemen failed Monday in attempts to revive a man caught in a well digging machine at 1515 N. Vail St., Arlington Heights.

Orville Knecht, 52, of 3020 Highland Ave., Lombard, who was employed by the Water Well, Inc., Willow Springs, could not be revived by the resuscitator. He had been in the machine for some time before he was noticed, said Chief Orville Helms of the Palatine department. (A

IN ABOUT 20 SECONDS, EVERY PHONE IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD WILL BE DEAD

Before you or your contractor dig around the boundaries of your lot, please call Illinois Bell.

You might think you're cutting through a tough root. But it could, in fact, be an underground telephone cable. About 800 of them are cut or damaged inadvertently every year by homeowners and contractors.

And a damaged cable means you're cut off not only from friendly social calls, but also from police, fire and medical help.

Underground telephone cables can't always be marked to show their exact location. So please, if you or your contractor plan to do any digging, call our Repair Service first. (You'll find the number in the front pages of your directory.) We'll come out and show you where the cables are.

New Christian Church To Stage Open House

Northwest suburbanites are invited to an open house reception Sunday and Monday of new Christian Church of Arlington Heights.

The church is located at Thomas Street and Mitchell Avenue, four blocks west of the medical center on north State Road. Open House on Sunday will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. and on Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Conducted tours will show visitors facilities available in this first unit of the church for Sunday school, youth groups, fellowship meetings and other activities.

EXHIBITS throughout will illustrate the work of Christian action, worship and fine arts, world outreach, Christian education and other departments. At each exhibit church members will be on hand to explain what the program is for each department and what it seeks to accomplish.

In January of 1958, the Christian Church of Arlington Heights was founded to serve the northwest area. The late Dr. Orvis F. Jordan was organizing pastor and temporary pastor until July, 1960. From 1958 through 1962, services were held in Miner Junior High School.

The present 250-member congregation moved into the first unit of its permanent home January, 1963.

THE CHURCH is one of over 8,000 in the Christian, affiliated with Disciples of Christ Brotherhood. With over 2 million members, the brotherhood is 7th largest of Protestant groups and largest of native American denominations.

On July 10, 1960, present pastor, Rev. Don L. Jones became the church's first full-time minister. The 33-year-old Mr. Jones is a native of Healdton, Oklahoma. His divinity training includes seven years at Phillips University in Enid, Oklahoma, from which he received A.B. and Bachelor of Divinity degrees, as well as three years advance study at the University of Chicago.

Before call to the Christian Church of Arlington Heights, he served in the ministry of Christian churches in Cunningham and Wichita, Kansas, and Chicago Bethany Christian Church.

Mr. Jones and his wife, Ruth, have two children, Jonathan Scott, 7, and Rebecca Ann, 5. The family lives in the church's parsonage at 306 N. Stratford, Arlington Heights. (A CHRISTIAN CHURCH of Arlington Heights will be the site of an open house Sunday and Monday. The church, located at Thomas Street and Mitchell Avenue, will be open to the public from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Sunday and from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Monday. The church has a 250-member congregation. (A

SUSIE SCOUT Says

ROLLING MEADOWS

"Erin Go Braugh" was the greeting of the evening March 16 at Trinity Church, when Girl Scout Troops 633 and 17 held their third annual potluck dinner, a culmination of many weeks of rehearsals and preparation.

The program, attended by 120 Scouts and parents, included a flag ceremony, barber shop quartet pantomime, and "Mrs. Murphy's Chowder" by Troop 17; a lemme stick demonstration and a fashion show satire by Troop 633; and a "MacNamara" kitchen band and Irish jig by the combined troops.

"Rosie" and "Patrick" Dorwick gave their own special touch to Irish folk songs and a community sing.

Following the Irish motif, decorations were clay pipes, white carnations and green shamrocks. Mrs. Ted Werling, for her work as neighborhood chairman, received a piece of the "Blarney Stone" and Giles Talik accepted a gold hammer for constructing a stage to be used for the event. The finale consisted of songs sung alternately by the two troops.

Thanks go to Mrs. Robert DuBois, Mrs. Thomas Costello, Mrs. Clarence Placek, Deborah Little and Mig Groves, committee members. Acknowledgment was made to four girls of Troop 812 who served and to the Junior Woman's Club, who supervised kitchen activity. Program co-ordinators were leaders Mrs. E. Anderson and Mrs. R. Winsell and co-leaders, Mrs. D. Reynolds and Mrs. Richard Kocian.

SOUTH ARLINGTON

As a service project, Troop 514 has been collecting canned and nonperishable foods. March 18, Mrs. R. Walters, co-leader, and Cathy Baines, record keeper, delivered the food to Mrs. A. Toledano to distribute to needy Spanish-speaking families in this area.

Troop 521 visited Glenora Dairy in Evanston March 25. Driving the Scouts were leaders, Mrs. V. Clausing and Mrs. M. Dean; and J. Guilfoil, Mrs. R. Vanek and Mrs. E. Whiting.

Brownies of Troop 766 were guests of Troop 131 April 1, when three 10-minute plays were presented. March 22, Troop 131 finished up the Roller Skating badge with a show for the girls' mothers. Refreshments were made by Scouts working on Cook Badge. Mrs. E. Christopherson and Mrs. B. Wood are the troop's leaders.

MARINER SHIP 334

Excietment pervaded the weekend for Mariner Ship 334, the Daniel A. Joy, as the crew acted as hostesses for Senior Scouts from Indiana, Wisconsin, and Rockford, with a slumber party and breakfast at the home of their leader, Mrs. D. V. Sargol. The girls were here for the first Regional Senior Girls' Conference held by Northwest Cook Council.

HOFFMAN ESTATES

"Dad's Night Out" was the theme of the camp promotion night March 21 at Hillcrest School. The program included camping films and songs. Colors were presented by Troop 914 and posted by Troop 591. A lemme stick demonstration was given by Senior Troop 561, a "Scout's Own" by Troop 877, and skits by Troops 878 and 362.

The neighborhood Mother-Daughter Banquet will be held on two different dates, April 18 and April 25, to accommodate all reservations. "Dimes for Daisy" will be presented at these evening programs in the Pure Oil building on Golf Road.

Troop 339 recently held open house in St. Peter School in Schaumburg. Mothers were treated to a display of German peasant doll dresses. The girls made costumes for three dolls for the Elgin State Hospital children's ward. This completed the troop's study of Germany.

For their mothers, the girls sang a German song and danced two German dances before serving cake and coffee. Leaders are Mrs. R. Atcher and Mrs. R. Linnell.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Working toward Curved Bar, all 12 eighth graders of Troop 477 will receive three badges today, April 4: Sports, Conservation and Pioneer. They will also hold a Juliette Low Friendship ceremony.

Senior Troop 499 will present a fashion show April 19 featuring spring and summer teen clothes from Anderson's Shop, Arlington Heights. It will be given at 8 p.m. in the VFW Hall, 601 N. Main, Mount Prospect. Tickets may be obtained by calling CL 3-0072, or at the door.

Brownie Troops 53 and 534, will help make Easter a happier time for the children in Cook County Hospital. Troop 53, led by Mrs. E. Janata and Mrs. C. Molloy, is making up individual Easter baskets and collecting children's books. Troop 534, with leaders Mrs. G. Disbrow and Mrs. Robert Ryan, made up gaily covered juice cans filled with candy, and collected toys, books and clothing.

GREETING spring at Haberkamp's Florists, Brownie Troop 411 toured the greenhouses March 28. Mrs. Edwin Haberkamp identified flowers and explained how they are grown indoors. Each girl received a carnation.

Eighth graders of Troop 401, with Mrs. J. Clark and Mrs. J. Cita Jr. as leaders, have embroidered tea towels with names and troop number for the Girl Scout Cabana in Cuernavaca, Mexico. Mrs. Clark's niece, Joan Maiman, flew to Mexico last week with her own Senior Girl Scout troop of Glencoe and will personally deliver Troop 401's gift. (B9

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnes, N. Hickory, returned early last week from a 9-day trip east. While business kept them in New York City a good portion of the time, they were able to visit a sister and her family, the James Finns at Mountainside, N. J., and friends and former neighbors at nearby Nutley. Son Ron, a student at Wesleyan in Middletown, Conn., joined them for a weekend visit as did former Chicago friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Kronenberger of Broad Channel. A flight trip home ended their brief visit.

Angelo Michael, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Damiano, 1120 N. Pine Court, was christened March 24 in St. James Catholic Church by Rev. John Lane. Godparents were the infant's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Rizzo of Chicago. Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Damiano joined the group for the after the ceremony dinner party marking the occasion. Late the same evening Angelo was taken to Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, for emergency surgery. Back home again with his family, he is recuperating.

WHILE on a trip to Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Culpepper, 1112 N. Beverly Lane, were informed of the death of her brother, Troxell Martin, in mid-March. After a brief stop at home, they departed for Elizabethtown, Ky., for a five-day stay with the family.

Houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lippens, 707 E. Clarendon, until Sunday was their 6-year-old nephew, Luc. A jet flight from his new home in Baltimore began the lad's two-week visit. A native of Brussels, Belgium, Luc found his biggest difficulty was conversing with his new playmates, since he speaks only French.

While busily preparing for a dinner party Saturday, Mrs. Charles Fisher, 1113 N. Douglas, was pleasantly surprised with a visit from a former neighbor, Mrs. William Keith, now residing in Long Island, N. Y. Mrs. Keith was en route to the west coast and took advantage of the stopover time to visit. Guests in the Fisher home that evening included the Dan Francos of Glencoe, Gordon McPhersons of Northbrook, Themis Chacharons of Highland Park and the Clark Weidenfellers of Wilmette.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown on North Dryden were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Brown, and a sister and her family, the Edward Williamses. The group motored here from South Bend.

CRAIG WARMAN, 1115 N. State Road, celebrated his seventh birthday Saturday afternoon at a party for 16 neighborhood friends and school chums. A pirate theme provided an afternoon of gaiety for the youngsters.

Another birthday celebrant last weekend was 10-year-old Linda Buscher, E. Oakton Street. She observed the occasion on Sunday with a family party.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Radcliffe, N. Hickory, hosted members of their couples club Saturday evening. Their guests were from Chicago, Elk Grove, Morton Grove, Aurora and the Glenn Westmans, Lawrence Cartwrights and the Donald Hahns of Arlington.

Arlene Roby, N. Beverly Lane participated in a horse schooling show at Tri-Color in Palatine Sunday afternoon, and was one of ribbon earners for her abilities on horseback. (A

Neighbors Rediscover Joy of Spring Fever Sociability

Nearly everyone has rediscovered the joy of starting outdoor work, then ignoring it in favor of "chinning" with a neighbor who is also bent on not accomplishing anything. This spring-fever sociability doesn't result in much Sidelights news, but it sure is fun. Fun, too, were these recent events:

The junior Thomas Roberts family returned Sunday to the Purdue University campus after a spring vacation week with the senior Robertses, 506 S. Chestnut. Tom, in his final year at Purdue, was recently notified that he has been awarded a one-year fellowship at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

Early in March Mrs. Roberts Sr. and Karen had a quick and exciting flying trip to Spain. They were there just a week and home again in time to greet Tom and his family. All but one of their too- few days were spent in Madrid and that day found them enjoying the sights, sounds and attractions of Toledo.

THE EDWARD Johnsons, 714 S. Walnut, have received word that their daughter, Barbara, again made the dean's list at Illinois State Normal University where making the dean's list seems to be one of Barb's favorite indoor sports. She'll be home over the weekend to begin a week's spring vacation before the last lap of her junior year.

Nita Wist returned to Purdue University Sunday after a vacation week at home, 837 S. Vail, where an early celebration of her 20th April 1 birthday climaxed her at-home stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Wist made it home from a vacation just in time to unlock the door and otherwise get ready for Nita's arrival. They were part of the 2-week tour of Mexico recently sponsored by Paddock Publications.

Martha Hawkes is expected home at 411 S. Carlyle Saturday to begin a 10-day spring vacation from the rigors of her junior classes in DePauw University.

DONNA DiCANIO, 730 N. Chestnut, was 15 years old last Tuesday and ready to mark the occasion with just a small family celebration. Nancy Clark, 1105 N. Mitchell, was also ready — with an after - school surprise party for Donna.

The surprise was totally successful, disproving the male theory that females can't keep a secret, and 10 local girl griends were delighted with Donna's happy shock. There were games, gifts for the honor guest and a festive supper to round out the fun schedule.

Mrs. R. H. Heberling returned home to 302 N. Pine last Thursday after a 10-day visit with her father, C. R. Schuesler of Lakeland, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glendlemeyer, 1217 W. Euclid, received family congratulations Tuesday at a celebration of their 61st wedding anniversary. Their nephew and niece, George Gudhes and his sister, Mrs. Mabel Roehr of Chicago, brought early best wishes Sunday at another small get-together in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Glendlemeyer make their home with their daughter Mrs. Catherine Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hodgson, 1015 N. Evergreen, were hosts recently to several neighborhood couples at a just-for-the-fun-of-it party that served to break the mid-March doldrums and perk up the boredom season.

GLENN ADAM, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kuines, and his brother, Carl John, were recently baptized in Calvary Lutheran Church of Mount Greenwood in Chicago, the "home" church of their mother. Glenn has since fully, lustily recovered from surgery that shortly followed his baptism and is home again at 119 S. Evergreen with his Mom and brother, who stayed with Mrs. Kuines' parents during his recuperation.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stiefenhoefer came home to 926 S. Vail over the weekend, delighted to find much finer weather here than when they left early in the month. They'd grown fond of a warm, snow-free climate during their leisurely tour of Texas. They especially enjoyed a stay on Padre Island, Port Isabel that combined a few days of rest with more sightseeing.

Arlington Heights Garden Club Vice President Mrs. Robert Wolf, 119 S. Evergreen, was a recent guest on the popular "Open House" program of local radio station WNWC. She gave gardening hints and revealed preliminary plans for the annual flower show of the club, scheduled for June 15 and 16.

LINDA TAYLOR, 1201 N. Dunton, celebrated her 15th birthday last Tuesday after school and in the evening with five local friends who shared in the family celebration of her day.

Dr. Wayne R. Dunnom is home again at 301 S. Stratford after a week in Miami Beach where he attended the International Anesthesia Research Society Meeting. He's an old New York Yankees fan from 'way back and just naturally attended several night games in the team's pre-season play. Dr. Dunnom is a staff member of Oak Park and West Lake Hospitals.

MR. AND MRS. C. H. Rosene, 404 E. Fairview, marked their 25th wedding anniversary with a vacation trip that took them almost half way around the world, and included visits to Hawaii, Japan and Hong Kong.

They left Arlington Heights the first week of March, and were accompanied by Mr. Rosene's father, L. A. Rosene, on the first lap of their trip to Hawaii. He remained in Honolulu, visiting his step-daughter and her husband, Lt. Col. Robert Jetland, who is stationed at Fort Shafter.

The younger Rosenes remained in Hawaii for a week, making a tour of the outer islands and then flew to Japan for a week and to Hong Kong for a week.

Returning home, they stopped in Honolulu, for Mr. Rosene's father, and returned to Arlington Heights, last Sunday.

Scarsdale Bridge tournament playoff was held Saturday, March 23, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kemp Blackwell, 518 S. Dryden. League winners participating in the playoff included the Clark Gutrus, Robert Bradles, Floyd Tremberths, Charles Pratts, Arthur Schulzes, Joseph Koerners and Frederick Schmoyers.

Winners of the playoff were the Schmoyers, who were crowned grand champions at the Scarsdale Bridge dinner dance Saturday in Rolling Green Country Club.

THE DWIGHT Guilfoils, 633 Burton, their two youngest sons, Tommy and Michael, and Mrs. Guilfoil's mother, Mrs. Agnes Cullerton of Chicago, spent the past two weeks in Phoenix. One of the highlights of the trip, especially for the children, was the annual rodeo and barbecue with the Bill Williams Mountain Men.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gustitus, 400 S. Dryden, celebrated their 22nd wedding anniversary Saturday with dinner at the Evergreens in Dundee. Joining them was a long-time friend, John Zinger, who is here from his home in Baltimore for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Strathearn, 720 Bristol, went to Greencastle, Ind., for the weekend to attend a theatre performance at DePaum University of Henry Ibsen's play "John Gabriel Borkman," in which their daughter, Julie, took the feminine lead.

Julie will come home Friday for spring vacation, bringing with her, her roommate, Miss Connie Schreiner of Sandusky, Ohio, for a weekend visit.

MISS FRANCES McGrath, daughter of the Edward McGraths, 206 E. Rockwell, will come home from Ottumwa Heights College Ottumwa Heights, Iowa, April 10, for a week. Returning with Miss McGrath, is another Arlington Heights student from Ottumwa Heights College, Miss Kathy Tribbey.

Another Scarsdale college student who will be home for Easter is Miss Vicki Machin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Machin, 534 S. Beverly. Miss Machin attends Bradley University.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mann, 304 E. Fairview, will have none of their family home for the Easter holidays. Their son, Bill, is still studying in Spain, and their elder daughter, Linda, will be in St. Louis attending an educational publishers convention. Their younger daughter, Ginny, a senior at Marquette University, will spend the school holiday in Florida. She leaves Thursday, and will fly down with seven classmates.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lussow, 402 S. Gibbons, returned Sunday from a month's vacation in Florida and Nassau. While in Florida they stayed in Pompano Beach and Saratoga where they visited former Stonegate neighbors, the Chester J. Moores. Good weather, good fishing and seeing old friends made for a pleasant vacation.

MISS BARBARA Becker arrived home Friday from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, for a week's vacation with her parents, the Robert Beckers, 1211 Woodford. Barbara was initiated into Alpha Chi Omega sorority March 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Mitchell, 330 S. Gibbons, and their sons, Bob and Scott, went to Bessemer, Mich., for five days of skiing at Indian Head Ski Lodge. Joining the Mitchells, were Stonegate friends, Alfred Wilcox and his daughter, Michelle.

The Walter McClures, 1605 E. Kensington, are planning a large birthday party for their daughter, Barbara Allison, who will be 2 April 6, but will not have it until later in the month when relatives from California arrive. Coming soon for a visit will be Mrs. McClure's sister-in-law, Mrs. Warren Moos of Palo Alto, with her children, Janet and Paul.

The Everett Needlemans, 422 S. Gibbons, were in Atlantic City recently attending the photographic convention. While in the East, they visited New York City and Philadelphia.

KATHLEEN Cooper became a teenager Saturday and marked the occasion at a family dinner party. Offering birthday congratulations were her seven brothers and sisters and a best friend, Janet Gaynor. Kathleen is the daughter of the George Coopers, 318 S. Gibbons.

The Jerome Mockenhaupts, 430 S. Belmont, had as their weekend guest, their nephew, John Hickey of New York City, who is attending Notre Dame University.

Mrs. Patrick C. McNamee, daughter of the H. A. Burnetts, 317 S. Derbyshire, recently flew to San Antonio to attend the graduation of her husband from officers training school at Lackland Air Force Base.

Lt. and Mrs. McNamee and their two children, Michael David, 2½, and Cheryl Lynn, 4 months, are leaving April 7 for Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock, Texas, where he will report for pilot training. Mrs. McNamee is the former Jean B. Burnett. (A

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. Ethel Behrens, 642 E. Clarendon Ave., Arlington Heights, will be sorry to learn of the death of her brother, Arthur F. Bigby of Algonquin, who died March 26 in the Evanston Hospital at the age of 68. Sympathies are extended to the family. (A

Time-Weather Sign Nears Completion

Village residents will soon notice a new innovation at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings building at Campbell and Evergreen Streets in downtown Arlington Heights.

As part of the local savings association's office expansion program, Paul E. Collins, president, said that an electronically controlled "Time-and-Temperature" sign is to be installed on Arlington Federal property at the corner of Campbell and Evergreen.

He said the sign will be more than 10 feet above the sidewalk and thus will be visible from most of the downtown area, and will register the correct time and current temperature throughout the day.

COLLINS WENT on to say the structure has been designed especially for Arlington Federal by the General Outdoor Advertising Company to complement the Williamsburg Colonial features of the Arlington Federal building.

This will be the first installation of its type in Arlington Heights and will provide a service to businessmen, shoppers and commuters alike — 24 hours a day, Collins noted. (A

Eastwood Events

San Juan in Puerto Rico was Virginia and Dick Vlaches' first stop on their two-week island hopping holiday. There they stayed at the Condado Beach Hotel, and their island tour took them to El Morro Fort and to the Rain Forest. St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands offered the Vlaches a fabulous shopping expedition and the highlight of their stay here was a trip by jeep around the 32-mile long, 3-mile wide island.

From St. Thomas Dick and Virginia went to Montego Bay, and then to Ocho Rios where they stayed at the Arawak Hotel. When not lolling in the sun enjoying the lush tropical foliage, the palm trees and listening to the calypso, they visited the splashing Dunns River Falls and saw an old mansion, Rose Hall, which is the locale of the novel "The Witch of Rose Hall."

The wonderful memories of their island vacation are helping ease Virginia's sorrow on the death of her employer, Myron Fox, who died Feb. 27 just before the Vlaches' take-off. Mr. Fox was the organizer of Bell Savings and Loan Assn., and for the past 18 years Mrs. Vlach has been his secretary.

CONGRATULATIONS are extended to Suzanne Anderson who was among Arlington High School students initiated into James Scott National Honor Society Tuesday night. Witnessing the candle light ceremony were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Anderson and her aunt, Mrs. Ruby Gans of 614 N. Beverley.

Suzanne who will be 17 years old on April 8 will celebrate on Sunday for 27 relatives and friends. Among the guests will be her sister and family, the Robert Levines, 3-year-old Beverly Jo and baby Michael David.

Welcomed to the Eastwood area is the James Ebbinghaus family who moved into the former Robert Lane residence at 309 N. Brighton. Mr. Ebbinghaus' employer, the A. O. Harvestore Co., recently transferred him to Arlington from Kankakee. There are three youngsters in the family; David and Donald, who are in Windsor School and 2-year-old Janet.

TUESDAY MORNING, next-door-neighbor Mrs. Curt Kenyon, entertained at a get-acquainted coffee for Mrs. Ebbinghaus.

A porch full of rummage at the Henry Wallaces' on N. Dryden is a sign that Bea is mighty busy getting ready for the Bethel 103 rummage sale which is to be held in the Wallaces' yard on April 20. Bea is guardian treasurer for the bethel.

On Monday morning Mrs. Carl Nelson of N. Dryden flew home after a full 5-days of visiting and sightseeing in Florida. Mrs. Nelson visited with Bob and Marguerite Scott in Coconut Grove and also saw Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hare, Eileen Anderson's parents, in Coral Gables. Although it rained a bit and the weather wasn't as warm as here, Mrs. Nelson had a wonderful visit and enjoyed the beautiful hotels and the interesting drive through the Florida Keys.

RICKY KOZAKIEWICZ' sixth birthday on April 1 will be dually celebrated this year. The first of two parties was held last Sunday at his home, 218 N. Lincoln Lane, for both sets of grandparents and his aunts and uncles. Next Saturday afternoon Rick's guests will be neighborhood friends and schoolmates.

Recent visitors at the Emil Hanner home on Lincoln Lane have been Mrs. Hanner's father, Michael Andree, and Mrs. Andree from Spooner, Wis. The Andrees, who own a small resort on Lake McKenzie in Spooner, were in town for the All Wisconsin Travel and Resort show at the Morrison Hotel. (A

Personnel Policy Changes Outlined

The U.S. Post Office Department's new program for personnel practices and related matters is under way at the Arlington Heights Post Office under direction of Postmaster Virginia F. Dodge.

The new policies include personnel practices, working conditions, consultation on grievances and negotiation.

The program, developed by the Postal Service under President Kennedy's executive order of Jan. 17, 1962, officially recognizes federal employee organizations for the first time, according to Mrs. Dodge.

RECOGNITION is based on results of the largest nationwide management election, held June 15, 1962, in which 451,000 postal employees participated. Formation recognition was given the United Federation of Postal Clerks and the National Association of Letter Carriers.

The employees of the Arlington Heights Post Office, now receive official recognition at the local level for their employee organization, along with employees of more than 30,000 post offices throughout the nation.

National agreements give local employee organizations the right to deal with the postmaster on local working conditions, personnel practices, and in resolving interpretations under the local agreements. (A

GREENBRIER PATCH

Carole Israll Phone 392-0896

The newly elected board of directors of the Greenbrier Civic Association met March 28 to initiate a program of action for the association for the next several months. Chairmen of the various standing committees were appointed from the unit representatives on the Board and all of the committee heads would welcome interested persons to help on their committees.

Standing committees and chairmen are: membership, Harvey Locker; village board, John Baird; village planning and zoning, John Foster; builder's committee, Lenn Steiner; Greenbrier planning and zoning, Bob Mullan; schools, Phyllis Locker; parks, Rick Ferree; taxes, Todd Brennan; social, Beryl Hamersley; publicity, Dwayne Placko.

Anyone who is interested in either joining the association or working on a committee may contact Dan Revak, president, at 392-2294, or the person who heads the committee in which he is interested. Another general meeting of the association will be held this month.

BOB AND Carmen Bird enjoyed out of town company over the March 16 weekend. They were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bird of Milwaukee, who have a rather unusual relationship with the Bob Birds. It seems that Bob and Tom Bird, brothers, married Carmen and Betty Bird, sisters. Children of the Bob Birds, Bill, 13, Wendy, 10, and John, 7, entertained their double-first cousins from Milwaukee, Judy, Linda, Danny and Jill. Highlight of the weekend was a glimpse of the President by the entire family.

The Bob Birds live at 1921 N. Verde Drive and Mr. Bird is a sales engineer with General Controls Company of Des Plaines.

A welcome to the Greenbrier area is extended to Jerry and Phyllis Parlee and their children, Drew, 6, and Susan, 2, who moved into their new home at 2236 N. Champlain on March 23.

DREW arrived in the neighborhood in time to celebrate his sixth birthday on March 29. Mr. Parlee is the distribution center manager for the Weyerhauser Lumber Co. in Franklin Park. The Parlee family lived in Mount Prospect for several weeks after coming to Illinois from Memphis, Tenn.

The arrival of spring was the reason given for at least one party in the area. Herb and Janice Cleveland held open house on March 24. Business associates, neighbors and friends enjoyed buffet and punch in the Cleveland home at 2120 N. Verde Drive. Mr. Cleveland is a trial attorney with the firm of Ernest Koehler and Associates in Chicago. The family includes three children, Maura, 4, Nancy, 3, and Thomas Wendell, 7 months, and Mr. Cleveland's mother, Mrs. Audra Cleveland.

BOYS OF THE area between the ages of 10 and 14 are organizing a baseball team, with prospects of a very active summer. Any boy in this age group, who is a resident of the Greenbrier development and who might be interested in joining the team, is asked to meet at 2110 N. Verde Drive at 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 6, and bring his baseball equipment. Further information may be obtained by calling Thad Mikols, 392-2307, or Bruce Ipsen, 392-2753.

"Pin the ear on the bunny" was enjoyed by young guests at the sixth birthday party of Roberta Hamersley, on March 28, whose celebration was centered around the Easter theme. Enjoying ice cream and cake with Roberta were neighborhood friends, Brian Locker, Kim Karr, Lynne Coffman, Peggy O'Neil and Lynn Hogan. Roberta is the daughter of Ernest and Beryl Hamersley, who celebrated their eighth anniversary on March 27. The Hamersleys live at 2227 Champlain St. (A

Auto Hits Manhole

An auto collided with an exposed manhole cover at Oakton Street and Kaspar Avenue Saturday, damaging the car so extensively that a tow truck was needed to move it from the intersection.

The auto, driven by Lucky L. Somers, 16, of 608 S. Burton Place, struck an eight-inch protrusion, the result of sewer installation work in the area. (A

Jr. Choir In Debut April 7

Palm Sunday, April 7, will mark debut of Christian Church of Arlington Heights first junior choir. Over 20 children, from first through fifth grades, will sing hymns during regular church service.

Mrs. Milo Gasper of Highland Park, with assistance of Mrs. Carlyle Daniel of Arlington Heights, has organized and will direct the junior choir. According to pastor Don L. Jones, they will probably sing hymns in service every other Sunday.

Service of Christian Church of Arlington Heights is held at 10:45 a.m. The church is located in north Arlington Heights at Thomas Street and Mitchell Avenue. (A

69 Students Tour Museum Of Health

Puppet plays, movies, and cartoons were taken in by students from Kensington School and Olive School, Arlington Heights, during a recent visit to the Hinsdale Health Museum.

A total of 69 children were accompanied by teachers, Mrs. Judy Bornoski, of Kensington School, and Mrs. John Stitt, Betty Jo Wishart, and Mrs. June Davis, of Olive School.

PUPPET PLAYS produced and enacted by Junior League Volunteers featured care of teeth, health, and safety.

Opened in 1958, the museum at Hinsdale, has welcomed more than 283,000 visitors. All exhibits tell the story of human biology, demonstrating the parts of the body and how they function. (A

Weather Landing Minimums Lowered By FAA at O'Hare

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) announced Monday it has lowered weather minimums for parallel instrument approaches and landings at Chicago's O'Hare International airport.

The new minimums went into effect March 25 as the result of a successful trial period with parallel instrument landing system(ILS) approaches - bringing planes in simultaneously for dual runway landings in poor weather.

O'Hare, the world's busiest airport, is the only facility in the United States authorized for such operations. Parallel ILS approaches, the FAA said, have increased sharply O'Hare's rate of aircraft acceptance in soupy weather.

The new minimums allow parallel ILS approaches with ceilings of 400 feet and visibility of one mile. The previous limits were 500 feet and 1.5 miles. Non-parallel ILS approaches can be made with limits of 200 feet and a half-mile.

The FAA said the revised minimums were "mutually agreed to" by pilots and controllers after a study of trial operations. It was understood, however, that some airline pilots may protest the new limits as potentially hazardous.

O'Hare's parallel ILS operations originally started under experimental limits of 900 feet and three miles. Pilot objections apparently are based on a fear that the new minimums could create a collision hazard. (A-14

How to Check Peeling Before Repainting

Can you tell me why the paint flaked from a shingled house? The house is approximately two years old. The flaking is not general, but spotty and the flaking spots appear on all sides of the house. The flaking is the top coat only. The undercoat which is white had not flaked or peeled. At present, flaking covers the peak shingle and two others directly beneath it. This peak is on the northeast side of the house. The top coat is a gray and appears a different shade of coloring in spots as if the bottoms of some shingles were damp. This, of course, is not the case. The trim, which is pink, is in perfect condition. I intend to paint the house two coats of white. Is there anything I can do to stop this flaking or will it continue until the entire house has peeled?

It is my opinion that the gray paint was a flat drying type of paint, which contained more thinner than oil. It is also my opinion that this paint did not properly adhere to the white paint underneath and is therefore cracking up and letting go. The spottiness of the gray which you mentioned might also indicate that there was some variation in the porosity of the white surface over which the gray paint was applied. If this is so, much of the vehicle from the paint would be drawn into the more porous parts of the surface. This, too, would cause peeling. I would not want to repaint without removing ALL of the paint.

Along the Camp Fire Trail

Agnes Saidikowski CLearbrook 3-7116

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

The new third-level of programming especially geared for the 12 and 13-year-old girl has given the Tacinca Junior High Camp Fire group new interests and purpose. Mrs. Ruth Platt, now in her fourth year as guardian, has high hopes that the girls will achieve their Group Torch Bearer Rank at the District Council Fire to be held at Arlington High School June 9.

Considerable time has been spent on a group charm course. Two beauticians gave the girls pointers on proper grooming of the hair, skin and nails and a humorous and informative skit, "Hair Versus Cathy Careless," was written and presented by Ellen Olsen and Rosemary Saidikowski.

The group is also participating in the National Needlework Guild. Embroidered handkerchiefs were presented to the ladies at Thorsen's Nursing Home and bibs are being prepared for youngsters at a children's hospital.

THREE MEMBERS of the group attended the yearly Camp Tiyalaka reunion at the Prudential Plaza March 2. Diane Oldenburg, Karen Platt and Gail Whiteside made the trip to Chicago and renewed acquaintances with camp buddies and counselors. Activities at the reunion consisted of a welcoming ceremony, roll call, songs, skits and a friendship circle, after which refreshments were served.

Five-year honors were recently presented to Diane Oldenburg, Ellen Olsen, Karen Platt, Marla Rubenking, Rosemary Saidikowski and Gail Vogel. These girls have remained with the group since it was organized, as the Little Fawns Blue Birds.

Ellen Brogden, Kim Lacker, Nancy Thompson, and Gail Whiteside transferred to Tacinca from other groups and have also received 5-year honors.

The "reorder date" for ordering more Fanny Farmer candy is April 10. Second orders should be given to co-chairmen Norma Robertson, CL 3-2408, or Pat Jacobson, CL 5-0399.

HOFFMAN ESTATES

Wa chee wes, Dancing Girls, have embarked on a needlework project under the direction of group leaders, Mrs. Robert Pederson and Mrs. Robert Stevens. The girls have made 26 articles for the use of children at Little City, Palatine, on Algonquin Road.

The articles are made of wash cloths, stuffed with soap and decorated with embroidery and applique. Octopus, duck, bunny and dog shapes were used for the children's amusement. Bibs for infants were also a part of the project.

Mrs. Arnold Lozzi, Camp Fire co-ordinator for Hoffman Estates, announced this week that future programming will be undertaken by Mrs. E. C. Bollyn, a home economics graduate who has been locally active in PTA and Theatre Guild. Two new leaders have also volunteered their services: Mrs. Joseph Sottosanto will take on a junior high group and a new Bluebird group is being organized by Mrs. Jack Mayer.

'The Glass Blowers' Tells Family Story

"The Glass Blowers," by Daphne Du Maurier, Doubleday & Co., Inc., $4.95.

by HESTER KLINE

The French Revolution has provided plots for colorful and exciting historical novels, but Daphne Du Maurier fails to capture the fire of the period in "The Glass Blowers."

Her characters are skillfully drawn, but they might have lived any time. The reader turns page after page from the prologue on, eagerly seeking the climax, and suddenly there is the epilogue. Somehow the excitement of the mobs, of the civil war, of the famine, of the terror-ridden countryside are passed by.

And perhaps this is true to life. People live through troubled times and time dims the events into unreality. Only the after effects on the lives of the participants remain. Miss Du Maurier tells this story as the memoirs of an elderly woman who could not be expected to bring the actual fighting to life.

"THE GLASS Blowers" is a family history. Mathurin Busson, a master glass blower of the 18th century, is an ancestor of Miss Du Maurier. A special goblet blown and engraved in honor of a visit by the King to the factory was handed down for generations as the "luck" of the family, and is now in the possession of Miss Du Maurier.

Mathurin fathered five children. A daughter, Sophie, records the history of her parents, her brothers and sister, for a nephew whose existence was unknown to her until he suddenly turned up in Paris, a grown man with a family of his own. The goblet is given to his son, Miss Du Maurier's grandfather.

Sophie fills in the background of the family from recollections of stories told at her mother's knee.

SHE PORTRAYS her oldest brother, Robert, as unusually skilled at the family profession, but a wastrel who forsook the glass blowing community of the Midi for the supposed riches of Paris, breaking his father's heart and later the heart of his young wife.

He became one of the hated emigres who fled to England, where he deserted his new wife and little children and returned to France after the Revolution.

The Busson tradition was carried on by Michel, the third son. A speech impediment warped his personality as a child, and when he became an adult he embraced the revolutionists' cause with fervor and ruthlessness toward others.

Gentle Pierre, the second son, was more concerned with helping others. He subscribed to Rousseau's philosophy. The youngest, Edme, if living today, would be a dedicated career woman. Sophie was the steadying influence on all her brothers and sister.

THE AUTHENTICITY of the Busson family is confirmed. Among her grandfather's papers Miss Du Maurier found a faded letter, apparently written by Sophie. Searching further, she found letters from Robert's son, born in England, and tracing her ancestry the author found Robert was her great-great-grandfather.

"The Glass Blowers" should not be read as an adventure story, for as a biography it has a haunting quality. (B8

Lutheran Church Dedication June 2

Dedication of the new Lutheran Church of the Cross at 2025 S. Goebbert Road has been scheduled for Pentecost Sunday, June 2.

The architect, Walter Kroeber of Arlington Heights, and contractor, Norman Bullerman of Des Plaines, have announced completion date target as May 15, allowing movement of the congregation and all facilities to the new building by the dedication date.

Pastor Bruce K. Benander will officiate at Palm Sunday Festival worship services at 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. in Pioneer Park Field House April 7, speaking on "Hosanna to the Son of David."

MRS. EDWARD Holfeld will sing "The Holy City" at the second service, and the senior choir will present "All Glory, Laud and Honor." The choir will wear new robes recently donated by the Irving Park Lutheran Church of Chicago.

Pastor Benander has announced a new program which will feature presentation of a copy of the Bible to every child entering the Church School from the fourth grade through the twelfth.

The school meets each Sunday at 9:30 a.m. in Pioneer Park Field House.

Sunday, Pastor Benander will present Bibles to Gail Amundsen, Joel Ellefson, Lynn Gronwall, Barbara Teske, James Thal, and Sharon Wieser at services, The Bibles being presented are new products of The Lutheran Church in America, designed for Sunday School use.

Methodists Hear Layman Chorus Sun.

The last in the series of family Lenten programs at First Methodist Church, Arlington Heights, will be Sunday evening.

Feature of the evening will be the Chicago Laymen's Chorus, which will sing at 7:15 p.m.

The evening begins with a snack supper at 5:30 p.m., followed by classes at 6:15 for all ages. At 7:15 the youth and adult groups gather in the sanctuary for the special program.

JOSEPH LA Rue is director of the Chicago Laymen's Chorus, which is made up of men from various churches and various denominations. It was organized by Baptist laymen to provide music for a Special Laymen's Rally.

This group has appeared in Orchestra Hall twice, outstanding churches of various groups in the City of Chicago, in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Kentucky.

It has also been on "Columbia Church of the Air," Radio and Television, and appeared on the 1960 Republican Convention meeting in Chicago which had National Radio and Television coverage.

The program concludes at 8 p.m.

School Trustee Post Sought by Housewife

Support was organized this week for the candidacy of an Arlington housewife seeking a two-year term as a Wheeling Township School Trustee.

The candidate is Lucille Gallagher (Mrs. William J.), 726 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights. Announcement of the Independent Citizens Group for her campaign was made by the chairman, Leonard Abrahamson of Wheeling.

The volunteer members of this committee will work for Mrs. Gallagher's election in the balloting April 13, Abrahamson said.

OTHER ORGANIZERS of the citizens group include Mrs. Howard Hanks, also of Wheeling, Elizabeth Borchard, Mrs. Oliver K. Burrows Jr., Norbert Hruby and Dr. Jeremiah Schoen of Arlington Heights, and H. Robert Powell and Priscilla Powell of Prospect Heights.

Mrs. Gallagher outlined for her committee, several reasons why she became a trustee candidate.

"As a mother of four children of school age, I'm naturally interested in school affairs," she said. Her principal interest in the job, she explained, "is to examine and make public the exact function of the township school treasurer's position."

TOWNSHIP School Trustees presently appoint the treasurer who is the official bookkeeper for school districts within the township. Each district, however, keeps a duplicate set of books for its own use.

"This system is the result of a 19th century law and we live in the only county in the state still operating under the law," Mrs. Gallagher said. "I think it is time to make a thorough review of the exact responsibilities of the board and the treasurer."

The candidate said she hoped through her campaign to create interest in the board's function. "And if I'm elected, I intend to make a study of the responsibilities of the trustees and treasurer, and to make that study available to every voter in the township.

SHE IS convinced that most voters are not aware that suburban Cook County is the only county in the state still operating under the 1819 statute that created the board and treasurers positions.

Mrs. Gallagher and her family have lived in Arlington Heights since 1956. Her husband taught at Arlington High School from 1956 to 1960. She studied at the School of the Art Institute and Wright Junior College.

Cantata Is Set Sunday For Choir

The senior choir of the First Baptist Church of Arlington Heights, 1211 W. Campbell St., will present J. H. Maunder's cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," Sunday at 7 p.m.

Guest soloists will include Elmer Fanstill, tenor, Mildred Fanstill, soprano, Judson Tyley, basso and William Birchman, tenor. David Detwiler, tenor, Raymond Truelsen, baritone and Warren Zick, basso will sing solo.

PIANO AND ORGAN accompaniment will be by Norma Pesch and Dorothy Truelsen, with Raymond Truelsen directing the choir.

The cantata begins with the ovation given Christ in Jerusalem and continues to the completion of God's plan for the redemption of mankind. The public is invited to attend this program. (A

Youth Deserts Car After Accident

A 16-year-old Rolling Meadows youth was picked up by police in Arlington Heights Saturday night after the youth had abandoned his badly damaged auto.

Police discovered the auto, the front end severely damaged, behind the Market Basket Shopping Center at State and Palatine Roads.

Shortly later, a cruising squad car spotted the Rolling Meadows boy standing in a doorway at the Westgate Shopping Center, Wilke Road and Campbell Street.

The boy admitted crashing the auto on Lincoln Lane east of State Road in Arlington Heights. He said he sent his girl friend, who was in the car during the accident, to her home in a taxi cab. (A & K

Commuter Walks 15 Miles To Job, Proves He's Fit

Donald F. Dillon, of 307 S. Forrest, Arlington Heights, last week walked to work.

The unusual aspect of Dillon's "walk" was that his place of business is the Bankers Life & Casualty Insurance Co., 4444 W. Lawrence, Chicago, 15 miles from his home.

Dillon indicated that President Kennedy's emphasis on physical fitness and the recent hike by a group of Glenview based marines influenced him to take the long walk.

He talked a fellow employe, Dan McCoy, 406 Eastwood, Mount Prospect, into joining him in the "walk to work."

Dillon said he left his home at 2:15 a.m. and 15 minutes later picked up McCoy at his home a mile down his route. Both men cut over to Rand Road and then went along Central to Milwaukee Avenue which finally led to Elston Avenue and Bankers Life at the Lawrence Avenue intersection.

THEY WERE stopped by Niles police when they passed through that village about 5 a.m. Identification and explanations were requested by the officers, who let them continue.

However, Dillon indicated, the policemen watched them until they reached the village limits.

Dillon said they reached the office at 7 a.m. After washing up both men put in a full day on the job. A tightness in the legs was the only reported aftermath of the early morning trip.

TWO OTHER suburban employes of Bankers Life, Max Lyle of Elk Grove Village and Jim Gawne of Des Plaines, decided to better the time record of Dillon and McCoy.

Both men, after meeting in Mount Prospect, started running on their way to Chicago. They reported they had not gone 50 yards when Mount Prospect police stopped them for questioning.

Dillon remarked that he and his wife were considering challenging McCoy and his wife to a hiking contest. Mrs. Dillon's remarks about this aspect of her husband's latest plan were unfortunately lost. (A

Jerry Lewis' Sons 'Doubles' in Film

Jerry Lewis' wife, Patti, and two of their sons, Gary, 16, and Chris, 7, will be seen in "It's Only Money," his latest Paramount movie which opens Friday at the Dundale Drive-in Theatre, Higgins Road east of Route 25.

The script called for Jerry to show snapshots of himself at the age of 6, 15 and 17; the last to be with an equally young girl friend. He didn't have one at either 6 or 15 so photos of Gary and Chris were substituted when both the producer and the director of the film noted the family resemblance.

A PRINT of the two youngsters together was obtained by superimposing a snapshot of Jerry at 17 and one of Patti at 16 together.

Although four of the seven members of the Lewis family appear in the film, only Jerry is given screen credit.

Co-featured with "It's Only Money" will be "The Pigeon That Took Rome" which stars Charlton Heston.

Suburb News of the Week

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Trustee James Young claimed that the village board was planning to build an illegal addition to the street department building. He indicated he will do everything possible to prevent the addition from being built.

—Village Trustees indicated to a man representing owners of 72 acres in DuPage County that they had no objections to annexing his property. Elk Grove and DuPage County communities have clashed over the village's annexations in DuPage. The village board recommended that he seek pre-annexation zoning, and then petition for annexation.

—A builder asked the Elk Grove School board to disannex 50 acres of land, located in Mount Prospect and bounded by Lonnquist, WeGo Trail, Meyer Road, and Golf Road, from Elk Grove School District 59 to Mount Prospect District 57. The two school boards will meet to discuss the matter. For details, see Elk Grove Herald.

WHEELING — An issue in the April 16 village election has become whether or not national political parties should be involved in village government. Details in Wheeling Herald.

BUFFALO GROVE — Candidates seeking election to the village board are to face each other at a public forum Friday night at Alcott School, sponsored by the local Woman's club.

ROLLING MEADOWS — At a special session of the city council Tuesday night the aldermen created the post of city comptroller, including duties often assigned to a city manager; transferred title for the fire station from the city to the fire protection district, opening the way for a bond issue to expand the facilities; and appointed a committee to study possible financing of a civic center on a downtown tract where the owners want to erect an apartment complex. Details in Rolling Meadows Herald.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Village trustees Monday approved a $1,518,210 municipal budget for 1963-64, giving taxpayers a tax break of one cent (.01) per $100 of assessed valuation. This year's village tax was $52 on a house assessed at $10,000. Next year's will be $51.

Voters at the annual Wheeling Township meeting Tuesday approved the transfer of $100,000 in surplus township funds to local elementary school districts. The electorate also rejected a request for $10,000 to be used for "senior citizen" programming and approved about $12,000 for aerial surveys of the township. Details in Arlington Heights Herald.

MOUNT PROSPECT — Mount Prospect's first old fashioned town meeting was hailed as a big success this week as candidates running for all offices on village, library, school and park boards were invited to participate in a forum sponsored by SALT (Sound Administration, Lower Taxes), a non-partisan civic watch-dog organization. A capacity crowd attended the meeting. Details in Mount Prospect Herald. (B8

At Chanute

Airman Basic John A. Strosin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Strosin of 195 Northview Lane, Roselle, is being reassigned to Chanute AFB, for technical training as a United States Air Force electrician.

Airman Strosin, who enlisted in the Air Force a short time ago, has completed his initial basic military training here.

The airman is a 1962 graduate of Maine West high school in Des Plaines. (WUS

In Jacksonville

Marine Pfc. Dennis L. Hogy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Hogy of 45 Shady Court, Arlington Heights, is attending Aviation Electrician's Mate School at the Naval Air Technical Training Unit, Jacksonville, Fla.

The 22-week course, scheduled to end in August, covers basic electricity and electronics, aircraft electrical and instrument systems, and the repair and maintenance of aircraft electrical parts. (WUS

In San Diego

Kenneth E. Wirth, seaman recruit, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Wirth of 573 S. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling, is undergoing nine weeks of basic recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The indoctrination to Navy life consists of physical fitness drills, military drills, seamanship, basic military law, customs and etiquette of the naval service, swimming and survival, and first aid.

During the training, recruits receive tests and interviews which determine future training and assignments in the Navy.

Here Is April's Election Lineup

Scheduled elections for Saturday, April 13, are those for Arlington Heights District 25 Board of Education, High School District 214 Board of Education and Wheeling Township Board of School Trustees.

Elections slated for Tuesday, April 16, are for Arlington Heights Board of Trustees, police magistrate and library board of trustees.

There are only two candidates for two three-year terms on the District 25 board, Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson, 726 S. Highland Ave., and Joseph F. Faner, 615 Mayfair, current board president.

POLLING PLACES at eight district schools will be open from Noon to 7 p.m. April 13.

Three candidates seek two high school board seats. They are Arthur E. Aronson, 2818 N. Schoeneck Road, Wheeling area; Mrs. Margaret Marble, 604 W. Shabonee Trail, Mount Prospect, and Dr. Frank J. Smith, 1523 N. Kaspar Ave., Arlington Heights.

Polls will be open for this election from noon to 7 p.m.

Four candidates are running for two vacancies on the township school board. Seeking a full six-year term are Gerald A. Moe, 337 Rosewood Ave., Buffalo Grove, and August Stavros of Nichols Road, east of Palatine.

CAMPAIGNING for an unexpired two-year term are Mrs. Lucille Gallagher, 726 N. Gibbons Ave., and Clarence A. Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont Ave.

Polling places, open from noon to 7 p.m., will be in four locations in the township, in the Wheeling - Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Feehanville, and Arlington Heights school districts.

There are no contests for any of the village offices at stake April 16. (A

4th Annual Affair

Pastors Institute at Lutheran General Set

A psychiatrist, a clinical psychologist and a theological professor—all ordained pastors — will be guest lecturers at the fourth annual institute for pastors June 5-6 at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

"The institute is open to clergymen of all faiths," said Rev. Lawrence Holst, director of Lutheran General's department of pastoral care, and chairman of the program.

Attendance is limited to 150.

ON THE program are Dr. William Hulme, professor of practical theology at Wartburg Theological Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa; Dr. Paul Qualben, practicing psychiatrist from Brooklyn, New York; and Dr. John Kildahl, clinical psychologist from New York City.

Dr. Hulme is widely known for his work in counseling and guidance. He is author of four books and numerous articles and papers on the subject of pastoral counseling.

Dr. Qualben is an ordained Lutheran pastor who has completed his studies in psychoanalysis and is now practicing psychiatry.

DR. KILDAHL was an ordained Lutheran pastor before getting his doctorate in clinical psychology at New York University. Besides his private practice, he and Dr. Qualben work in the outpatient clinic of the Brooklyn Lutheran Medical Center.

In past years, the institute has attracted capacity attendances with pastors from throughout the midwest attending. (B8

ARTIST'S SKETCH reveals Georgian colonial design of the Perkins Pancake House, proposed new restaurant in Arlington Heights. Containing more than 4,000 square feet of floor space, the building will provide the village with an unique eating and meeting place.

In Pancake House

Dining and Meeting Facilities Planned

A new downtown restaurant and meeting place will be afforded Arlington Heights residents when a national pancake house chain establishes its business at the northeast corner of Evergreen Avenue and Miner Street.

The Perkins Pancake House will provide restaurant facilities and a dining room for private parties, business meetings, and other group functions.

The menu at the new restaurant will include more than 30 varieties of pancakes, waffles, French toast, omelettes and other food specialties.

THESE ITEMS, according to Richard Abrahamson, vice president of Perkins Pancake House, are prepared by trained personnel, not by using dried mixes.

The exterior of the building will be Georgian colonial with red brick and white trim, with an Early American atmosphere decorating the interior.

Conditional approval to construction of the restaurant was given by the Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals last week after the board was asked by the builder to waive zoning regulations which would require him to provide 37 off-street parking spaces.

BEN MAMMIMA, the builder, claimed it would provide a hardship to provide more than 30 spaces. The board granted the variation.

Mammina was to show ownership of the building site to meet conditions of the board's approval. (A

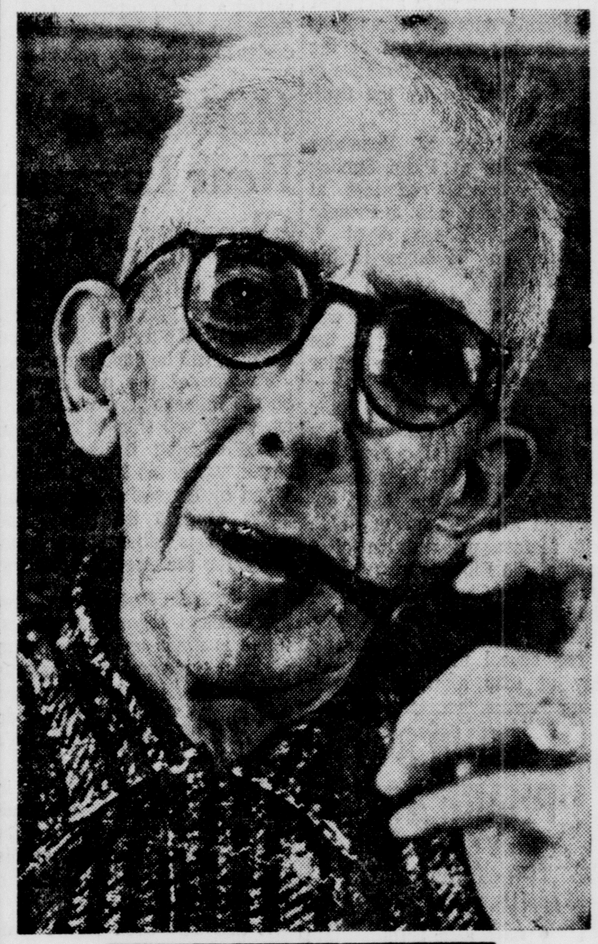
3.1% in Mt. Prospect (Wheel. Twp.)
2.0% in Rolling Meadows (HS 211)
1.5% in Rolling Meadows (HS 214)

No appreciable change in Schaumburg.



WANT ADS are for EVERYBODY

My "retirement years" are just what I always hoped they would be. I knew that complete idleness would not bring contentment for me and I hit on the idea of making a paying proposition out of my hobby. I ran a small Want Ad in Paddock Publications announcing my skills at woodworking. Thanks to that ad I have all the jobs I can handle. My wife keeps reminding me that I'm supposed to be retired, and I tell her I am enjoying life and that is what retirement is supposed to mean. It is true "Want Ads Are For Everybody."

Jeepers! Peepers! Keepers!

ST. LOUIS, (UPI)—Jeepers and Peepers have their keepers saying "jeepers creepers" twice.

The female Hippopotamus at the St. Louis zoo has given birth to twins. Zoo spokesmen say they believe Peepers may have accomplished the first multiple birth by a Hippo in captivity.

The newborn Hippos weigh about 40 pounds apiece. This is light for Hippos since most weigh 100 pounds or more at birth. Zoo director Marlin Perkins was unavailable for comment. He's busy tending the new arrivals.

Zoo men consider the first-born quite handsome for a Hippo, adding that he has his "Mother's looks."

Papa Jeepers seems unconcerned about the event. He is being kept occupied cadging goodies from his handlers in celebration of the rare occurence. (A-14

Clean Up, Fix Up, Paint Up—Safely

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—Spring is the time when a housewife's thoughts and energy are turned toward spring house cleaning. This ritual is observed by a regalia of flying mops, dust-clothes, sponges, buckets, ladders and the like.

Amidst this hustle and bustle are a number of pitfalls awaiting the unwary, according to Dr. Carl Neupert, state medical officer. Sore muscles, sprained joints and even more serious disabling injuries can and do occur. Haste, fatigue and plain carelessness, he said, are the culprits.

According to safety experts a lot can be done to avoid possible pitfall by taking time to plan. Divide the work load into a number of easily manageable units, and allow plenty of time to get each done. Spread the job over a number of days if necessary.

One unit of work which should be given priority is a safety survey, Dr. Neupert said. Look for hazards like loose rugs, clutter on stairs or in other traffic areas.

Too, the condition of tools should be carefully checked. A step ladder with broken or loose rungs can be a real hazard. Electrical helpers like vacuum cleaners should be checked for frayed cords and loose connections.

As the spring house cleaning project is started, Dr. Neupert said, it is wise to keep some common sense rules in mind: Wear safe and simple clothing, use rubber gloves to protect hands when using strong cleaning solutions, don't carry a load so large it obstructs the vision, and resist the temptation to climb on the nearest chair or carton - use a ladder.

When the day's work is done, avoid leaving a clutter that could cause accidental falls and, of course, disinfectants and other cleaning chemicals should be moved out of reach of children. (A-14

Illinois Auto Deaths Rising

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — Illinois traffic deaths increased 9 per cent in March over the same month a year ago, the state division of traffic safety reported Tuesday.

The report said 132 persons were killed in traffic accidents in March 1963, while only 119 were killed during March 1962.

A Sharp Dos Passos Look at World War I

"Mr. Wilson's War," by John Dos Passos, Doubleday & Company Inc., 1962, 502 pages. $6.95.

by BRUCE LADD

Beginning with the assassination of President McKinley and ending with the defeat of the League of Nations by the U. S. Senate, the 20-year period covered by John Dos Passos in "Mr. Wilson's War" changed America's destiny.

Dos Passos, now 67 years old, tells with a clear historical perspective of the people who guided the United States through one of its most crucial periods.

Chief among the characters is President Woodrow Wilson, the shy, brilliant man whose administration proved to be a complex of contradictions.

EXAMPLE of Dos Passos' great insight is his proposition that if Wilson's wife had not hated his best friend, the League of Nations might have lived.

According to the author, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, chairman of the Committee for Foreign Affairs, was opposed to the Treaty of Versailles.

However, Col. Edward M. House, the president's "chief adviser, private negotiator and . . . most intimate friend," sent an emissary to plead with the senator.

After several friendly interviews, Lodge admitted that his reservations to the treaty might be modified. He finally pencilled some suggestions on a printed copy of the covenant which would make it acceptable to him.

HOUSE dispatched the copy to Wilson, who was lying ill in the White House. Dos Passos says Mrs. Wilson intercepted the communique.

He reasons that Mrs. Wilson hated House and that she felt anything connected with Lodge might upset her husband and bring about a relapse. So she never showed him Lodge's modification.

Hearing nothing from the White House, Lodge, "being touchy as a bear," was insulted by what he considered a direct rebuff. He reintroduced his reservations in their original form, and subsequently defeated the League of Nations.

THERE ARE other surprises in "Mr. Wilson's War:"

—It was an American (Admiral Sims) who invented the convoy system and defeated Germany's submarine warfare;

—The mutiny of a million-and-a-half French soldiers in the summer of 1917 left the French army defensless, but the Germans never found out;

—The revolution in Russia had the long-term effect of undermining the morale of the German army.

IN DOS Passos' words, "My method was to try to relate the experiences of the assorted personalities and their assorted justifications to my own recollections . . . during these years, and to seek out . . . the private letter, the unguarded entry in the diary, the news report made on the spur of the moment."

In doing these things well, Dos Passos succeeds in coordinating the political, the military and the economic themes of the time, resulting in a story line which never falters. (B8

Chicago Pacifist to Speak Here Sunday

The "Role of the Individual in a Turn Toward Peace: A Pacifist's Approach" will be the subject of a talk at 8 p.m. Sunday, April 7, at the Prospect Heights Community Church.

Special guest speaker at the program, being sponsored by the Northwest Community Peace Center, will be Kale Williams, executive secretary of the Chicago regional office of the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC).

Sunday's program will be the third in the Peace Center's current series of four discussions being offered under the subject "What Really Produces World Peace?"

The AFSC, one of an estimated 26 organizations affiliated with the nationwide Turn Toward Peace program, was founded in 1917 by the Society of Friends (Quakers) for the purpose of aiding in the rehabilitation of World War I refugees. It has since expanded its services to include community relations, youth service, international affairs, international service and peace education.

After completing his studies in social sciences at the University of Chicago, Williams began work with the AFSC in 1951, working in Pasadena, Calif., Philadelphia, Pa., and Chicago.

Williams' responsibilities included service projects for young people and work in mental hospitals. More recently, he became actively involved in the "Deerfield crisis," which centered around the unsuccessful integration of that community.

Williams served in the U. S. Navy for three years during World War II, during which time he saw action in the Pacific. He has since assumed the role of a pacifist in his approach to problems on the local, national and international levels.

Williams is currently encouraging support of a nuclear test ban treaty as an aid in a turn toward peace, and in support of President Kennedy's statement, "A guaranteed end to all nuclear testing in all environments is a fundamental objective of the free world. We are deeply convinced that the achievement of this objective would serve our best interests and the national interests of all the nations of the world."

An open discussion will follow Williams' talk.

Further information may be obtained by contacting one of the members of the Peace Center's program committee, Robert Brower, LE 7-0807, Rev. Robert F. Klepper, CL 3-2772, or Rabbi Hillel Gamoran, 392-4940. (ACM

First Aid Meet Draws 200 Scouts

Two hundred Boy Scouts from the Blackhawk District competed in what must have looked like a mass disaster last week at their annual first aid meeting in St. Viator's gymnasium.

The boys matched talents in applying the first aid training they have been receiving as an integral part of their scouting work.

The Falcon, Otter, and Flaming Arrow Patrols from Troop 135, sponsored by the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights, won blue ribbons for first place, the second consecutive year this troop has taken three blue ribbons.

The Panther Patrol qualified for a second place red ribbon.

Arlington Woman Cited In Accident

An Arlington Heights female motorist was ticketed by police Monday for failure to yield the right of way.

Receiving the citation was B. Katherine Didrickson, 326 S. Gibbons Ave., whose auto collided at Fairview Street and Dunton Avenue with another driven by Margaret M. Molkup, 1025 S. Vail Ave.

Mrs. Didrickson was westbound on Fairview, Mrs. Molkup northbound on Dunton.

Toastmasters Host To Air Lines Club

At a recent meeting of the Arlington Heights Toastmaster Club the local club had the United Air Lines Toastmasters as guests.

President Ed Dunn handled the gavel and Ralph Visk offered the invocation.

Frank Callaghan as toastmaster introduced the speakers from the local club, Nelson Clark and Ray Johnson, and Hal Predovich and Pat Molahan who represented the visitors. Clark received the best speech award for his talk "In the Shadow of the City."

RALPH ABELT handled the table topics part of the meeting which was won by Bob Stein. Ray Mell was speech timer and Don Heine served as grammarian. Speech evaluators were Dale Galloway, Warren Lattof and Hal Weary.

Guests and prospective members are invited to attend the group's next meeting Wednesday, April 10 at 8 p.m. in the lower level of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Warren Lattof at CL 9-4100 can be contacted for additional information about the local club. (A&M

COMPOUNDING THE PRESCRIPTIONS NEWS

A New York efficiency expert claims wives don't know their jobs. He says the "home engineers" would be fired in a hurry if they were working on a straight salary. Now there's a lad who leaves himself as wide open as a barn door. He's a real diplomat. It's not a question of whether he's right or wrong . . . it's a question of war and peace between the sexes.

Ever since the first cave man objected to the way his cave lady dusted the granite floor, men have cast a microscopic and critical optic on milady's housekeeping routines. And the distaff side has responded as quickly as a pull on a bell rope. So the efficiency expert's diagnosis is nothing new . . . it's just foolhardy. Obviously he isn't a married man, or he might have hesitated before needling 20 million U.S. housewives.

In Vienna a man admitted in court he had three wives, but asked for mercy on the grounds that he had "a very poor memory." He ought to tie a string around his ring finger. Some things are important to remember . . . like the place to go for prompt and accurate prescription service.

Mayor's Old Gun Saves Old Monroe

OLD MONROE, MO., (UPI) — The mayor of Old Monroe proved to be a good bluffer Monday night when he held three burglary suspects at bay with an unloaded antique pistol.

Mayor George Grollner flashed on his automobile lights as the men came out of a food store carrying cases of whiskey. "Halt," he said, pointing the antique firearm. And, they did.

Somebody sounded the town fire siren and by the time Deputy Sheriff Alphonse Dickherver arrived, so did about half the population of 290 persons.

Arrested were three St. Louis men, Marvin J. Gendron, Charles E. Anderson and Louis Webb Jr. Dickherver had only one pair of handcuffs and Webb and Anderson were held bodily until Sheriff Irl Elliot arrived with irons for them.

Grollner said he had become suspicious of the men when he saw them in a station wagon parked in the deserted downtown area as he drove home from a city council meeting. He investigated and found they had entered the store. (ACM

Forest View News

There will be a meeting at Dempster Junior High on Monday, April 8, at 8 p.m., sponsored by the PTA advisory council, made up of representatives of the PTA, parents groups and Mother's Clubs, to introduce the candidates for the Board of Education for District 59. Two are to be elected on Saturday, April 13.

All residents of District 59 are urged to attend to meet these men.

SATURDAY night Mr. and Mrs. Don Larson, W. Algonquin Road, attended the annual Lloyds Athletic Club banquet and dinner dance at the Marilac House in Oak Park.

It was old home week for the Otto Gorgius family, S. Busse Road, when they were guests of the Dave Hamiltons in Franklin Park Friday evening. The two families attended the student-teacher basketball game at West Leyden High School. Lynne met many students with whom she had gone through elementary grades.

Get well wishes are extended to Elaine Petry, S. State Road, who is home after surgery in Northwest Community Hospital.

Birthday greetings this week go to George Mailfold Jr., Terry Hilgeman, Corey Russi, Kevin Hengler, Patti Loeschen and David Smalenberger.

ELK RIDGE VILLA

John and Evelyn Heinz. Robert Drive, spent Sunday afternoon at a family reunion dinner in the home of John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heinz of Niles.

Bill and Bev Mallian, Robert Drive, helped friends, Georgia and Karl Helmreich of Glenview, celebrate their 16th anniversary on Saturday. After seeing "Lawrence of Arabia" they dined at Shangri-La in Chicago.

LEN AND ALICE Kiolbassa, Robert Drive, entertained nine of Rodney's boy friends on Sunday at a party honoring his seventh birthday.

Jean Beck, Robert Drive, entertained her canasta club Friday evening. Guests were from Chicago and Norridge Park.

Get well wishes are extended to Mary Pryble of Willow Lane.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wunar, Martha Lane, entertained the Herb Wunar family of Chicago Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pagluica had Mrs. Angeline Pagluica and Miss Marie Pagluica of Oak Park as guests for a steak cook-out Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cameron, Martha Lane, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gastel of Cicero Saturday night. Wednesday night the Camerons visited the E. Guertin family in Westchester.

MRS. ARLENE Lowe, Martha Lane, attended a fashion show Sunday given by the Mother's Club of Gordon Tech High School in Chicago. The narrator was Dorsey Conners. Mrs. Lowe's godchild, Annete Selesky, modeled in the show.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll, Estates Drive, where Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Mueller of Mount Prospect. After dinner at Henrici's at O'Hare Field, the Carrolls showed slides of Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cox of Chicago were luncheon guests on Tuesday of the Wade Gales, Estates Drive.

LAKE BRIARWOOD

March 23 a Japanese dinner was served by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rice for neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dunker, Dr. and Mrs. L. Guziec, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. G. Abelseth.

The social committee of the Lake Briarwood Association sponsored a candlelight bowling party at the Mount Prospect Bowl followed by a dinner. Twenty-four couples attended the recent affair.

Postal Trucks Add Child Safety Aid

A step in the direction of prevention of child fatalities and injuries is being made by the Post Office Department, it was announced this week by Postmaster Virginia Dodge.

Front view reflective discs are being installed on vehicles to provide a clear view of children who might be playing or walking close to the front of postal trucks. Mail carriers will be able to see the front bumper and anyone who may be ahead of the vehicle before driving forward.

THE SUGGESTION that a stainless steel disc mounted above the windshield would allow sufficient vision to see small children and thus prevent accidents, was made by a mail carrier driver. The suggestor used the top of his wife's stainless steel kitchen garbage container in experimenting with his idea.

Refinements were made by post office engineers after trials were conducted to determine its benefits. Reaction by drivers using the device during the study was extremely favorable and the Post Office Department ordered 20,000 of them for installation on vehicles used for delivery of mail in city neighborhoods, and suburban routes. The discs are being installed on 1,847 vehicles in the Chicago Region comprising the states of Illinois and Michigan. The disc will be installed on 13 vehicles at the Arlington Heights Post Office.

IN ADDITION to the discs, 44,000 postal vehicles nationwide have had safety seat belts installed to protect employees in the event of serious vehicle accidents.

Drivers of vehicles without seat belts are instructed to keep doors closed while in motion so that they will not be thrown from the truck should an accident occur. (AKE

Real Estate Tax Values Up in 214

Value of real estate for tax purposes has risen more than $125 million for High School District 214 (Arlington, Prospect and Forest View Schools) in the past four years.

Valuation has gone from $266 million during the 1959-60 school year (1959 taxes) to $392 million this year for the 1962 taxes.

In the same period student enrollment at the three high schools of the district has jumped from 3,812 to 6,398.

TAXES DURING the same period have been on the rise. The total tax rate for 1959 taxes was $1.286 per $100 valuation. This year taxes will come to $1.464.

The 1962 rate is a slight decrease from the rate of $1.49 last year.

Major rise in taxes has come from the educational rate which went from $.915 in 1959-60 to $1.0342 this year. The building maintenance rate has gone up about two cents and the bond-retirement rate has gone up about four cents. (ACM-EG

High School Board Candidates Tell Background, Plans

The three candidates for the Arlington - Prospect - Wheeling High School District 214 Board of Education took part in a public forum at London Junior High in Wheeling March 25.

Mrs. Margaret Marble of Mount Prospect said the 10 to 15 hours per week she has devoted to school affairs the past two years has provided a valuable background to serve as a school board member.

"I am an economist - realist," she declared, "and recognize that the school board, like a family, must live within the budget."

EMPHASIS ON sports and other extracurricular activities rather than concentration on academic areas was criticized by Mrs. Marble. "I feel the present education standards are being slighted because of these activities," she said.

Incumbent Arthur Aronson said that criteria for choosing school board members should be their interest in children and the community, and "the amount of time" they are willing and able to devote to school affairs.

School taxes, he said, stand little chance of being reduced due to the rapid increases in school enrollments and the resultant need for additional classroom facilities and teaching personnel.

Aronson stated that he is interested in reorganization of the entire school system, citing a study being conducted by a consulting firm with this end in mind.

DR. FRANK Smith, of Arlington Heights, said although he is relatively new in the community, his background as a teacher of industrial psychology at Loyola University should be a compensating factor.

During a question and answer period, the candidates were asked what they would eliminate from the school activities if a lack of finances demanded a cut. The answers:

Mrs. Marble — Do away with buses, swimming, and all other extras, and go back to the three R's.

Aronson — "I would hate to throw out the extra curricular activities, but suppose the three R's would remain."

Smith — Keep the three R's, but at the same time take a look at cost and compare one against the other. (ACM

Baritone Soloist Set for Requiem

Baritone Richard Schreiber, who performed in Handel's "Messiah" at Randhurst during the Christmas season, will return to this area at 8 p.m. on

RICHARD SCHREIBER

Wednesday, April 10, as the baritone soloist in "Ein deutsches Requiem" (a German Requiem) by Brahms, at the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights, 302 N. Dunton Ave.

Schreiber has appeared in concert with over a dozen musical organizations, including the Tri-City Symphony of Davenport, the Sunday Evening Club of Chicago, and the Augustana Oratorio Society of Rock Island.

THE REQUIEM, although written 100 years ago, is still regarded as an outstanding masterpiece in choral music.

It has been recorded by RCA Victor, with Robert Shaw conducting the Robert Shaw Chorale, the RCA Victor Symphony Orchestra, Eleanor Steber, soprano soloist and James Pease, baritone soloist.

The text of the Requiem, which has been translated into English, is of greater importance than is usually the case in such choral works.

Its presentation on April 10 will be under the direction of Isaac Strain, minister of music of the First Presbyterian Church.

In addition to Schreiber's solo parts, there will be a soprano soloist, Mrs. Paul J. Roy, from St. Raymond's choir, the Presbyterian chancel choir of approximately 50 voices, and an orchestra composed of some 20 musicians from Arlington Heights and neighboring areas.

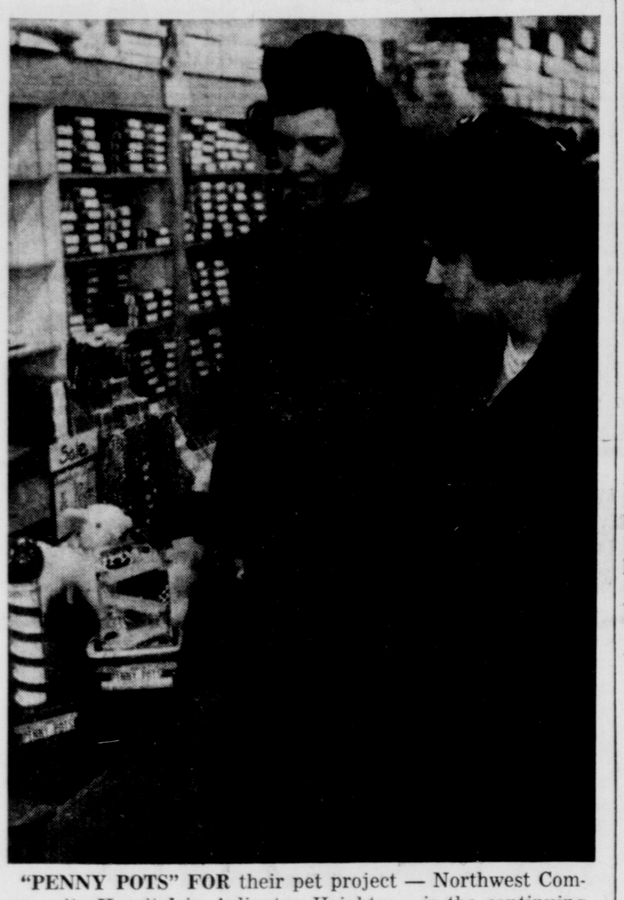
For Hospital

Nurses Club Collects Money in Penny Banks



"PENNY POTS" FOR their pet project — Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights — is the continuing goal of the Mount Prospect Nurses Club. Difficulty in locating sturdy novelty banks has snagged expansion of the program which has raised more than $2,600 for the hospital to date. Club chairman Mrs. Albert Waishwell (left), CL 3-5878, and Mrs. James R. King, one of the originators of the program, are asking area residents for the donation of used and even broken "clown ladder" or "barber pole" banks as shown above in McMahon's Clothing Store, Mount Prospect. (Staff Photo)

A penny flips down a "clown ladder" into a waiting bank collection can.

Another penny travels round-and-round a gaily - painted barber's pole.

Both cent pieces are destined to join thousands of similar coins to further swell the "Penny Pot" collections of the Mount Prospect Nurses Club for the benefit of Northwest Community Hospital.

To date the group has raised $2,650 through their penny collections.

CONTINUED raising of funds through the use of novelty banks appears to have hit a snag.

Only 29 banks are still "out" in the business area of Mount Prospect. The balance have been broken. New novel t y banks, regardless of the source located, are "too expensive" or "too breakable," Mrs. Albert Waishwell said this week.

Mrs. Waishwell is chairman of the collections for the nurses group. She stressed the club wanted to expand the "Penny Pot" collections to areas outside of downtown Mount Prospect. Among the possible sites mentioned for future "Penny Pots" were the Mount Prospect Shopping Center and Randhurst.

Prime need are used novelty banks which may be rescued from children's toy chests. Particularly effective, according to Mrs. Waishwell, are the barber - pole and clown - ladder banks which can be repaired.

AREA RESIDENTS with novelty banks which could be used to further the hospital work of the club are asked to call Mrs. Waishwell at CL 3-5878.

Purchased with the penny collections of the club in the past two years were medical textbooks, a humidifier for sickroom use and a $500 plus scrubber for the surgical suite t o help control staph infections.

The major project of the club was the donation of furnishings and equipment for a room in the pediatric department. Total cost of this effort was $1,800.

Outdoor Education Is Workshop Theme

Paul W. Jung, director of the Palatine school system's outdoor education program, will be among discussion leaders at a spring workshop in outdoor education to be held this weekend, April 5 and 6, at Camp Reinberg, near Palatine.

Palatine school children are among elementary classroom groups who use the setting of Camp Reinberg to experience firsthand the things they read about in textbooks.

Other participants will be: Dr. Paul A. Yambert, dean of the School of Applied Arts and Science, Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point; Dr. Phillip B. Whitford, professor of botany at the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee; Robert Hockett, Cook County Forest Preserve naturalist who works out of the nature center, Northbrook.

THE PURPOSE of the workshop, according to Robert Vogl, of the Camp Reinberg, is to provide the opportunity for people working in the field of outdoor education to more clearly understand the natural world and present the significance of this understanding in incorporating various techniques into the child's experiences.

Among teachers who have reservations to attend are: Robert E. Spinks, Arlington Heights public school system, and Betty Anne Cairns, Wheeling.

Camp Reinberg is a nonprofit camp, which operates 12 months a year. Its program includes teenage weekends and summer camping programs for Chicago neighborhood centers and settlement houses that don't have camping facilities, as well as outdoor education. (B8

Elks To Stage Musical Comedy

Bob Sabin, general chairman of the "Elk's Frolics," announced this week the Arlington Heights Elks Lodge will present a musical comedy and minstrel titled, "If the Shoe Fits," May 16, 17 and 18 in the Arlington High School gymnasium.

According to Sabin, "If the Shoe Fits" will have a cast of more than 100 local participants, but will be much different than an ordinary amateur show, in that it will be under the professional direction of the John B. Rodgers Producing Co. of Fostoria, Ohio."

In addition to sending a director with professional stage training, the Rodgers Company will furnish costumes and scenery, all especially designed for this production.

"If the Shoe Fits" will be divided into two parts. The first part will be a musical revue, consisting of a series of comedy situations, costumed dance choruses, vocal numbers, and specialties.

The second part will be a minstrel show, with many longtime favorites and the popular "end men." (B-8

25th Tag Day Set By Army

The silver anniversary of "Doughnut Day" as an area-wide tagging event will be celebrated by The Salvation Army in June, Commissioner Samuel Hepburn, Central Territorial commander, announced this week.

The twenty-fifth annual tag day for the benefit of The Salvation Army and its social service program will be held on Friday, June 7, in Chicago and in the suburbs of the seven-county area around the city: Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry, Will and Lake (Indiana).

SHARING in the celebration marking the anniversary is Mrs. Henry D. Paschen, 345 Fullerton Pkwy., who will serve as general chairman of the "Doughnut Day" drive for the twenty-fifth consecutive year.

Approximately 10,000 volunteer taggers will sell the familiar doughnut-shaped paper tags under Mrs. Paschen's direction. The 1963 goal has been set at $190,000. "Doughnut Day" is one of five tag days approved by the City Council. Proceeds help support the programs and services of 39 Salvation Army institutions, departments and corps in the greater Chicago area, and provide a part of the emergency funds used by Salvation Army Service Units in many suburban communities.

Headquarters for the drive are in Room 1311 at 8 S. Dearborn St., telephone FInancial 6-1080. (B8

Ben Willis to Speak To Education Council

Chicago's public school superintendent, subject of recurring criticisms and recurring praise, will speak before teachers and administrators of the Arlington area tonight.

Dr. Benjamin Willis will address the spring dinner meeting of the Arlington Area Educators Council Thursday, April 4, at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in St. Paul Lutheran School, Mount Prospect.

Topic of the address is "Today's Challenges."

ATTENDANCE at the dinner is expected to exceed 200 teachers and school leaders.

A brief business meeting is slated to follow dinner.

Program chairman for the meeting is Sol Minkoff, principal of the Whitman School in Wheeling. President of the council is William Kyger of South Junior High School.

The council has more than 1,000 members from District 214 three high schools and the seven underlying grade school districts. Teachers from Lutheran parochial schools in the area also are members of the group. A credit union for members is one of the major personal benefits in addition to the education-promotion efforts of the council.

As an outgrowth of the AAEC, several major specialized school groups have been formed. These include the Arlington Area School Board Association, the Arlington Area Superintendents Association and the Arlington Area Curriculum Council.

ST. BERNARD DOGS from Arlington Heights turned actors Monday when they appeared on Bozo's Circus, the Channel 9 television show. The dogs, pictured with owner Stuart G. Remus, 1431 Lynwood, are from Adonis Kennels, Arlington Heights. Remus operates the kennels and teaches dog obedience as an adult education course at Arlington High School. The larger St. Bernard is five years old and mother of the smaller, a five-week old puppy. (A

Lenten Cantata Is Planned for Sunday

The choir of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church will present John Stainer's cantata, "The Crucifixion," on this Sunday at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church, located at Dunton and St. James Streets.

The presentation will follow Stainer's intentions in writing the cantata, in that the congregation will participate in the singing of hymns appropriate to the events depicted by the choral and solo passages.

HOWEVER, the composer's original indications of solo voices will not be followed.

The choir is under the direction of George A. Travers of Mount Prospect and the organist is Mrs. Arthur Lindahl of Palatine. Soloists include Mrs. Merwyn Ries and Mrs. Edward Foran, soprano, John Sherman, tenor, and Adam Sergey and Gordon Anderson, bass. (A

Charity Card Game Draws 100 Players

Some 100 bridge players turned out for the Northwest Suburban YMCA duplicate game Friday night, donating $125 to the American Contract Bridge League's charity fund.

Winners in the competition were Brian Woertz, Crystal Lake, and Robert Doughty, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Les Funke, Northbrook; Mr. and Mrs. William Nightingale, Arlington Heights; James Adams and Walter Hohensee, Chicago; and a tie between Mr. and Mrs. Don Lee, Glenview; and Jack Martin, Arlington Heights, and Ed Ray, Palatine.

The ACBL charity this year is divided between the National Multiple Sclerosis Foundation and the Logopedics Society.

Next duplicate game is slated for Arlington Heights' Pioneer Park field house Friday night at 8 p.m.

School Election Is April 13

Dist. 25 Candidates Answer Questions Posed by Herald

Two vacancies on the Board of Education of Arlington Heights School District 25 will be filled Saturday, April 13, apparently by a housewife and a marketing manager.

Only candidates filed for the two posts are Mrs. Dennis (Marian) Malcolmson, 726 S. Highland Ave., and Joseph F. Faner, 615 Mayfair Road, current board president.

They are the products of the School Nominating Committee, a board-supported system of selecting candidates.

ANY CONTEST in the election will come from voters wishing to cast ballots for write-in candidates. The Herald is not aware of any write-in candidacies.

Following are eight questions asked of Mrs. Malcolmson and Faner by the Herald. Their answers are also published here.

QUESTIONS:

1. Why do you believe you are qualified to hold the office you are seeking?

2. What is the most significant problem facing the school district?

3. Specifically, how would you approach solving the problem set down in the second answer?

4. What are your views on the desirability of further construction of multiple unit dwellings (apartments) in the school district?

5. Will you insist upon public deliberation of issues considered by the school board except in instances where the law permits a closed meeting—acquisition or sale of property and employment or dismissal of employes?

6. Do you believe the national political parties—Democrats and Republicans—should exercise their influence at the school board level of government?

7. Do you approve of the transfer of surplus township funds to the school districts?

8. Do you advocate expenditure of tax monies for the printing of literature which may tend to endorse school board candidates or systems which select candidates, thus giving certain candidates advantages over their opponents?

MRS. MALCOLMSON'S ANSWERS ARE:

1. I believe I am qualified to serve on the school board because of a long-continuing interest and participation in educational and other community affairs.

2. The most significant problem is seeing that the curriculum keeps pace with both the needs of the students and of the nation.

3. I would approach the problem through hiring and retaining the best possible teachers and administrators, and through approving changes which would upgrade the curriculum.

4. This question cannot be answered "yes" or "no," as circumstances alter cases.

5. The law, as interpreted by competent legal authorities, should be upheld.

6. No. I believe school boards should be non-partisan.

7. Yes. What other way is there to provide for benefit of a maximum number of citizens?

8. If the taxpayers' monies were spent and if the literature were to endorse school board candidates, it would be wrong.

FANER'S ANSWERS ARE:

1. I believe my major qualification is the knowledge and experience I have gained as a board member during the last three years.

2. The most significant problem will be the continued explosive growth in this area. Financing the education for the increased enrollments without raising our local taxes or lowering the quality of our educational program will be extremely difficult.

3. The solution to the above problem is not clear-cut, for there are so many variables. It will require careful study of the growth areas with advance planning for the necessary schools. If necessary, I would heartily recommend increased tax rates rather than decreasing the quality of our program.

4. As a member of the school board, I am neither for or against additional multiple unit dwellings. I believe this is a subject that should be carefully studied by other public bodies, such as the plan commission and the village board.

5. All meetings of the Board of Education of District 25 are open to the public except for executive sessions to discuss the acquisition or sale of property and the employment or dismissal of employes. The reason for executive session with regard to property is obvious. They are used in connection with employment and dismissal of employes as a protection for the individual employes involved. No official action can be, or is, taken in such executive sessions.

6. I do not believe the national political parties—Democrats and Republicans—should exercise their influence at the school board level of government.

7. I approve of the transfer of surplus township funds to the school districts.

8. I do not advocate the expenditure of tax monies to endorse school board candidates. However, I heartily approve of the selection of candidates for the board of education by a Nominating Committee composed of representatives of community organizations. (A

Choir Plans Easter Program

The senior choir of St. Mark Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect, 200 S. Wille St., will sing the "Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois, at 7:30 p.m. Palm Sunday evening, April 7. The event is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Robert Breihan is organist and director of the senior choir. Soloists for this occasion are Mrs. Olga Blomquist, Mrs. Marlys Drews, Rev. David Quill, Robert Shipley, and Tom MacCleary. (A&M

Leaders' Camp-Out Planned

An intensive 27 hours of actual "learning by doing" is promised 40 local Boy Scout leaders this weekend at Camp Baden-Powell on River Road, north of Central Road.

Theme of the highly concentrated training session, called a "Boy Scout Leaders Overnight" and sponsored by the Blackhawk District of the Northwest Suburban Council, is "How to train a troop's junior leaders."

The course starts at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, and runs continuously until 9:30 p.m. Saturday, and is the sequel to a recent two-day indoor program held at St. Simon's Church in Arlington Heights.

MEN TAKING the course are Scoutmasters and other officials in charge of Boy Scout Troops in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights and Elk Grove Village.

They will form a provisional troop at the camp-out in order to simulate the problems and needs of their own units.

Heading the "faculty" for the course is the district's vice chairman for training, Stewart M. Grant, 701 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights. He will be assisted by these members of the district training committee: Edward Stein, Otis Johnson, Wayne Ehrhardt, Val Mamovicz, Joe Talaber, Ted Larson and Ralph Hauptly. District Scout executive William L. Griffin will also attend.

GRANT STATED the overnight course, while fast-paced, is designed to improve the caliber of leadership in the district's troops. The district's goal is a well-trained adult for every volunteer Scouting job, followed by well-trained junior (boy) leaders. The latter are due to get their special outdoor training in June.

Grant said those wanting further information on the weekend training program should contact him at CLearbrook 5-3828. (ACM-E

Children's Art Shown In Exhibit

A children's art show is now in progress at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights. The works being exhibited were created by 19 young artists, members of a Countryside Art Center class being taught by Mary Bornath.

The children consist of third-through-eighth graders in the Paddock area.

ACCORDING to Mrs. Fran Shillington, education chairman for the Countryside Art Center, a reception for the children will take place on the closing date of the art show, Saturday.

Parents and friends of the children are invited to the reception which will be held from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez. (A

Play Schools Have Openings

It was announced this week by Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation for the Arlington Heights Park District, that there are still openings in the park district playschools.

The classes are for children 3, 4, and 5 years old and meet on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

THE CHILDREN have a varied program both indoors and outdoors under qualified supervision.

The activity is held at both Recreation and Pioneer Parks. For additional information and to register, call CL 3-0620. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Briscoe, 433 S. Forrest, enjoyed having as houseguests last week her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Falk of Chicago. They came to act as baby-sitters for an evening and were persuaded to stay for several days.

Michael Thomas Morgan had his first birthday celebration Sunday at the home of his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Geist of Winnetka. His parents, the Robert Morgans, and sister, Lisa, were indispensable guests at the dinner party.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Smith, 517 S. Phelps, celebrated their March 29 wedding anniversary by having dinner at Poppe's Alpine House in Lake Zurich.

THEIR SON, Michael, was guest of honor Wednesday evening at a party to mark his 12th birthday, April 1. Present at the gala affair were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Wilson of Glen Ellyn and Mrs. Emily Smith of Arlington Heights, a great-aunt and uncle, the Clarence Feuerhakens of Chicago and Miss Ann Feuerhaken of Glen Ellyn.

Another couple celebrating a wedding anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schultz, 528 S. Waterman, who were married 15 years March 27. The preceding Friday the Schultzes and their friends and former neighbors, the Joe Sowinskis and Sam Piazzas of Lansing, Ill., enjoyed dinner and an evening of dancing at Willowbrook.

Mike Evanger, 436 S. Forrest, marked his entrance into the teen years at a family dinner Saturday hosted by his parents, the Jim Evangers. Guests included his sister, Laurie, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Palko of Lombard. As an added treat, Mike's Dad took him and a friend, Ray Hearle of Arlington Heights, bowling Sunday afternoon.

THE 17TH birthday of Janie Bruce, 441 S. Gibbons, was the cause celebre at a festive family dinner Tuesday of last week. On the following Friday evening Janie was entertained at a party given by her school friends, with a cake baked by the girls themselves.

Best wishes for a happy year and many more to follow go to Mrs. Carnahan, 512 S. Forrest, the mother of Mrs. Louis Leistikow, on the occasion of her March 26 birthday. Grandma Carnahan received her due honors at a family dinner that evening.

The March 27 birthday of Gary Cook, 525 S. Forrest, was marked quietly by his family, the Don Cooks, on the big day.

Teenage 'Star-Gazers' Expand Club

District 214 Program Told

by BILL HALLS

Star gazing is an old and fascinating occupation, even for those who have no scientific inclinations.

But for the student of astronomy there is a special significance; a singular enthusiasm that is difficult for most laymen to understand.

Such a group is the District 214 Astronomy Club. Formed eight years ago at Arlington High, the club recently expanded operations to include students from Prospect and Forest View, newest members of the high school district.

It is a generous time for expansion because the club's current project is restoration of a 10-inch telescope located in Prospect Heights.

"THE TELESCOPE is as large as some owned by universities," explained Morris Pumphrey, an Arlington High science teacher and club sponsor.

When completed — perhaps by the end of June — the instrument will include a camera mount, enabling club members to photograph planets, the moon and other satellites, and entire sections of sky. The plates are extremely valuable in the science of astronomy, providing a chance for leisurely study of complicated nebula, or other astronomical formations.

The telescope will be housed in an observatory owned by Richard E. Van Stockum, 13 East Palatine Road in Prospect Heights.

The observatory, originally built by a science professor who taught at Chicago's Lane Technical High, is located in the garage on the Van Stockum property.

ITS SILVER dome was spotted by a member of the astronomy club last summer. The club asked Van Stockum if they could use the garage. He agreed.

"He's been very cooperative," said Pumphrey. "Mr. Van Stockum is not acquainted with astronomy, but he has become somewhat interested since watching the boys clean out the old building."

The boys immediately set about to restore the telescope and observatory. The telescope tube and gears were intact — if rusty — and the tower was infested with hornets.

It took 10 sulphur bombs to unseat the insects. The dome was repainted, and the cobwebs swept away. The swivel track — complete with 360 degree turning radius — was revamped.

THIS WINTER, Scott Quackenbush, club president, and an Arlington High student, organized a fund-raising campaign to that a new mirror and lenses for the telescope might be purchased.

The mirror and lenses had been removed by the former owner, and had to be replaced.

The boys raised money by selling candy and popcorn at high school basketball games, including the Prospect Regional Tournament.

"We raised $50 for the mirror," explained Tom Balhatchet, another Arlington student and club vice-president. "It will cost about $100 to complete the project."

WHEN COMPLETED, the telescope will have a 10-foot focal length, and five eyepieces. The boys have also discussed attaching a television picture so that a larger group could observe viewing projects on monitor screens.

The attic, when renovated, will include bookshelves for technical manuals and other equipment. The boys also installed electrical connections for lights.

Pumphrey, who has been sponsor of the club since its inception, says the group usually meets once a month, but oftener when skies are clear.

"It takes a bit of outdoorsmanship," explains Pumphrey. "The best viewing nights are usually during winter when the temperature is below zero."

NEEDLESS TO SAY, this past winter was an astronomer's delight.

Another factor is that no heat can be used in the observatory chamber for fear of upsetting the delicate balance of the telescope.

Since three club members have constructed their own telescopes, the club has had plenty of opportunity for actual field work.

But the boys can hardly wait for completion of the "10-incher."

(Telescopes are measured by the size of the mirror, not the focal length of the instrument.)

The most difficult task in the entire operation is the delicate job of grinding and polishing the mirror. This has been assigned to Tom McGrath, an Arlington High student. It will take between 20 to 25 hours.

"THE MIRROR acts as a light collecting device," explained Pumphrey. "The image from outer space is collected on the slightly concave mirror surface and reflected through a series of lenses until it is magnified several times."

The use of different lenses provides a larger or smaller image, he said, and adjusts the sharpness of the projected image.

The club has a membership of between 20 to 35 students, whose interests in astronomy vary from keen to casual.

From time to time, girls have joined, but the membership has been predominantly male throughout the years.

Jan Sauer and Carol Lane, both from Arlington, are the only females on the current role.

Pumphrey said it has been difficult to arrange for faculty sponsors at both Prospect and Forest View. Many teachers feel they are not qualified, or do not have a strong enough background to help the students.

BUT THE members maintain a hard core of avid interest. One alumni, Bob Brown, an Arlington graduate and now a freshman at the University of Illinois, still attends club viewing and work sessions.

The club has also arranged to have a legal document prepared, which absolves Van Stockum of liability in case a club member is injured on his property.

Quackenbush said the club welcomes new members, or any adults who have knowledge of astronomy, or "happen to have a good telescope."

Enthusiasm is high, and the countless hours the youngsters have devoted to the club and related projects is a living testimony that America's youth is not all "going to the dogs in a new car" as some observers would have it.

PUMPHREY IS particularly proud of the present membership, mostly seniors, who do not stand to benefit from completion of the present telescope project.

"My hat is off to them," he said. "They'll complete this project and it will be next year's members who will benefit from the hours of hard work."

In Germany

Army PFC Robert A. Gehl, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Gehl, 420 Fairview, Mount Prospect, recently took part in a combat readiness exercise with other members of the 2d Howitzer Battalion of the 8th Infantry Division's 12th Artillery in Baumholder, Germany.

The exercise was designed to test and improve the combat effectiveness of U. S. forces stationed in Germany.

Gehl, a cannoneer in Battery A, entered the Army in November 1961, completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo., and arrived overseas last November.

He is a 1960 graduate of Arlington High School, Arlington Heights.

At Camp Fuji

Marine Private Robert H. Leofanti, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Lobes of 1612 N. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights, is serving with the Second Battalion, Third Marine Regiment of the Third Marine Division, currently undergoing seven weeks training at Camp Fuji, Japan.

The training program began with an amphibious landing which included live firing, small arms training and company and battalion level training problems.

Homebased at Okinawa, the Third Marine Division is the "force-in-readiness" ground element of the Seventh Fleet in the Far East. (WUS

NOTICE is hereby given that the Zoning Board of Appeals of the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, will hold a public hearing at the request of the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Palatine, Palatine, Illinois, to consider amending the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Palatine (0-46-57) by changing the definition entitled "Lot" in Section 2.02 to read as follows:

"Lot—A parcel of land (whether legally described and subdivided as one or more lots or parts of lots) located within a single block, under single ownership or control, occupied by or intended for occupancy by one principal building or one principal use, together with any accessory buildings and such open space as required by this ordinance, and having its principal frontage upon a street."

Said Ordinance is further amended by adding to Section 2.02 the following definition:

"Lot of Record—A lot of record is a lot which is part of a subdivision, the plat of which has been recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of Cook County; or a parcel of land, the deed to which was recorded in the office of said Recorder, prior to the adoption of this Zoning Ordinance."

This hearing will be held on Thursday, April 25, 1963, at 8:00 P.M. in the Board Room of the Village Hall, 54 South Brockway Street, Palatine, Illinois.

All persons desiring to be heard at that time on the question will be heard.

Notice of Error in Notice of Election

The notice of school board election for Township High School District Number 211 on April 13, 1963 published in Paddock Publications on March 28, 1963 erroneously shows Precinct No. 5.

As corrected, Precinct No. 5 should be broken into two parts and the parts numbered Precincts No. 5 and 6. Precincts 6, 7, 8 and 9 as published have been renumbered 7, 8, 9 and 10. The correct boundaries of Precincts No. 5 and 6 are as follows:

PRECINCT NO. 5

Shall consist of that part of the district in Schaumburg Township lying west of the center line of Roselle Road and south of the center line of Schaumburg Road, excluding, however, any part of the Village of Hanover Park.

POLLING PLACE:
Campanelli School
Springinsguth Road
Village of Schaumburg

PRECINCT NO. 6

Shall consist of that part of the district in Schaumburg Township within the Village of Hanover Park.

POLLING PLACE:
Model Home No. 500
6600 Valleyview Road
Hanover Park, Illinois

By order of the Board of Education of Township High School District No. 211, Cook County, Illinois.

Area Buildings Win Architectural Awards

EXTERIOR OF St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, designed by Stade, Dolan, Anderson, and Bonesz of Park Ridge, and winner of 1963 Honor Award for excellence in institutional architecture from the Chicago Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, and the Chicago Association of Consulting Engineers. (A-14

Several of the annual Honors Awards given for architectural achievements in the Chicago area went to the designers and builders of Northwest Suburban structures.

The Honor Award in the institutional category went to St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran Church, 11 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights.

In the commercial category Honor Awards were given to the Illinois Credit Union League headquarters at 1035 S. York Rd., Bensenville; United Air Lines headquarters on Algonquin Road; O'Hare Airport, and Oakbrook Terrace shopping center, Oak Brook.

THE YEARLY award event is sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, the Chicago chapter, American Institute of Architects, and the Chicago Association of Consulting Engineers.

The architects for St. Peter church were Stade, Dolan, Anderson & Bonesz, Park Ridge, and the builder was Kenneth P. Johnson Co., Skokie.

Edward D. Dart was the architect for the Credit Union headquarters. Mechanical and electrical engineering was done by Frank Riederer & Associates, structural engineering by Samartano & Robinson, and the building by Pepper Construction Co.

O'HARE Airport architects were C. F. Murphy Associates, while the builders were Malan Construction Corp., New York, and William E. Schweitzer Co., Evanston.

Members of the 1963 jury were: Jerrold Loebl, an architect, chairman; Daniel Brenner, architect; Lee Charles Mielke, architect; Leroy Nettin, representing the Chicago Association of Consulting Engineers, and Homer Hargrave Jr., of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, representing the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. (A14

THE PARK RIDGE firm responsible for St. Peter specializes in church and institutional architecture and was awarded a Citation of Merit in 1962 for its work on St. Paul Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect.

St. Peter Lutheran Church, founded in 1860, moved to its award-winning, new home—the third in the congregation's history—in 1961.

The new home includes not only a church in the shape of a cross seating 750 persons, but only a school of 15 classrooms, gymnasium, and cafeteria, plus administration offices for both church and school—all these on a 15-acre plot which also includes parking space for 625 cars, playground, ball diamonds, and picnic area.

Says Rev. Robert O. Bartz, pastor of St. Peter: "We're very happy with the plant. We have here the tools with which to carry out an adequate Christian parish program in every phase.

"CONDUSIVE to better worship and more thorough education, St. Peter now can serve the total Christian need of the individual — spiritually, mentally, socially, and physically."

Rev. Bartz says the new, $1,238,000 church-school plant has been responsible for a "staggering growth of the parish numerically."

The St. Peter building program dates back to 1958 when the parish was faced with a choice: rebuild at the old site (315 N. Highland), divide the congregation with part remaining at the old church and part going elsewhere in Arlington Heights, or move "lock, stock, and barrel."

"The decision for a new building," explains Rev. Bartz, "was forced by the tragic Our Lady of Angels school fire in Chicago. Fire inspectors came to our old church and school and found 47 violations. Virtually the only things savable were the pillars. This was our impetus. We would build anew."

STADE, DOLAN, Anderson, and Bonesz was engaged, and the search "for what we wanted" was underway. "We wanted a family type of worship," notes Rev. Bartz. "No long nave for us with its theatrical atmosphere setting apart the congregation from the altar service. And yet we needed a large church."

Architects and the building committee of the church, headed by Carl Klehm, met two to four times a week to plan.

They worked with ovals, squares, rectangles, triangles, and finally came up with a cross-shaped building which provided main floor seating for 750 persons and yet has no worshipper more than 50 feet from the chancel.

A small balcony holds 90 seats, although this total will be reduced in July when a new church organ is installed.

TELEVISION cameras were installed to bring services—via closed-circuit television — to overflow worshippers in basement meeting rooms.

The church structure is of copper, stone, and wood, with a simplicity that enhances reverence. Triangular walls to the side of the altar consist of glass in blue, white, gray, and red panels. The altar window of richly-colored chipped glass pictures Jesus, the Shepherd, in a semi - abstract, rough - hewn form.

The altar is of copper, with an imposing copper cross standing separate and to the left of a graceful copper table. The pulpit resembles the bow of a ship and its sail, symbolizing the life of St. Peter.

Church building committee chairman Klehm, of Algonquin and Arlington Heights Roads, speaks as a layman in expressing his view of the award-winning church:

"IT IS NOT only a very beautiful church but a very functional one. It gives each of us in the congregation a feeling of closeness. The design puts us all near the altar and thus makes us feel like one large family."

The 1963 Honor Award certificate states: "The plan, exterior development, and detail are all excellent, providing an ideal background for worship."

Accepting the award at today's luncheon will be Charles Edward Stade, founder of the firm. Stade, of Park Ridge, says:

"We are accepting the award with a sense of pride but also with an accompanying sense of humility. We are rewarded in being able to use our talents to express devotion, in helping to create a home for religion.

"The church building is more sensitive than any other as its prime purpose is to express a relationship to God. Any false note in a church building or any insincerity of expression is immediately apparent. We strive for sincerity above all." (A14

Q. How does one properly eat a hard-boiled egg at the table —an egg that is still in its shell?

A. Tap it gently with the blade of your knife, strip off the shell, and eat the egg with your fingers.

Q. When passing salt and pepper shakers at the table, does one hand them directly to the person who asked for them, or does one put them down on the table within reach of the other person?

A. Handing them direct to the other person can sometimes prove awkward. It is better to place them on the table as close as you can to the other person.

Suburbs Prepare to Cast Municipal Ballots

Campaigns Ranging From Hot to Quiet

by BOB SETLIK

The establishment is being challenged in a few northwest suburban villages during the current municipal election campaigns.

But, in just as many, the people seem happy with what they have — if the election campaigns ae indicative.

Real "throw the bums out" campaigns are being conducted in such villages as Mount Prospect, Palatine, and Hoffman Estates.

By contrast, there is no opposition to the Caucus Party slate in Arlington Heights, little opposition to the dominant Civic Interest Party in Rolling Meadows, and a lackluster campaign in Elk Grove Village.

IN MOUNT Prospect, a bundle of charges, centering on a "restore integrity to public office" plea, has been leveled at Mount Prospect Village President C. O. Schlaver and his slate.

Schlaver himself has two more years to serve.

He has announced support of the United Economy Party, consisting of two incumbent trustees, Parker Ekren and Harry Bruhl, and a third man, Frank Berger.

Opposing this group is the Better Government Party, consisting of Robert T. Jackson, John W. Eder Jr., and Robert D. Teichert.

THE "JETS," as they have been tagged, began to fume when it appeared after the last election that salaried positions were being filled on a "political" basis. Later, it was learned that legislation for the improvement of Weller Creek had been pushed through Springfield without the public and some board members being notified. Finally, the village board approved the annexation of a large tract of land owned by controversial builder Salvatore DiMucci, drawing criticism from all sides and solidifying the opposition.

In their speeches, the "Jets" have rapped what they regard as "political" appointments, secret meetings, reckless annexations, and "half-truths" of the present administration.

Schlaver, in endorsing the United Economy Party, called Ekren and Bruhl "hard-working and diligent leaders for a forward-looking and economy-conscious administration."

Police Magistrate Ralph Gould, also a UEP supporter, believes "few residents have complaints as is evidenced by the small audiences at village board meetings and conversations I have had with local residents.

"If there is complacency in this election it is because Mount Prospect has good government," said Gould, at the launching of the UEP campaign.

THE ISSUE IN Palatine centers around whether one party should control village government.

The present village board consists of three trustees and a president who are members of the United Citizens Party. All have two more years left in their terms. United Citizens has put up a slate of three more candidates for the remaining trustee positions.

Opposing what they term a "brazenly arrogant move . . .for a complete 6 to 0 majority" is the Civic Betterment Party.

Campaign Manager for the Civic Betterment Party is Francis E. Kelly, Palatine Township Justice of the Peace, who has been involved in a running battle with the village board, centering on his failure to report certain traffic violations to the secretary of state.

Again, in Hoffman Estates, it's a case of the ins versus the outs.

THE "OUTS," the Independent Action Party, have pledged to "establish a real and workable two-party government which will give Hoffman Estates residents a positive system of checks and balances."

One of the interesting points on the IAP platform is a proposal to schedule quarterly "town meetings" at which "citizens can question, discuss with, and present opinions to their village board on all current issues and problems."

Another issue is the lack of industrial development in the village, about which the IAP is charging the village board with dragging its feet.

The Good Government slate, endorsed by Village President Edward Pinger and three present trustees, is standing on its past record of what it calls "continued economical and responsive government."

What's happened in Arlington Heights represents to many the weaknesses of the Caucus Party system.

Running unopposed are caucus method candidates for the village board and school board.

Two years ago two parties opposed the caucus slate, but were unsuccessful when they split the vote.

NOW, SOME believe the caucus has acquired the image of being unbeatable, resulting in a lack of competition for village and school posts.

In Rolling Meadows, there will be contests in only two of the city's 10 wards.

The Civic Interest Party, headed by Mayor John J. Woods, running for his second term, filed a full slate of candidates.

One of the independents, William J. Miseska, charges that a "coalition-type of government" is developing in Rolling Meadows.

"I find it difficult to accept the fact that any election can be democratic when there is no opposition," Miseska stated.

"Don't let the coalition create an atmosphere of apathy that will destroy your voice and mine in our city government," he added.

THE DOMINANT Civic Interest Party was formed from a merger of the People's Economy Party and the Meadows Advancement Party.

Woods calls the merger a step toward the formation of a caucus system.

He believes the advantages of a caucus system are that it eliminates the high cost of campaigning, discourages national political parties from entering local contests, stimulates interest throughout the community, and eliminates the difficulty of finding candidates.

IN ELK GROVE Village, seven independents are running for three vacancies on the village board. No incumbents are running.

Little interest has been generated in the campaign. No outstanding issues have been raised.

The lack of issues may lie partly in the village board's taking steps to eliminate some sore spots, such as the recent purchase of the Elk Grove Water and Sewer Co., the hiring of a new police chief, and authorizing revision of the village zoning ordinance.

Centex Construction Co. has announced that it will begin construction on a new shopping center this spring, taking the wind out of reoccurring complaints that the village's lone shopping center doesn't adequately supply the needs of 12,000 residents.

One trustee, serving his last two weeks on the board, has charged that the candidates "really don't know what's going on." (B8

To Fight Dropouts

PEKIN, (UPI) — Gov. Otto Ker- Chamber of Commerce dinner, ner Tuesday outlined a statewide program to combat the increasing school dropout problem in Illinois.

Kerner, in remarks prepared for delivery for the Pekin Chmaber of Commerce dinner, said the program will operate in three stages.

The governor said the steps include:

—Convincing those who have a reading ability of less than sixth grade that most jobs are available only to those who can read.

—Gathering a staff of college students willing to teach reading classes.

—Place as many of the reading class graduates as possible in jobs provided through cooperating businesses and industries.

Kerner said "to implement this program we have divided the state into five major areas, with Chicago, Decatur-Champaign, Peoria, Rockford and East St. Louis each named as a central city of its respective area."

Each area will have a chairman and these five will form a statewide coordinating board, Kerner said, and this board will map out a general program with each region able to tailor the program to its particular needs.

"This then is the skeleton of a program that is urgently needed, said Kerner. "And the reason it is needed is the fact that one-third of all Illinois youngsters who enter first grade are not present on high school graduation day."

Kerner said in Illinois during 1960 there were about 128,000 youngsters 14 to 17 years of age at work or seeking work, by 1970 that number will be 188,000.

"The task before us basically is one of keeping youngsters in school until graduation and preparing them for the work world," he said. (A-14

Diabetes Forum Tonight

Two educational discussions of special interest to parents of diabetic children and adult diabetics are slated tonight, April 4, at Lutheran General Hospital.

The program is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the hospital, 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge.

Title of the first discussion is "Trends in Diabetes Research." Presenting the report in this field will be Dr. Matthew W. Steiner, Associate professor of pediatrics at Northwestern University Medical School, attending endocrinologist at Children's Memorial Hospital, and board member and co-chairman of service groups of the Diabetes Association of Greater Chicago.

The second discussion will center on "How I Can Psychologically Help My Child." The talk will be given by Dr. Bernard I. Lifson, consultant to Illinois Childrens' Home and Aid Society, suburban high schools consultant and chief-consultant to the William Healy Residential Treatment Center.

The educational discussions are held throughout the year by the Diabetes Association of Greater Chicago. According to the association the programs are geared to family and community understanding of diabetes.

The Diabetes Association is stressing that one in every 60 persons is affected by diabetes.

The public is invited to attend the program. A question and answer period will follow the presentations.

Active in planning the meeting are four area women: Mrs. F. Vernon Schlexer, 1518 N. Walnut, and Mrs. John Gordon Berlin, 503 E. Grove, both of Arlington Heights; Mrs. Louis Meyers, 534 Germaine Lane, and Mrs. James Payne, 520 Brynhaven, program planners, Elk Grove. (B-8

Test-drive the only car that's changed as much as Chicago

Look around and you'll see how much Chicago has changed! Take a test drive and you'll know how much Ford has changed! It has actually changed as much as Chicago.

New skyscrapers . . . new shopping centers . . . new suburban growth . . . new expressways . . . a dynamic new spirit are bringing big changes to Chicago. Dramatic changes have been made in Ford, too.

See what a change our Super Torque Ford's 10 million dollar ride makes on the roads you're used to traveling!

The wheels of ordinary cars move only up and down as they hit bumps. But ride improvements, including a new suspension system (development cost: $10,000,000), allow Ford wheels to move backwards, too. Result: Ford smothers road shock far more effectively. Do you drive over rough roads? You'll find Ford does less bouncing and dipping. Do you drive on expressways? You'll find Ford hugs the road better—even at high speeds or in strong winds—giving you a remarkably stable, comfortable ride.

A special quality program at our Chicago assembly plant has made today's Fords the most solid and durable ever built.

Typical of the new durability of our Fords is the way they are protected against rust. Vital steel underbody areas on today's Fords are galvanized—making them twice as resistant to corrosive salts and road splash as ordinary steel. No competing cars—regardless of price—use more galvanized steel than Fords. Ford underbody areas are also protected with a coating of zinc-rich primer. And the entire body—inside and out—is coated with zinc phosphate—further protection against rust!

See the change in driving comfort and convenience that's resulted from new Ford features like our Twice-a-Year (or every 6,000-mile) Maintenance schedule and Swing-Away steering wheel.

Entering a Ford is easier—with our exclusive Swing-Away steering wheel.* Taking care of a Ford is easier—thanks to such features as 6,000-mile oil changes and self-adjusting brakes. Exclusive vinyl upholstery is specially treated to resist soiling. Opening and shutting doors or windows is easier—with Ford's new "bear-hug" door latches and crank-vent windows. From its quiet, smoothly running engine . . . to its fully lined, illuminated trunk, the '63 Ford is built to make your driving easier—and more fun.

You can see and feel Ford's new quality for yourself.

Sit in a '63 Ford and press your hand up on the ceiling. You'll feel thick insulation—one third more insulation than on America's other best-selling car. Ford also gives you more floor insulation . . . a stronger suspension . . . more body mounts . . . more steel in the frame . . . more durable carpeting . . . extra value in dozens of vital areas. You'll find that these 1963 Fords are the best built, smoothest riding in our history. *Optional

KICKIN' IT AROUND

BY BOB FRISK

GAY HUGHES DIDN'T NEED to be prodded into a discussion of one of his former athletes.

"Gary Erwin. There's one boy I certainly don't mind talking about. What a fine competitor. He never had to be driven in practice. He has that great desire and that's what makes a champion."

The former Arlington High School gymnastics coach who now directs the Forest View squad was naturally pleased Sunday when he learned that Erwin, a two-time state champ at Arlington, had topped the rugged trampoline field in the National Collegiate Athletic Association finals in Pittsburgh.

"The NCAA title is a fitting reward for that boy," Hughes related. "You never had to push him in practice. He never had to be encouraged to work hard. He was dedicated to the sport and now he's a national champion."

Only a sophomore at the University of Michigan, Erwin copped the NCAA crown in the weekend competition in Pittsburgh. He posted a 9.575 total in topping teammate Fred Sanders.

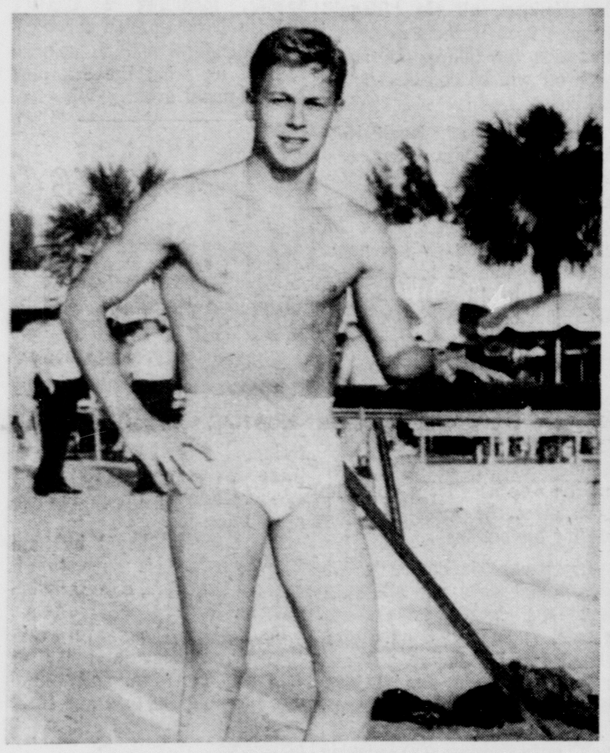
Sanders, an Evanston High product who has blossomed into a standout on the tramp at Michigan, edged Gary in the Big Ten championships.

The Wolverines added the NCAA team title to their Big Ten crown.

Erwin has a remarkable record of accomplishments on the trampoline. He ruled the state for two straight years at Arlington, has two Midwest Open grouns, and a first place in the Pan American Games trials held in Sarasota, Fla. As an Arlington High senior after his prep competition, he tied for third in the National AAU senior men's championship.

Gary gave demonstrations on the trampoline at the Youth Exhibit of the Berlin Industrial Fair between his junior and senior years at Arlington.

How did Gary become interested in gymnastics? "He started tumbling in Jr. High," a proud mother related this week,



NCAA CHAMPION GARY ERWIN

"and became interested enough to take up the sport in high school."

Erwin spent his first two years at Prospect High after the district split, but he broke his leg in a freak tumbling accident as a freshman and was sidelined for the entire season.

Rick Farris, head man at Prospect now after working as soph coach under Hughes, is credited with giving Erwin his first real training on the tramp.

"We normally let the boys go as they will as freshmen," Hughes related. "We make suggestions here and there but watch them for a year. Then we have a pretty good idea of where they'll specialize and more concentrated workouts begin.

"Gary picked out tumbling and tramp himself, and he had exceptional natural ability. Actually after the accident we didn't use him in tumbling until his senior year and then only on rare occasions. The tramp was his specialty, and he worked hard at it."

Farris and Hughes played important roles in shaping Erwin's gymnastics career, and Mike Karon, as an assistant coach at Arlington, spent many hours with the talented performer, but a former Evanston coach also had a hand in his career.

Ed Cole, who coached the trampoline at Evanston, is a family friend of the Erwin's, and he helped encourage the boy. "Ed now works with the Nissen Trampoline Co. in Ann Arbor," Mrs. Erwin commented, "and he still spends some time at the University with Gary."

"When a boy becomes as good as Gary," Hughes explained, "it's very seldom he's ever coached by one man. He picks up a lot of pointers from several different coaches."

Gary's parents also have encouraged their boy in his gymnastics career. His practice at the event hasn't been confined to the sessions in school. He has his own trampoline at home and it isn't an uncommon sight to see him working out at night with a special lighting system he devised for the backyard.

What makes a good trampolinist? "Coordination, balance, timing . . . a number of things," Hughes said. "I used to think that a boy's build was important, but that hasn't been the case in watching the sport in recent years.

"The hardest thing for a trampolinist to learn is riding the bed and taking every inch of height available. Gary worked high beautifully on his routines in high school."

Erwin has mastered the difficult triple back somersault in college. "He used it in the preliminaries of the NCAA," Mrs. Erwin remarked, "but he had an easier routine for the finals. It's an exceptionally dangerous somersault."

Two other Arlington High products placed in the NCAA championships. Bill Sayre, a soph at Iowa, tied for fifth in tumbling with an 8.675 score, and Tom Geocaris of Southern Illinois tied for fifth on the still rings.

But it was Erwin's sparkling performance that earned the headlines.

Gary ranks as the 16th NCAA trampoline champion in history.

Back in 1948 a University of Illinois performer became the first national titlist on the tramp.

His name?

Gay Hughes.

Lions Open at Prospect High

Frosh To Hurl For Viator

Joe Sanchez, a freshman right hander, will open on the mound Saturday afternoon as St. Viator's varsity baseball Lions tackle Prospect in the season opener.

Coach Frank Mariani indicated Monday that he plans to use both Sanchez and sophomore Jim Vidt, a southpaw, in the non-league encounter at Prospect.

Mariani is working with 18 boys as the varsity squad prepares for an ambitious schedule that includes 24 games and one stretch of eight contests in nine days.

"We started out with 140 boys on all levels," Mariani said, "but have settled on 18 with the varsity and 20 with the frosh-sophs."

THE ST. VIATOR mentor plans to open with a batting order of Don Kundson in center field, Ron Bakalar at shortstop, Chuck Heinrich at second, Jeff Haiduke in right field, Tom Osterman at third base, Jay Chaiser behind the plate, Mike Graczyk at first base, Tom Nitch in left field, and Sanchez on the mound.

Of special interest in St. Viator's opener will be the initial varsity effort of Sanchez, one of the most highly touted frosh athletes in the area. Joe has a handsome set of pre-high school achievements, and he has all the tools needed to become an outstanding pitcher, according to Mariani.

Mariani has been satisfied with the progress of his squad in drills with a glowing report on soph Bakalar, the slick-fielding shortstop. "Ron is a fine glove man and he'll hold his own with the bat too," Frank asserted. "He's been very impressive in workouts."

ST. VIATOR'S pitching staff currently lines up with Sanchez, Vidt, Haiduke, and Bill Ewald. Backing the tentative starting nine are such performers as catcher Tim Walinski, second baseman Rick Ulbricht, and outfielder Ron Rose.

Rose topped the club in hitting last season with a .367 standard and may spell Haiduke in the outfield. Mariani doesn't want to use his pitchers at other positions if at all possible, but he realizes that the situation may dictate on occasion.

St. Viator will play its home games on the field south of the school. Weekday contests will begin at 4 p.m. with Saturday doubleheaders at 12:30 p.m. Single games on Saturday will open at 1 p.m.

The Lions will host Ridgewood next Tuesday, April 9, and St. Francis on Wednesday, April 10.

Knights To Field Vet Squad

Prospect High—weather permitting—is expected to open the 1963 prep baseball season this afternoon at Palatine High.

Jim Hogarty or Hank LaRocco will start on the mound for the Knights, coached by Chuck Aldrich.

With foul weather hampering early drills, Aldrich hasn't had much time to look over his squad, which includes eight lettermen and a pair of good looking transfer students.

Saturday, the Knights host St. Viator High of Arlington Heights. The game will start about 1 p.m. at Prospect.

NEXT WEEK, Prospect begins a two-game road trip, starting with New Trier at 4 p.m., Monday, and including Niles West on Wednesday, April 10.

The Niles clash is the first Interim League encounter for the Knights. Hogarty or LaRocco should also get the starting job in that one.

Aldrich figures to start Bob Geller at first base, and Rich Beck at either second or third. The shortstop will be Ed Massoff, a transfer letterman from Niles East.

Chuck Halverson or Mike Phillips may get the other infield spot.

RICK SEVERNS, another transfer from Louisiana, will handle the pitchers. Rick Lytle is the second string catcher.

Ron Aukamp and the fine hitting Dave Leekley have two outfield posts sewn up. The other is still undecided. Al Koehler, a promising candidate, is recovering from a knee injury and may not see much action until later in the

PORTRAIT OF "BUS"

A SURPRISE PACKAGE

Elliott E. (Bus) Ormsbee and his wife Jeanne were the honored guests at a surprise dinner-dance Saturday evening at Campbell's Hearthstone on Northwest Highway in Palatine. Coaches and school officials from the three District 214 schools paid tribute to "Bus" who resigned after the 1962 football season after 14 campaigns, 12 as head man of the Arlington High Cardinals. Ed Fischer of the Arlington art department painted a portrait which "Bus" is displaying in top picture, and the Ormsbees are also shown opening a special present, a beautiful cocktail set.

Quad Saturday Opens Arlington Net Slate; Five Lettermen Back

Ken Schaller has five lettermen back at Arlington High School from the West Suburban Conference tennis champions, but he still labels his Cardinal varsity as a "question-mark" this spring.

"We're a young team and we lost some fine tennis players by graduation," the veteran Arlington coach explained. "They'll be hard to replace."

However, Schaller, who has built Arlington High into a formidable prep tennis power, is still confident that his outfit will be heard from before the season terminates in late May.

"It's still too early to tell what to expect this year," he added. "The boys all are crowded close together right now, and I haven't decided on definite singles and doubles alignments."

ARLINGTON WILL open its 1963 schedule on Saturday morning when it hosts LaGrange, West Aurora, and Wheaton in a varsity quadrangular. Competition is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m.

The Cards will host powerful New Trier next Tuesday, and Schaller labels the Suburban League Indians as "one of the strongest teams in the state

Paddock's To Feature Honor Roll

Paddock Publications again will present a weekly honor roll of the top high school track and field marks in Illinois.

All coaches are encouraged to cooperate and direct their top efforts to the sports department at Paddock's.

Coaches sending their marks to the newspaper should direct the information to:

Bob Frisk
Paddock Publications, Inc.
217 West Campbell
Arlington Heights, Ill.

Coaches phoning in their top performances may contact either Bob Frisk, Tom Tully, or Bill Halls during the business day at CLearbrook 3-1520.

Paddock's will conclude the 1963 track season with announcement of its Eighth Annual All-State team.

Forest View, Cards Home

'Green' Falcons Untested

Forest View baseball coach Hal Sprehe still has nearly a week to prepare his 16-man squad for the April 10th opener with Maine West, defending Interim League champion. He'll need it.

"We don't have any boys with varsity experience," said Sprehe Monday. "But several played sophomore ball at either Prospect or Arlington."

The opener will be played —weather permitting— at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights. Forest View has no baseball field of its own.

PIONEER PARK could use the extra week allotted to Sprehe (most prep teams open play this week) to get into shape itself. Spring rains have left the infield a quagmire.

Sprehe's team took its first full turn out of doors on Monday. Before that, the Falcons had been working out on the asphalt parking lot adjacent to the high school.

The ball club is composed of juniors, with the exception of Tom Lundgren, a sophomore.

Lundgren, a promising pitcher, may hold the key to a successful season.

HIGH SCHOOL baseball is largely a pitcher's game simply because good hurlers develop faster than good batsmen.

Lundgren or Tom Wilkes should get the starting nod against Maine West which has a veteran team returning, including Chip Allen, a fine pitcher.

Although nothing is definite, Forest View's infield tentatively will be built around Ken Peters, a rugged second baseman, and Joe Mueller, a powerful shortstop.

Jim Humphrey has the inside track at third base. Mike Griesman, also a pitching candidate, may get a crack at first.

RALPH KASPARI heads the list of outfield candidates. Tom Meyers and George Peknik (another pitcher) also show promise.

Mike Herigodt is the leading receiver.

Other Falcon hopefuls include pitcher-outfielder Dick Anderson, Ken Gormsen, Ron Nastav, Joe Veltri, John Vylasek and Craig Wagner.

Arlington Battles Niles

Bob Baker is reserving judgment on the varsity baseball Cardinals at Arlington High School.

The veteran coach isn't unduly pessimistic over his club's chances in the forthcoming diamond campaign, but he admits there are several "ifs" right now.

Cautious optimism may be a more exact description of Baker's feelings as he awaits today's (Thursday) opener with Niles East.

The non-league contest, slated for the field west of the high school, will get under way at 4 p.m.

"WE HAVE some experience back (seven lettermen) and have more depth than usual," Baker related, "but we don't have that established pitcher. Right now any of the five top pitchers could end up with that one or two slot."

Three left handers and two right handers currently rank as the top five hurlers at Arlington, and Baker expects to use each of the moundsmen in today's game with Niles East.

"I'll probably use Roland Oberg and Gary Spencer for two innings each," Bob explained, "and then follow with Paul Splittorff, Steve Martin, and Dave Christensen." Oberg, Spencer, and Splittorff are the southpaws.

Lindstrom, Layden, Ward, Staahl, and Wertheimer are lettermen; Keeley is a promising transfer from Prospect; LeMar is a transfer from Maine West; and Frase is the soph standout who sparkled in American Legion ranks last summer.

Other monogram winners back at Arlington are second baseman Denny Fitz-Patrick and pitcher Oberg.

Other candidates are first baseman Dick Rosholt, shortstop Bob Arnold, third baseman Lou Provost, catcher Jim Ewart, and outfielders Ted Melzer and Joel Bernstein.

WHAT ARE the question-mark positions? Right now Baker looks at the mound, sec-

Nomellini Heads Lions

St. Viator Sophs Launch Season at Prospect Diamond

Freshman candidates will handle several key positions Saturday as St. Viator's frosh-soph baseball team journeys to Prospect High in Mount Prospect for the season opener.

Coach Larry Nomellini is working with 20 candidates right now and plans to utilize "at most, only four sophomores in the lineup."

"Most of our sophomores are playing with the varsity," Nomellini explained, "so I'll be working with the freshmen. We may get occasional help from some of the sophs who are with Frank (Mariani) on the varsity."

NOMELLINI HAS been able to send his candidates through their paces outdoors and has decided on a tentative alignment for Saturday's opener with the Knights.

"However, this lineup is strictly tentative," Nomellini added, "and is subject to change."

Bill Keveny will probably open at first with Johnny Loughman at shortstop, Tom Collins at third base, and Jim Mikes behind the plate. Second base remains a question-mark with Bill Leonard or Bernie Lomanaco in line for the slot.

Dennis Wilkinson, Tom Cole, and Mike Valentine should get the first call in the outfield.

BILL EWALD, a right hander, is slated to open on the mound for the Lions in the lid-lifter.

Ewald, Cole, and Lomanaco are sophomores in that group.

Expected to join Ewald on the mound this spring are southpaw Mike Sheetz, another soph, Collins, Loughman, Mike Hogan, and Joey Sanchez. Sanchez is a highly touted freshman who currently is working with the St. Viator varsity.

Other frosh-soph candidates are outfielder Andy Orgler, pitcher Connell Carlson, first baseman Jack Jae, catcher Bill Karlovitz, shortstops Mike Rowbottom and Dick Profita, first baseman Mike Obodozinski, and third baseman Bob Rogowski.

Boosters Set Next Meeting

The annual meeting of the Arlington High Booster Club will be held on Monday evening, April 8, in the school library. Officers will be elected for the 1963-64 school year.

Last Hoop Shot

WE'LL TAKE ONE FINAL SHOT at the basketball season and yield to the fresh air and sunshine.

Five years from now you'll have a hard time finding someone who can remember the names of the eight finalists in the recent get together at Assembly Hall in Champaign. Moreover, you'll have a hard time finding anyone who will care who they were. If you feel your leg being pulled, try it right now.

This is a predictable, because after the third week of March the life of a basketball team is restricted to the trophy case if they were a good one, or the school yearbook if they were mediocre.

The same is not true of the handful of individuals who catch the fancy of the fans. The fairly knowledgeable fan can rattle off past state tournament stars a lot easier than he can recall losing presidential candidates.

The reason is twofold. Either they went on to become college stars just as you knew they would, or they were busts in college. Again, just as you knew they would.

Usually there is one ballplayer, occasionally two, who takes your breath away. Half the enjoyment of watching him, is conjuring him into the college phenom you know he will be. The question on everyone's lips is "Where will he go?"

There wasn't a superstar down there this year. Good college prospects, several. Sure-fire, can't miss, best-evers, Nary a one. Any of those kind in the Assembly Hall were in street clothes. Ask ten people to name the outstanding boy in the meet, you got three or four answers.

The leading scorer was a relatively unknown center from Peoria Central by the name of Craig Alexander. He looked just like his name sounds. Alex is 6-5. He's about as heavy as a ten penny nail, but doesn't look near as durable. He wanders about with a shuffle that reminds you of a lazy farm boy on a warm spring day. His big plus is that he gets remarkable results when he shoots the ball. And he can shoot from practically anywhere. The kid has 40 college offers, but he is awfully frail.

One boy who would draw a lot of votes if a most valuable were chosen is Cal Pettit. Lanphier fans consider Calvin's presence as an act of God. He transferred in at the beginning of the season and it didn't take the most astute fan to see that the Lions would have been no closer to the action than the third tier without him.

In Lanphier's three games at Champaign, Pettit outplayed Keith Stelter of Auburn, Cliff Berger of Centralia, and Alexander. You are impressed more with his rebounding and blocking of shots than his scoring, and his scoring was not exactly meager. He averaged 23 per game.

Listed at 6-4, he was taller than Alexander, and just a shade smaller than the 6-7 Berger. Just a junior, he assured himself an All-State berth next year if he's eligible. There is some question about his age. If you had to recruit a big man in the tournament, Pettit would be your choice.

You can't talk about age problems without mentioning Jasper Robinson. Eighteen or 22, the guy is a pretty fine basketball player. He does just about everything you expect an All-Stater to do. The thing that impressed me most about the boy was the presence of mind he exhibited by calling timeout with the ball still in the nets after Pettit put Lanphier two points ahead with two seconds remaining. The only question you have to ask yourself about Robinson, is in regard to his durability. Like Alexander, he's all meat and no potatoes.

Ron Johnson made the All-Tournament team, Don Duncan didn't. But, I'm not convinced he was the better guard. Johnson was the most devastating outside shooter in the tourney and a fine all around player to boot. An example of his reactions showed up in the Metropolis statistics. He grabbed 14 rebounds, most of them of the trash variety. In short, he's where the ball is.

And yet, my vote as the best small man down there goes to Duncan. He couldn't shoot with Johnson, but he was a better driver and a ballhandler deluxe. I'll be very surprised if he doesn't make some college one sweet backliner.

If you like to play the winter book, Ken Maxey of Carver looks like a pretty good future. He looked like a mascot, but after watching Carver it would have been easier to believe that he was one senior playing with four sophs instead of the other way around. That's how much he took charge. You don't find many 5-7 sophomores who score their team's four baskets in a championship game. Like Pettit, Maxey rounded up some All-State votes for 1963-64.

The biggest name on Thursday night belonged to Herb Williams of Centralia. Consequently, fans were astounded to see that he apparently plays a very small role in the Orphans offense. He was named to the All-Tourney team, but offensively he was a disappointment.

But Saturday night, when the chips had been stacked, counted and distributed, they were talking about a kid nobody ever heard of. And, with a name like Anthony Smedley, he'll be a long time forgetting.

At Pro Bowl

Olson Records 1st 700

Warren Olson, a resident of Arlington Heights who bowls for Stan's Standard Service in the Paddock Classic Traveling league, received a trophy last week from the Rick Casares Pro Bowl for recording the first 700 series in the Buffalo Grove establishment.

Olson fired games of 227-245-253 for a 725 effort in the Pro-Bowl Classic on March 21.

Olson has three sanctioned 279 games to his credit and also a big 767 series. His best season average was 196 during the 1960 campaign.

He captured the Schamberger Classic in 1955 and placed twenty-eighth in the 1958 Petersen Classic in Chicago. He is competing in his third season as a member of the Paddock Classic Traveling league.

Prospect Golfers Tee-Off

Preparing for the April 10 season opener against Niles West at Arlington Country Club, Prospect got in its first outdoor golf workout Monday on the Old Orchard links.

After surveying the 42 candidates, Coach Warren Collier demurred on predictions, preferring to let his putts drop in the cup before counting the score.

"WARREN Luebcke, a junior, looks like our most consistent boy," mused Collier.

Luebcke was a member of last year's frosh-soph squad which posted a 5-2 season record. The varsity, which was 2-5 last year, should be improved with the addition of several other juniors up from the soph team.

Bob Robertshaw, Norm Milner, John Fredericks, Steve Quill, Mike Seleski all show promise.

COLLIER, WHO is taking over the head coaching reigns from Bill McKillip, has only two seniors back, Bob O'Day and Ed Quirsfeld.

The best sophomore golfer appears to be Dave Huntley. Rick Lynch and Bill Becker, two more sophs, also looked impressive.

Collier plans to cut the group down to "twenty or twenty-five" boys before the opener.

Steingraber Pleased with Net Turnout

Rog Steingraber, Forest View tennis coach, was encouraged by a strong turnout for the Falcons' first net squad, but found only two boys who have experience in the 48-boy group.

"We have a lot of boys who were on the wrestling and football teams," pointed out Steingraber. "It's unusual. You normally find the gymnasts out for tennis."

But Steingraber isn't turning them away. After the first outdoor workout Monday, he felt the boys showed a lot of enthusiasm and raw talent.

Best two prospects are Guy Jensen and Steve Kretschmer, both of whom played as sophs last year at Prospect.

The Falcons open Friday at Glenbrook North so it shouldn't take long to gain experience—the hard way.

Steingraber and Norm McGregor, the frosh-soph coach, will have a few days to reconsider before the second match at Niles West on April 9.

As Knights Prepare for Falcons

Vaulter's Frank Unnerving

by BILL HALLS

When pole vaulter John Zasadny walked into track practice at Prospect High Monday, he was on crutches, sporting a cast.

"Sorry coach," the lean junior told Dick Calisch, varsity track mentor. "I broke it on the parallel bar this weekend."

Calisch, normally an even-tempered man, who also teaches English, was at a loss for words. But not for long.

"I almost went through the roof," recalled Calisch. "Then I realized it was April Fool's Day."

ZASADNY, indeed was playing a joke. But the shock was almost too much for Coach Calisch, especially with the outdoor track season a little more than a week away.

Calisch, a former Big Ten pole vaulter himself while an undergraduate at the University of Illinois, has more than a passing interest in Zasadny, one of the boys he is counting on for dual meet points beginning with Forest View April 11.

The Knights will be strong in the sprints and hurdles with the fleet Larry Bogart, Jim Renner, George Morris, Ron Koepke and John Carsello on hand. Tom Bremner, Dan Johnson and Terry Sietmann round out the contingent of sprinters who will run the hurdles and dash events.

Other bright spots include Dave Gobielle in the high jump, Gary York in the mile.

BUT THE POLE vault will be the best field event with Zasadny and Rich Westergaard carrying the load.

The two boys scraped together $54 to purchase a fiberglass pole, current rage of the nation's top vaulters. The new weapon hasn't arrived yet, but the boys hope to put it to good use when it does.

"I don't know what they will do with it after Westergaard graduates," mused Calisch in watching Zasadny (sans cast) clear the 10 foot, six inch mark in practice Tuesday. "I suppose John will buy out Rich's half."

Westergaard, a senior, graduates in June. But the mirthful Zasadny will be back again next year.

MEANWHILE, over at Forest View, Falcon coach Dick Ohl, who doesn't even have a vaulting pit, heaved a sigh worthy of the most weary of men.

His squad opens with Ridgewood Tuesday, April 9, so he will have a chance to examine his minions before the Prospect match.

Nearby, Bill Beckman, Forest View athletic director, announced that the first two home meets would probably have to be transferred to Prospect because the Falcon track is not quite ready for full-scale competition.

Indeed — with or without a track — it looked like a long spring for Ohl. He has only five boys with any sort of competitive experience, and some of that including cross country.

SCOTT ARMSTRONG and Larry Bleichroth, both hurdles, will ease the pain, and the hulking Ray Goertz, who set a West Suburban Conference record last spring in the frosh-soph discus competition (142' 10") while at Arlington, may help.

Otherwise, cross country veterans Phil Valentino and Jerry Potter are about it.

But one never knows about track. There are several other boys running under Ohl's careful eye. Some of them may keep on running. Some may fail to the wayside.

The boys that keep running — well, that's how you win — eventually.

Alton Captures Team Crown; Palatine 7th

In recent years Alton of the Southwestern Conference has blossomed into a first-class high school track power in Illinois.

The Redbirds, featuring a fine collection of swift dashmen, finished second in the state finals in 1960 and third in 1962.

Alton demonstrated last Saturday that it boasts another title contender.

The Redbirds became the first downstate school ever to win the rugged Oak Park Relays, rolling up 37 points to finish first in the largest high school indoor cinder meet in the country.

The Oak Park spectacular annually brings to a close the indoor track campaign in Illinois.

Bloom of Chicago Heights edged Proviso West for runner-up honors with Oak Park fourth and defending champion Chicago Phillips fifth.

SEVENTY-SEVEN schools and 1,340 individuals competed in the event and for the first time in years, no records were broken. Glenbard East won the Class B trophy with 24 points, and Glenbrook South and University High of Chicago tied for the Class C crown with 18 points each.

Area entries Palatine and Prospect both scored in Class A competition. Joe Johnson's Pirates collected 18 markers for an impressive seventh place finish, and the Knights landed four points for 15th.

Scoring for Palatine were junior speedster Duane Brooks in the 50 yard dash (fourth) and the eight-lap and 16-lap relay teams with seconds. Working on the former unit were Brooks, Bob Frost, Stew Rogers, and Ron Frost.

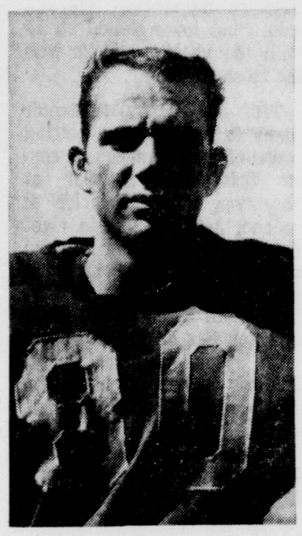
ROGERS, Bob Frost, Jerry Kusek, and Ron Frost made up the Palatine 16-lap team.

Brooks, off to a fast start in the 50 finals, had to settle for fourth behind champ Dick Ristau of Proviso East, Bob Washington of Waukegan, and Andy Johnson of Alton.

The triumph was the third for Ristau in major competition this season. He also topped the Suburban League and Evanston Relays in his specialty.

PALATINE'S Kusek competed in an open mile event with no team points counted and ran away from the field in a snappy 4:36.7 clocking, his best ever.

Scoring for Prospect was junior Larry Bogart with an impressive second in the 60-yard low hurdles. Bogart finished behind Alton's Johnson, the state champ over the low sticks.



DUANE BROOKS

Other individual winners at Oak Park were Paul Ecomomides of Alton in the shot put (55-11), Monroe Keys of Rock Island in the broad jump (22-¼), Jim Briggs of Crane Tech in the high jump (6-2), Bob Hubbard of Crane Tech in the high hurdles (:07.5), Jim Isaacson of Glenbard West in the mile run (4:23.6), and Bill Stokes of Bloom in the pole vault (13-0).

Meyer's Moves Into Tie

Meyer's Dairy moved into a tie for the lead of the Arlington Heights Park District Classic basketball league as the Bravo Braves were upset by Klehm's Nursery.

Klehm's Nursery pulled out a narrow win over the Bravo Braves 75-72, led by Hogan's 28 points.

Meyer's Dairy breezed by the Pure Oilers 73-54 to earn their share of the league lead. Quick led Meyer's Dairy with 26 counters.

In the night-cap Lynnwood downed the Crows 60-53.

St. Viator Golfers at St. George

St. Viator High School's varsity and frosh-soph golfers will swing into action today (Thursday) when they journey to St. George in Evanston.

Plan 'Illegal' Holiday April 16 For Chisox Game

The Chicago White Sox will open the 1963 season with an "Illegal" Holiday—a big spoof on opening day epidemics of "My Grandmother Is Sick," "I'm Coming Down with the Flu" or "Gotta Go See My Income Tax Man," etc., etc!

A real tongue-in-cheek twister, the "Illegal" Holiday is declared for April 16, the day the White Sox meet the Kansas City Athletics in their first home game of the season. On this Holiday, all old "illegal" excuses used by fans as an explanation for taking the afternoon off will be considered "legal."

Here's how the "Illegal" Holiday and new White Sox customer service works: the Sox will, upon request, provide a written excuse from work for any fan sending in his name and the name of his boss (or relative) to "Illegal" Holiday Headquarters, White Sox Park, 35th and Shields, which opened today (March 26).

BY RETURN mail, a personalized excuse will go to the fan's boss giving the employer a choice of five well-worn, tried and true excuses from which he can select the most appropriate for his employee.

The excuse is obviously "illegal" and does not misrepresent the absentee's whereabouts. It is written on a simulated baseball scorecard and signed by White Sox General Manager Ed Short. The excuses listed are hard to swallow—(1) sick grandmother (2) visiting cousin from Monaco (3) Christmas shopping (4) 3-hour Flu (5) new job interview.

Of course, to fans, the first game is excuse enough to head for White Sox Park and their first "illegal" outing, but the Sox are parlaying the "honesty-to - the - boss - is - the - best-policy" into a grand opening day celebration.

Far-out festivities, befitting this first White Sox "Illegal" Holiday, are planned for the opener, including a Charter Holiday Proclamation for each fan attending and a colorful kick-off for what the Sox plan as an annual event.

Few Openings Remain for Scratch Loop

Attention all golfers interested in some stiff and challenging competition for the 1963 season.

Play starts Friday evening, May 3, in the Old Orchard Scratch league.

This league offers some of Chicagoland's finest competitive golf. Anyone with a handicap of 10 or less is eligible for the division and should contact one of the officers.

Pro Lou Sabo says that the Old Orchard course is in excellent condition with the addition of a few well-placed sand traps.

Team selection will take place at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 21, at the Old Orchard Club House. The No. 1 men are team captains and select the teams at this meeting.

Anyone interested in more information should contact Ralph Neubauer (LE 7-1815 evenings or Don Hager (CL 5-8000 days).

Openings Available In Golf

It was announced this week by Bill Appleby, Superintendent of Recreation for the Arlington Heights Park District, that there were openings in the spring session of the professional golf lessons.

The class is taught by Sam Rauworth and is open to all degrees of golfers, especially beginners.

Four class times are available; Wednesday evenings at 7:15 and 8:15 p.m. and Thursday mornings at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. at Recreation Park Fieldhouse.

With the warmer weather some of the classes will be held outside at the Winston Golf Range on Northwest Highway. Also it is hoped that arrangements can be made for a final lesson on the golf course.

For additional information and to sign up call CL 3-0620.

Dukes Whip Pirates

Palatine's track team lost their final indoor dual meet of the season, Wednesday, March 27, when they dropped a 59-32 decision at York.

The Pirates won just four events, one of them a record equaling performance by Duane Brooks.

Brooks, who tied the Maine East fieldhouse record in the 50 two weeks ago, equaled the York record in the 40 with a sparkling :04.6.

The Pirates four lap relay team grabbed a victory with a 1:00.6. Jerry Kusek, unbeaten in the mile, copped his specialty with a 4:44.6. Art Nesser soared 5-8 to win the high jump.

this year."

Although the Arlington coach wasn't set on a definite lineup for Saturday's quad at the outset of the week, he did indicate that his singles entries "probably" would come from lettermen Jim Jakubiec, Chuck Close, Russ Walters, and Rick Wollerman.

Jim Tindall, a fifth monogram winner, is expected to vie in doubles.

SCHALLER ALSO has some promising candidates seeking varsity positions with juniors Merril Kephart, Pete O'Neil, Ole Geissler, and Pete Loris and sophomores Bob Von Boeckmann, Jeff Peeke, and Greg Inman.

Peeke spent his frosh year in California but in grade school was a member of the Schaller-guided tennis program at the park district.

Schaller is working with 14 varsity performers while Frank Bohac, who's in charge of the frosh-soph outfit, has 30 candidates.

Key performers lost by graduation at Arlington were lettermen Tom Benson, Bob Bohac, and Dave Wollerman.

BENSON CAPTURED the No. 1 singles title in the West Suburban with an impressive win over Downers Grove's Tony Ivins, and Bohac posted a fine record before bowing in a second round match in the league finals. Wollerman teamed with Close for the first doubles title in the WSC.

In the conference finale Jakubiec, playing No. 2 singles, won his first match but bowed in the semi-finals. Rick Wollerman and Walters headed second doubles in the West Suburban.

On a frosh-soph level Kephart and O'Neil, now vying for varsity positions, headed the league in second and third singles last spring.

Arlington compiled a 16-4-1 record in varsity competition in 1962 and stood 13-3 at a frosh-soph level. Both squads won conference championships.

As far as this year is concerned, Schaller sees perennial power Hinsdale as the team to beat once again.

"Only time will tell," Baker concluded, "how this club will stack up. These two non-conference games (one with Glenbrook is coming up next Monday) should tell us a lot before we move into the West Suburban schedule."

Arlington will journey to Glenbrook next Monday, April 8, and then will meet York in Elmhurst on Wednesday, April 10, in the league opener. (

THE OUR LADY OF THE Wayside Grammar school basketball team recently concluded a successful season with 20 victories in 24 games. The squad featured a balanced attack spearheaded by the scoring of Kevin O'Connell and Frank Hogan and won the Northwest Catholic Athletic Conference and the Maryville Section of the Chicago Area Catholic Youth Organization league. First row (l. to r.) Tom Epperly, John Gregory, Jim Merkel, Frank Hogan, Jim Cronin. Second row, Bob Roche, Dave Gorman, Bill Garlock, Tom McDonald, Dan Miksta. Rosewall, Laver To Headline Net Show at Wheaton

It'll be Ken Rosewall against Rod Laver, the world's best professional against last year's best amateur, in the finest evening of tennis seen in the Chicago area since 1961.

The pairings for the World Series of Professional Tennis in Wheaton, April 10, have just been announced by Tony Trabert, Tour Director. Wheaton is only one stop on the long tourney trail of the World Series, but the matches that night have been selected to give Chicago area fans a real treat.

In addition to the Rosewall-Laver tussle, fast-rising young Earl Buchholz of St. Louis will play Andres Gimeno. Luis Ayala, Chilean champion, will tangle with Barry MacKay.

The doubles match for the evening will pit Laver and Buchholz against Gimeno and Rosewall.

ROSEWALL, IN defense of his professional championship, has a firm hold on first place in the current standings. Laver, also an Australian and last year's winner of every big tournament in the amateur ranks, is locked in a struggle for second place. Laver, however, in his first year of professional tennis, is learning fast and beginning to come on strong. So his head-to-head challenge of Rosewall should provide great tennis.

Meantime, Gimeno and young Buchholz are the other two battling for second place and the right to meet Rosewall in the final series at the end of the tour. That's when the big prizes of $35,000 and $25,000 will be decided. So their pairing against each other in Wheaton will provide another match with big money at stake.

MacKay, former top U.S. ranking player, and Ayala are, unfortunately, battling to stay out of the cellar. Pitting them against each other, however, will put both of them on their top game in what should be another even and exciting match.

THE DOUBLES, played as an exhibition since it doesn't count in the standings, gives the fans a chance to see the players in a more relaxed atmosphere. It always provides exciting and daring tennis both by virtue of its team play and because the players are willing to take chances.

This top-flight tennis will be seen in the Wheaton College Centennial Gym at 8 p.m., on April 10. All seats are reserved for the matches. Prices are $3 for adults and $1 for juniors under 18. Reservations can be made by calling MO 8-7637 or 231-3651.

Former Pirate Stars Sparkle At Northwestern

Former Palatine High School sports stars, Andy Merutka and John Seehausen, continue to earn recognition on the collegiate level as athletic standouts at Northwestern University.

Merutka, the finest shot putter in Illinois state prep history, already has unofficially broken the Northwestern varsity indoor record in practice. With his intercollegiate debut still a year away under the freshman rule, Merutka appears headed for track stardom. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Merutka, 339 Pleasant Hill.

Seehausen was among 12 basketball players to receive freshman numerals at the annual Northwestern University winter sports dinner. Next year Seehausen will move uup to the varsity under Coach Bill Rohr, who last season was acclaimed for molding an outmanned team into one of the most feared upset specialists in college basketball.

John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Seehausen, 1857 W. Atkinson, also will take part in freshman golf this spring. (

Murray Tops Scoring On St. Viator Squad

To no one's surprise, Jim Murray reigns as scoring champion for the 1962-63 varsity basketball season at St. Viator High School.

The sharpshooting guard, a second team all-league selection, rifled in 328 markers in 19 games for a 17.3 average in grabbing squad honors for the second straight year.

As a sophomore, Murray popped in 213 markers in 14 games, and he now owns 541 in 33 outings as a prep performer at St. Viator.

Ranking behind Murray in the scoring parade for 1962-63 was his running-mate in the backcourt, Ken Hoffman.

Good for only 28 points as a soph, Hoffman found himself in the past season and accounted for 218 markers, a fine 11.4 standard. He also topped the regulars in foul line success with a .632 percentage on 133 tosses.

SOPHOMORE Jim Vidt, a regular as a frosh, collected 133 points to rank third behind the guards, and soph Chuck Grandt finished fourth with 101.

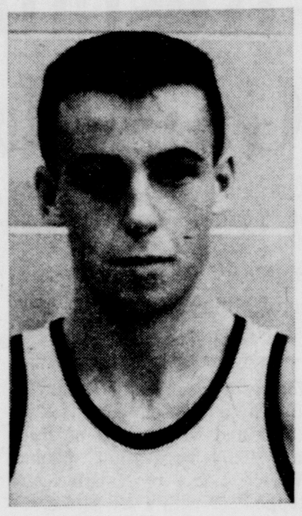
Rounding out the scoring at St. Viator were center and junior Joe Heitz with 63, Mike Ainslie with 24, frosh Joe Sanchez with 23, John Growe with three, and Harry Drnec with two.

Coach Ron Feiereisel's outfit picked up only three victories in 19 games but was working against more experienced varsity opposition. Feiereisel started two sophs and three juniors throughout most of the campaign.

IN ADDITION, the former DePaul University All-American lost a starter in Chuck Heinrich early in the campaign. Heinrich had finished third in scoring as a freshman.

The varsity Lions racked up victories over Immaculate Conception, Foreman, and DeLaSalle with the latter outing ranking as the squad's top performance of the season.

KEN HOFFMAN



JIM MURRAY

Hoffman tallied 17 in sparking St. Viator to a 45-43 victory over a DeLaSalle quintet that finished second in the Chicagoland Prep league behind state-ranked Chicago St. Patrick.

The Lions finished sixth in the league with one victory in ten games, but the future holds some promise.

FEIEREISEL again will be without size in the front-line, but the Lions are well-schooled in fundamentals and with another year of experience should be ready to add to their victory total.

Graduation, something that St. Viator has not yet experienced, will not deplete the roster, and Feiereisel is looking for some bench strength to be supplied by candidates from this year's frosh-soph squad.

The Lions will engage in a holiday tournament next year in addition to the regular schedule.

'Y' Girls Swim Team Rolls Past Elmhurst Entry

WINNERS OF THE midget freestyle relay against Elmhurst Saturday will represent the Northwest Suburban YMCA at the 'Y' city finals on Saturday, April 6, at Proviso West. Left to right, Jeannie Rosenmeier of Palatine; Mary Ellen Geisler of Prospect Heights; Mickie Ryan of Barrington; and Connie Foster of Mount Prospect.

The Northwest Suburban YMCA Girls swim team continued its winning streak with a defeat of the Elmhurst YMCA team on Saturday, March 30. The locals took six of eight relays and fourteen firsts and ten seconds in individual events for a total of 144½ points to Elmhurst's 91½.

Records shattered included the Prep (11 and 12 year) medley relay won by Northwest with a time of 2:34.1. Swimmers on this team were Jeanne Pollard, Mount Prospect; Vicky Edmonds, Barrington; Cathy Rowe, Arlington Heights; Sue Lockwood, Barrington.

Also in the Prep Division, Cathy Rowe and Kathy Wolf, Elmhurst, tied with a new 50-yard freestyle time of 33.0. Connie Foster, Mount Prospect, swimming in the Midget (9 and 10 year) Division tied a pool record of 34.7 in the 50-yard freestyle, and Marta Samuelson of Elmhurst established a new time of 19.9 for the 25-yard breaststroke.

In the Junior (13 and 14 year) Division, a new record in the 50-yard freestyle of 32.9 was set by Sarah Pearce, Elmhurst.

Coach Joan Heath, Roselle, will lead the girls as they go into the District I (City) Finals, April 6 at Proviso West.

Tuesday Afternoon

Triangular Slated For Palatine Oval

Palatine will host both Arlington and La Grange High Schools next Tuesday afternoon, April 9, in a triangular track meet.

An annual event, the triangular will get under way at 4:15 p.m .at Ost Field on Colfax in Palatine.

The host Pirates and Lions of La Grange are expected to wage a tight battle for first place. Both units have been impressive in indoor competition.

Arlington High Frosh to Open Slate Friday

A journey to Glenbard West will kick off the frosh baseball schedule at Arlington High School.

The Cardinals' "A" squad will meet the host Hilltoppers tomorrow (Friday) in the opening game of the 1963 season.

Directed by Art Brownell and Bob Emmons, Arlington's frosh face another ambitious schedule this spring. The plebes will meet only Maine East and Glenbard West among conference schools but will tackle several non-league foes.

Non-conference units facing Arlington this year will be Glenbrook, Palatine, Barrington, Prospect, and Notre Dame.

The schedule:

Mount Prospect All-Stars Capture Winnetka Crown

The Mount Prospect Park District all-stars last week copped the Winnetka Invitational Basketball Tourney, hammering St. Joseph's in the final round, 51-32.

The Prospect eighth-graders breezed past the Skokie Rebels in the opener, 64-12, with Al Shers netting 18 points for the winners.

In the semi-finals Prospect's park-ballers downed Winnetka's Faith Hope Moaners, 43-30. Frank Cavello collected 16 counters in this one, aided by Shers with 14.

Cavello and Shers continued to set the pace in the championship round, tallying 11 and 19 respectively in the final win over St. Joseph's.

Individual tournament scoring figures for the Mt. Prospect champs are: Al Shers (51 points), Frank Cavello (37), Ted Lambert (16), Mike Rutkowski (13), Roger Anderson (10), John Phillips (9), Don Reed (6), Rex Peterson (8), Pete Smith (4), and Jeff Long (4).

JUST DOGS

International Show—

As far as the dog show people throughout the country are concerned this is the big one coming up. Believe me, it will be big. An entry of 2840 purebred dogs in the 23 International Kennel Club all-breed dog show makes it the largest dog show in the country for the fifth consecutive year.

The show will be held in the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago stock yards this Saturday and Sunday, April 6 and 7. The amyhitheatre spreads out over a 12-acre area, which will give ample room for all, so plan to pack up the family and come on in; if you are looking around for ideas on what breed of dog to buy, or just plain sightseeing, you'll never have another chance like this to see such a variety of purebred dogs all in one place at the same time.

AN ENTRY of 159 Collies comprises the leading breed in number among the 112 different breeds that will be seen here in competition this year. For show purposes all breeds of dogs are classified into six groups according to similar purpose and function.

In the sporting group (gun dogs), Irish Setters will be seen largest number, with 89 listed, followed by 39 Labradors and 38 English Springer Spaniels. Of the 19 hound breeds, Bassets are first with 76 entered, followed by 72 Dachshunds, 61 Afghans and 45 Whippets. An additional feature at the show are the Whippet and Afghen races over a 200-yard dirt track.

Second in number to the 159 Collies heading the working group of breeds are 106 Great Danes, and 105 German Shepherds. There are 22 terrier breeds. Most numerous in this group will be 103 Miniature Schnauzers. Other large terrier entries comprise 45 Scotties, 44 Kerry Blues and 30 West Highland Whites.

OF THE 19 toy breeds, Chihuahuas lead with 54 entered, closely followed by 53 Toy Poodles, 36 Pekingese and 35 Pugs. In the non-sporting group classification, 50 Miniature Poodles and 38 Standard Poodles will be shown, and next in line in this division will be 48 Bulldogs, 45 Chows and 43 Dalmations.

In the obedience trial held at the show, there is a total entry of 102 dogs, which is an increase in the total entered as compared to the past few years. Looks like a busy weekend coming up for not only dog show folks from our area, but from all over the country.

Barks & Bays—

Watched an individual pick up a puppy the wrong way the other day. In this case the person was facing the pup and picked it up by grasping the shoulders and lifting. This is not only painful but can sometimes throw a shoulder out of joint. The best way is to reach down between the pup's legs with your hand extending forward through the front legs, so that you can hold on to the front legs with your fingers and give the pup support under the chest and rear.

If it is a large pup, then one hand under the rump and the other under his chest with the index finger of that hand extending out around one front leg to insure against a wriggling pup sliding away, will prove the pest way to handle a large pup and still give proper support.

Stan's Bowlers Help Highland Keep Lead

Highland Motors, which split four points with James Stavros in this week's Paddock Classic Travling League action, got some unexpected help from lowly Stan's Standard to help keep abreast of the field. The matches were played at Gunnell's Lanes, Mount Prospect, Stan's home base.

Stan's crew took three points from second place Hal Lieber Bowlers Shop, offsetting the Highland split. The loss dropped Lieber's keglers into third place as Moyle Construction moved into the second slot with the aid of a four-point split with Pioneer Lanes.

In other action, River-Rand Bowl tipped Morton Pontiac, 3-1, to tighten the fight for second place. Only seven points separate the second and eighth place teams.

PALATINE'S Tom Kouros kept Highland well ahead of the field with an even 600 series. He rolled games of 210, 213 and 177. Hec Healey (618) and Ed Melton (600), both of Northbrook, helped earn the split for Stavros.

Moyle took advantage of Pioneer's absenteeism to gain its split. Pioneer, playing with only three men, won two of the three games, but lost out on total pins.

Mike Dinschel, whose 627 series included a 246 game, and George Schmidt (609) of Addison put up a valiant fight for Pioneer to insure the split.

Mundelein's George Radke fired a 650 series to pace Moyle. Frank Graff (621) of Palatine wasn't far behind.

WARREN OLSON of Arlington Heights powered Stan's to its win over Lieber with a 616 series. Teammate Paul Zubak of Elk Grove Village added a 589 series.

Paul Borvig of Palatine turned in the best individual performance of the night in a losing effort for Lieber. He fired games of 193, 206 and 256 to post a hot 655 series. Both marks were tops for the evening's action.

The River-Rand — Morton match, hottest of the night, was hotly contested from the first game, and ended with River-Rand a scant 34 pins ahead.

River-Rand, paced by Ted Zimmerman's 647 series, posted both high team game (1031) and series (2977). Morton, led by Warren Walter's 646 series, wasn't far behind.

PAUL BORVIG

ZIMMERMAN, who lives in Des Plaines, rolled games of 229, 216 and 202. Teammate Tony Sasso also of Des Plaines added a 607 series.

Walter, an Arlington Heights resident, ripped off games of 224, 187 and 235. He got support from Duke Nava (600), who also lives in Arlington.

This week's matches will be at Pioneer Lanes in Addison. The schedule:

River-Rand Bowl vs. Moyle Construction, 1:30 p.m.

Morton Pontiac vs. Pioneer Lanes, 6:30 p.m.

Stan's Standard vs. Highland Motors, 6:30 p.m.

Lieber Bowlers Shop vs. James Stavros, 6:30 p.m.

Moyle Stumbles, 3-0

Steve's Restaurant Rocks Gals' Leader

No longer is Moyle Construction able to sit back and enjoy a comfortable lead in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling league.

The gals' leaders are in trouble.

They're in serious danger of slipping from the lofty rung they've held for so many weeks now.

Steve's Restaurant, recovering from three reversals the previous week, handed Moyle three straight setbacks last Saturday evening and vaulted from a tie for second into a solid contending position.

MOYLE STILL holds first place with a 23-16 standard, but Steve's is right behind at 21½-17½ and at least three other units all can be considered capable of "catching up" now that the leaders have stumbled.

A nifty 597 series by Jan Crovetti of Highwood paced Steve's shocking 3-0 victory Saturday with Jan flipping home games of 171, 215, and 211. Her 215 keyed Steve's to a 908, high for the evening, and she also held the top individual effort.

Delores Harris of Wheeling aided the victors with a fine 566, and Ann Neumann of Morton Grove chipped in with a 533. Rounding out the winning entry were Sis Jennings of Highland Park with a 506 and Betty Jacobson of Prospect Heights with a 445.

FRAN ALTERGOTT of Mundelein and Shirley Schultz of Cary topped the losers with 518 and 516 totals respectively. Fran had the squad's high game with a 198.

Tommy Thomas' Casablanca moved into third place with a 2-1 victory over Ridge Motors as four of the five team members fashioned 500-plus efforts.

Gladys Freeman posted a 549 for team honors, but Ruthmary Baurhyte of Arlington Heights (538) and Vi Douglas of Palatine (527) were right behind. Winnie Lohse of Palatine also topped 500 with a 506 series.

Maxine Moehling of Mount Prospect posted a 218 third game and finished with a fine 566 for the losing Ridge entry.

IN FINAL action Saturday Morton Pontiac posted a 2-1 victory over cellar dwelling River Rand Bowl as Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights paved the way on a fine 566 effort. Pat had a 200 game.

Alice Nichols of Arlington also topped 200 (213) and came home with a 537 total.

Ethel Juenger and "Tiny" Davis carried River Rand with 565 and 560 outings. Ethel had a 212 third game, and "Tiny" opened with a 203.

Tourney Closes Sunday Evening

The final session of the King and Queen Mixed Doubles bowling tournament at Rolling Meadows Bowl will be staged Saturday and Sunday, April 6-7.

Posted entries will be accepted up until 11:30 p.m. Sunday, April 7.

Approved by the Northwest Suburban Bowling Proprietors Association, the tournament opened last weekend.

Rivalry

Michigan and Michigan State have played 134 baseball games in a rivalry dating back to 1884.

Golf Pitching Contest Slated For Outdoor Show

A golf pitching contest will be one of the highlights of the Des Plaines Outdoor Sports and Vacation show at Rand Park on Saturday and Sunday, May 4-5.

Anyone attending the 2-day show, which is open free of charge to the public, is eligible to participate in the golf pitching contest. The contest will take place behind the fieldhouse on the outfield of the large softball diamond.

Each participant will be allowed five shots from a mat tee placed 50 yards from a simulated golf hole and green. Concentric circles will surround the hole three to five yards apart.

TROPHIES WILL be awarded to the man or boy and woman or girl who hits one of his five tries closest to the hole during the show.

Trophies will be awarded to the man or boy and woman or girl who has the highest point total from their three shots. Points will be awarded as follows: 25 points for a hole-in-one, 15 points for a shot which stops in the innermost circle, 10 points for the next circle, and five points for inside the square (the simulated green). All ties will be played by a five ball rematch to determine the champion.

Fran "Biff" Pancratz, a class A P.G.A. professional, will give golf pointers near the contest area during the show.

Mt. Prospect League Plans 1963 Season

Officers of the Mount Prospect Twilight golf league are engaged in completing final arrangements for the division's 23rd season of competition.

All members and alternates are urged to attend the kick-off meeting on April 22 to pay dues and pick up their new booklet which consists of teams, team members, alternates, schedules, and rules and regulations.

Officers stressed the importance of this meeting since the season opens the following week on Monday and Tuesday, April 29-30.

The fee will be $10 for regular members and $6 for alternates.

Hunters! Good Year For Birds

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — Illinois pheasant hunters should have a good year despite the severe winter, Conservation Director William T. Lodge said today.

Lodge said a pheasant census taken Feb. 27-28 around Sibley, the heart of the state's pheasant range, showed an average of 110 pheasants over a 37-square mile area. The count was made from a helicopter.

"Every winter we are requested to feed the pheasants to insure that an adequate supply of birds will live to breed in spring," Lodge said.

He said there was no crash feeding program despite the very bad winter and "there is no question that enough birds survived to produce a good crop, provided of course that we have a successful nesting season."

Scooters Clinch Crown

The Scooters clinched the championship in the Arlington Heights Park District Sportsman basketball league as both I.B.T. and Hawkeyes lost in last week's play.

The Misfits team came back to life with the return to action of Jim Brewer who racked up 25 points in a 58-47 win over I. B. T.

The loss knocked I. B. T. out of the running for a possible tie for the lead.

The Hawkeyes, hurt by the loss of a number of their key players, also had to forfeit, and thus gave up any chance of winning their second straight league crown.

Coaches Honor 12 Wrestlers

Prospect's Wayne Zaehler Named To Interim League All-Star Team

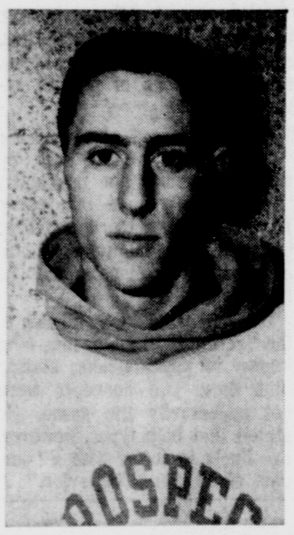
Two state champions head a list of 12 schoolboy wrestlers named to the Interim League's 1962-63 all-star aggregation.

Ted Parker of Deerfield and Lee Mungai of Morton West, the best in Illinois at their respective weights, are the top selections on the 12-man Interim unit named by the division coaches.

Glenbrook North topped the honor squad with three positions and Morton West landed two berths. Maine West, Willowbrook, Prospect, Proviso West, Wheaton, Deerfield, and East Leyden picked up one slot each.

Prospect's representative is Wayne Zaehler, a classy 120-pounder who waltzed to a district crown only to suffer an upset in a first round sectional encounter.

Following are brief sketches of each of the 1962-63 all stars:



WAYNE ZAEHLER
Prospect

95 POUNDS

Dick Jensen of Maine West suffered an unfortunate injury in a practice prior to the state finals that may have cost him a coveted state crown.

District and sectional champion, Jensen, a junior, suffered a broken leg in practice just two days before the state meet. He was unbeaten this year and considered a state threat.

An unheralded performer at the outset of the season, Jensen developed into one of the state's finest matmen, and he should be heard from again next winter.

DICK JENSEN
Maine West

103 POUNDS

Tom Strengren of Willowbrook, another junior, capped an impressive campaign with a fourth place in the state meet. Tom bowed out in the battle for third place, 6-2, to Mike Askew of Blue Island Eisenhower.

112 POUNDS

Ted Parker, state champ at 112 pounds, has accomplished more than any other athlete in the short history of Deerfield High School. As a sophomore, he lost only one match and finished third in the state tourney, earning all-league honors.

In the 1962-63 season he was unbeaten at 112 with pins in over half of his victories. He whipped Peter Dilz of New Trier 9-4 for the state title.

Parker's wrestling ability runs in the family. His older brother, Norm, picked up a Big Ten title at the University of Iowa.

120 POUNDS

Wayne Zaehler of Prospect was one of the finest wrestlers ever developed at the Foundry Road school. After dropping his first match this season at 127 pounds Wayne went on to record 21 straight victories at 120.

His second loss of the season unfortunately came in a first round of the sectional, and he was forced to the sidelines.

Zaehler posted a 19-7-1 mark as a junior at Prospect and advanced to the state finals where he dropped two bouts in three outings.

Zaehler, a senior, captained the Knights in the 1962-63 campaign.

127 POUNDS

Jerry Nyckel of Proviso West, a junior, has posted a 21-4-1 mark in two years of wrestling. He was second in the district, third in the sectional, and second in the Rich East Holiday tourney.

133 POUNDS

Cy Faulkner of Wheaton, a senior, was honored at 133 as he turned in a fine season for the Tigers.

138 POUNDS

Greg Zafros of Glenbrook North, a senior, registered a 16-2 season mark. He took second in the Waukegan tourney, first in the district and second in the sectional. He won his first two matches in the state meet but due to a rib injury lost his third match and was unable to wrestle back.

Zafros won 50 per cent of his matches in high school by pins.

145 POUNDS

George Moffett of Glenbrook North, another senior, was unbeaten in conference competition. He boasted a 15-1-1 season mark, took first in the district, but lost his first match in the sectional. George compiled an outstanding record in four years at Glenbrook and hopes to enter the United States Naval Academy.

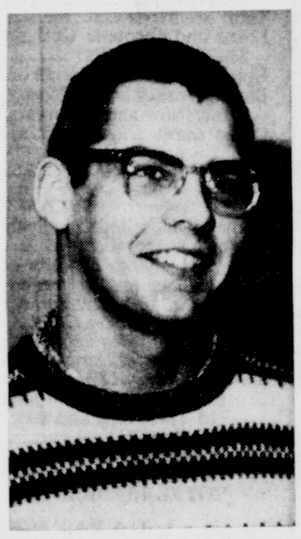
154 POUNDS

Tim Murphy of East Leyden, also an all-league football player, was 27-2-1 for the season. In tournament competition he won the Waukegan Invitational and also took district and sectional titles. He placed fourth in the state finals, losing to Vic Marcucci of Reavis, the eventual champion.

Murphy whipped defending state champion George McCreery of Palatine in the sectional finale.

165 POUNDS

Doug Peterson of Glenbrook North took first in the district, second in the Waukegan Sectional, and second in the state, falling to Roger Gaross of Waukegan in the finals, 3-2. He wrestled four years at Glenbrook.



DOUG PETERSON
Glenbrook North

180 POUNDS

Scott Jackson of Morton West, an all-conference selection and Special Mention All-State in football at tackle, turned in a four year record of 49-5-3. He only lost two dual meets in high school and both came as a frosh matman. As a soph he was 9-0-1 in duals, as a junior 12-0-0, and as a senior 14-0-2. He finished second in the district and third in the sectional. Jackson ranks in the upper eight per cent of his class and hopes to attend the Air Force Academy.

HEAVYWEIGHT

A unanimous selection as an all-conference guard and an all-stater in football, Lee Mungai of Morton West is one of the most talented athletes in the state.

In addition to earning all-state honors in football and winning the heavyweight wrestling championship, Lee also was an all-conference catcher in baseball as a junior. He has captained three varsity sports at Morton West.

As a wrestler, Mungai was undefeated in four years of dual meets with a 57-0 standard. As a junior he took fourth in the state at 180 pounds. He has a 78-3 over-all record in wrestling, suffering all three losses as a junior in state competition.

Mungai was unbeaten this season in wrestling and he dumped another All-State football player, Kim Wood of Barrington, in the heavyweight title tussle, 3-1. Lee was a "light heavyweight," going at 194 pounds.

Lee ranks in the upper 20 per cent of his class, is president of the lettermen's club and vice president of the student council.

Explosion

The biggest offensive day in Michigan State football history was against Marquette in 1949 when the Spartans ran and passed for 694 net yards.

Able Electric, Colts Capture League Crowns

Able Electric and the Colts emerged champions of the Arlington Heights Park District volleyball tournament in last week's final games.

Able Electric playing the Stags for the Division two crown, won two straight games 11-6 and 11-8 to climax their seasons efforts.

Once again the big game came down to the Colts and the Spikers for the champion of division one.

The Colts took the first game which was a long hard battle 11-7. Then the Spikers stymied the Colts and ran away with a 11-3 tally that squared the match.

Then in the third and final game each point came very hard for both teams, but the Colts came out on top 11-9 to reign as champs.

Al Kintzle New Falcon Golf Coach; Open Monday

Al Kintzle, a 1962 graduate of Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa, will coach the 1963 Forest View golf team.

"I've never played competitively," confesses Kintzle, who is in his first year of teaching as well as coaching.

But few of the 22 candidates out for the Falcon varsity and frosh-soph link crews will know the difference. None of them have played either.

Kintzle was encouraged somewhat Monday because he was able to take his minions to an early morning workout at Mount Prospect Country Club, home base of the Falcons.

Practice sessions will run from 6 a.m. until about 8:30 so laziness shouldn't be a Forest View problem.

The Falcons open Monday with a road match at Glenbrook North High. They will return to the home course Tuesday to face Wheaton.

All home matches will be played about 4 p.m. at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Cheerleading, Modern Jazz at Kroehler Camp

Cheerleading and modern jazz classes will be offered at Kroehler YMCA Camp, Hayward, Wis., August 18 to 30, for girls 10 years (4th grade through high school) and older.

Barbara Greenwood, junior at the University of Wisconsin and former high school cheerleader, has been on the staff for two years and will teach cheerleading and modern jazz.

Girls choose their own program and cabin assignments are made by age groups, explains Mrs. Arilee Pollard, Girls' Camp Director.

Mrs. Pollard is a former high school physical education teacher, a Tri-Hi-Y leader for three years, former Girl Scout Leader and has a 12-year-old daughter. This year she has served as Public Relations Director for Boys' and Girls' Swim Teams at the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

ONE OF THE advantages of a camp of 100 girls or less is that the girls receive more personal attention from counselors and the director. A typical day might be selected as follows: flag raising; breakfast at 8:00, followed by "cabin cleanup" at 9:00; cheerleading, 10:00; canoeing, 11:00; water skiing, dinner at 12:15. After "Lie Low," 2:00, sailing; 3:00, swim instruction (use standard YMCA classes and badges).

Other selections might have been crafts, horseback riding, archery, or trampoline. Free time at 4:00 and "Twilight" (immediately after supper) will find girls visiting, playing shuffleboard, in canoes and rowboats, fishing, trampoline, riding on the trail, on archery range, tetherball, "putsying" in craft shop, or playing the guitar.

At dusk the evening program may consist of charades, skits, dancing, or just a sing around the camp fire. Special activities include favorite "Water Olympics," volleyball tournaments, land olympics, counselor hunt, and birthday party.

A 'Y' member may attend the Aug. 18 through 30 session for $70 if registered by April 15 at Northwest Y. Transportation is $15 for roundtrip. Color folders and information may be had at Northwest Suburban YMCA, 300 E. Northwest Highway, Des Plaines, CY 6-3376, or Arilee Pollard, 392-3968.

Articulation Confab Set for High Schools

Teachers, counselors and administrators of 300 Illinois high schools have been invited to attend the 13th consecutive School-University Articulation conference April 3-4 at University of Illinois.

Included among the 300 high schools invited to the conference are Arlington, Elgin, Glenbrook, Maine Township West, Prospect, Willowbrook and York Community High Schools.

FOR THE FIRST time chemistry teachers are being asked to accompany those in English and history to the conference sponsored jointly by the Office of Admissions and Records and Division of University Extension, Prof. Lowell B. Fisher, coordinator of school-university articulation said.

Aim of the conference is to seek ways to bridge the gap between high school and college work. Counselors and administrators will meet with former pupils, now students at Illinois, for discussion sessions April 4.

ENGLISH, history and chemistry teachers will meet with members of the U. of I. faculty in those departments. English teachers will discuss their pupils' themes which U. of I. rhetoric instructors have graded.

At the opening banquet session at 6:30 p.m. April 3 in Illini Union Ballroom, Dean C. W. Sanford, office of admissions and records, and Prof. Fisher, will speak. Luncheon speaker April 4 will be Dean William Everitt, College of Engineering. (A14

They Can't Talk

Psychiatrists Frustrated By Action-Prone Children

A new "disease entity," not yet named and poorly understood, has appeared recently in many emotionally ill children, according to Dr. Fritz Redl, former Chief of Child Research of the National Institute of Mental Health and presently Distinguished Professor of Behavioral Science, Wayne State University, Detroit.

Author of many scientific articles and four books on emotional illness in children, Dr. Redl told 300 psychiatrists and child care workers last Thursday, March 28, that the disease manifests itself by compelling the child to "immediately transfer fantasy into physical motion," thus often bringing upon himself public censure or worse.

"Any teacher in a large public school spots dozens of such children daily," the speaker said. He contrasted these children to an earlier type of neurotic child who could remain physically in control of himself while having day dreams or phantasies.

"Today," the speaker said, "we are producing a kind of youngster who, if he has two seconds of phantasy about being a hero on the battle field, may promptly leap upon his school desk, aim his pencil and bang away at everyone in the room."

"PROBLEMS of Ego Support for the Aggressive, Action Prone Child" was the title of Dr. Redl's talk, delivered at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines. The hospital is an intensive care psychiatric treatment center serving the northwest suburbs.

The treatment of emotional illness in children, Dr. Redl noted, previously relied heavily upon the child's capacity to talk to the therapist. "Action prone children can't talk," he said. "They get restless and simply walk away, making the problem extremely difficult. You have to go out and get them back and start all over again."

By the nature of their symptoms, consisting of turning everything of a wishful nature into physical behavior, such children readily defeat and frustrate the therapist who is often trained in the techniques of the "classical" therapeutic hour.

HE CITED the example of a boy, under treatment in a facility far from home, who indulged in a "leg motion fantasy" by simply walking out and starting a 1,000 mile hike to express his home-sickness. The speaker pointed out that not all "action prone" children behave in an unacceptable way but, rather, physical action has taken the place of normal rational control.

Dr. Redl noted also that the "action prone" child need be neither neurotic nor psychotic. "They simply take out every wish or fantasy by immediate physical, overt behavior, whether harmless or disasterous," he told his audience.

He contrasted such children to the "acting out" youngster, long known to psychiatrists, stating that these two concepts were not necessarily the same. He stated that both types, however, are likely to suffer with a "surplus of irrational behavior."

The central problem, the speaker said, was to find methods of treatment for the new disease. He stated that the action prone child "is deficient in self control and has suffered severe ego damage. He has difficulty in verbalizing and, instead, converts his feeling into action, violent or otherwise."

HE SUGGESTED that his listeners re-examine their therapeutic methods with such children and sort out and rename the symptoms from which they suffer.

The talk was part of the annual scientific lecture series offered annually by the hospital as a scientific educational service.

Dr. Rudolph G. Novick is the medical director of Forest Hospital. Dr. Clifton Rhead was chairman of the program. Morris B. Squire is administrator of the hospital. (A14

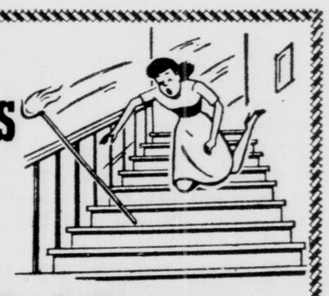
HOME ACCIDENTS ARE COVERED BY



Paddock Publications

Suburbanite Emergency Protection Personal Accident Policy

ISSUED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND THEIR FAMILY HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

- Each member of the family spends the greater part of every 24-hour period at home and far more accidents occur here than anywhere else. Falls on stairs, floors, rugs, in the bathroom, from chairs and ladders, cause injuries to many people. Cuts and burns through the simplest of household chores are very common. Power lawn mowers seem to be an extreme hazard.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

Township School Treasurer

GOP Women Hear Spirited Debate on Trustee Issue

Sharp disagreements as to facts as well as opinions marked the panel discussion on the township school trustee and treasurer system at the March 28 meeting of the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club.

The participants, Mrs. Gerald A. Chapman and Rolland A. Franzen, differed on whether or not the present system is necessary to maintain the proper checks and balances, on whether or not it involved unnecessary duplication of records and fund handling, and on whether or not it was more expensive than a proposed new system.

Franzen is school treasurer for Wheeling Township, and is appointed by the board of school trustees for the township. Three trustees, who also hold title to school properties, are elected to staggered six-year terms.

ON SATURDAY, April 13, an election will be held to select one trustee for a regular term, and one to fill a vacancy for two years. Both positions are being contested.

Mrs. Chapman is secretary of the school board of High School District 214. Last year this board originated a resolution seeking the abolition of the present trustee-treasurer system in Cook County and the finstitution of one similar to that now used in the rest of Illinois.

In downstate counties title to the land is now held by county school trustees rather than township trustees. School treasurers are appointed by individual school boards rather than by a separate body.

A BILL TO change the Cook County system is scheduled for introduction in this session of the Illinois General Assembly.

Franzen said that there had been a great deal of misrepresentation about the trustee-treasurer system. He stated that it was not perfect, but that the proposed changes would make it less perfect. He would be the last, he said, to oppose a real improvement.

Mrs. Chapman stated that she did know a better system—the one used in the rest of the state.

SHE NOTED that the original functions assigned to the school trustees have largely disappeared since the system was instituted over 150 years ago.

At that time they were charged with the administration of funds obtained from the sale of the 16th section of land in each township, which had been reserved by Congress for the use and benefit of the school systems. All of this land has been sold, and little money derived from its sale remains unspent.

Other functions, such as the setting of school district boundaries, are now handled by the county board of school trustees or by individual school boards.

MRS. CHAPMAN commented that, under the proposed new system, a school board could appoint a treasurer to handle its own work only, or could cooperate with other school boards to share a treasurer.

Franzen stated that the present system provided better checks and balances, inasmuch as the treasurer was appointed by a body independent of the school board or the school administration.

He indicated that he would like to see the functions of the treasurer expanded, rather than abolished, so that he would serve as an auditor to check bills submitted to the schools before they were presented to the school boards for payment.

SINCE HE WAS responsible only to the school trustees, Franzen said, he was in a better position to catch errors than a school business manager or other employee of the school board.

He cited an occasion when the books of district 214 were off $22,487.28 in the educational fund, $1982.10 in the transportation fund, and $1634.62 in the building fund.

When Mrs. Chapman asked him if an annual audit would not have caught such errors, he expressed the opinion that such an audit would not have caught them in time and that such inaccurate books were of little use to the school management.

MRS. CHAPMAN stated that Franzen had himself made errors, and cited specifically an instance in which he had miscalculated the percentage of the expenses of his office which were to be charged to each district under his jurisdiction.

She also said that such an outside audit would be sufficient check on the honesty as well as the accuracy of the district treasurer. (B8

Sanitary District Sells Tax Warrants

Successful bidder for purchase of $17,495,000 of Metropolitan Sanitary District 1963 tax anticipation warrants was Halsey Stuart & Co., representing a syndicate of investment houses.

The interest rate will be 1.9 per cent. John F. Mannion, treasurer of the Sanitary District and a vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank, said, "This figure represents one of the lowest interest rates ever obtained in the recent history of the Sanitary District."

SPEAKING FOR the board of trustees, Frank Chesrow said, "This is a reflection of the standing of the Sanitary District insofar as financial institutions are concerned. It also reflects the fact that the Sanitary District has a Class AA rating in Standard & Poor, the nationally known financial rating service. Only seven of the nation's 42 cities with populations of more than 500,000 persons possess such a rating."

Other bidders for the tax anticipation warrants included a group represented by the First National Bank of Chicago and a third group represented by A. G. Becker of Chicago. (B9

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

Professor Reports Deafness Increasing

As a result of an increased number of older people and various complexities of modern life, there is a rising tide of deafness in the United States.

This statement was made by Dr. Francis L. Lederer, head of the University of Illinois College of Medicine Department of Otolaryngology at a talk Friday before an alumnae chapter meeting of Delta Zeta sorority at East High School in Aurora.

"Causes of reduced hearing function," he said, "include noisier industries, interest in body contact sports, swimming, hunting and skeet shooting, and air travel — especially when one travels with a head cold or nasal allergy."

"The relative frequency of hearing impairments rises rapidly with advance in age. From 8 per 1,000 persons under 25, the rate rises to nearly 130 per 1,000 at age 65-74, and to about double that figure at ages 75 and over."

DR. LEDERER pointed out that defects of the hearing mechanism can often start in the womb and "neonatal factors may be responsible for hearing loss in infants."

It is essential to detect hearing problems as soon as possible to provide the deaf or hard-of-hearing child and his family with the proper guidance and counsel, he added.

"The physician's role is clearly defnined. He must be aware of the psychological, as well as the medical, difficulties which may be encountered." Dr. Lederer listed three directions for handling hearing problems in children:

1.—Early detection, complete diagnosis, and estimation of residual hearing.

2—Parental education and public enlightenment about hearing loss.

3—Language, voice, speech reading and auditory training with the use of amplified sound.

SURGERY can be performed to restore hearing in some, but "for the larger population of children with irreversible loss, the physician may serve as counselor.

"He can guide parents in helping their children become competent, happy, well-adjusted, hearing-impaired persons who communicate with relative ease in a hearing world, rather than poor imitations of hearing persons, always laboring to conceal their handicap and never succeeding," he continued.

The problem of the adult who suffers hearing loss is much different from that of the child, Dr. Lederer pointed out.

The adult's hearing loss has been "superimposed upon mature habits of communication, and he retains a speech memory." With the exception of specifically indicated surgical procedures, it is not the disorder but the patient who should be the object of the rehabilitative treatment.

"THE ADULT," he said, "tends to isolate his feelings and protect himself from the painful experience. The recovery from this stage depends upon the maturity he attains" regarding his hearing loss.

"For example, the emotional and physical preparation of a patient for a hearing aid involves much more than just telling him he requires it. An important factor is the patient's attitude toward wearing the device. Before the patient can accept the hearing aid, he must have accepted his hearing loss," the dictor said.

Teenage Ego-Smashers

I do not have any idea in this world about how to smash the atom. I only know that they have smashed it. But, I do know very well the most effective way to smash an ego. Just go and get yourself a teenage daughter. It's sure fire.

MARY

At this precise moment I do not have one in the house but I still wear the scars from when I did. Well do I remember feeling like Cinderella as they stood in the middle of the floor five minutes before they were to leave for school moaning over the lack of socks. Or underwear. Or a clean blouse. Somehow I felt that I had been derelict in my duty.

Which is perfectly silly. Both of them outweighed me by umpteen pounds. Both of them were quite capable of squishing suds through cloth. And, who should know better than they that the clothing situation was getting a little thin. But, the implication that I was lazing around all day with a box of bonbons and a racy novel was most apparent.

One of the funniest ones I have heard happened to a friend of mine whose female chick is not quite ready to leave the nest. This teen female has a small brother who, liking to make small talk, asked his mother what she did all day. Before dear old mammy had a chance to open her trap, chickie popped forth with the information that mama washed and ironed on Monday and Tuesday and played bridge the rest of the days. This caused mama to sort of rock back on her heels.

As it was Wednesday when mama was telling me about this over the phone, I asked her what her plans were for the day. She promptly informed me that she was bidding one bucket of hot water and Ajax with ammonia. I topped her by bidding two white unironed shirts. As it was her bid, she mentioned three dirty floors, which is a major suit in any woman's language. I should have liked to mention four dirty walls in the kitchen but didn't have the high cards. Like Ajax and ammonia with ambition.

So that's what we do all day. Play bridge.

Coffee Trade Vital To Many Countries

United States' trade with the major coffee-exporting countries of the world has generated 662,000 jobs for Americans, and $3,200,000,000 in United States wages and farm income, a report claims.

Most of the findings in the report, published by the Pan-American Coffee Bureau, result from a study made for the bureau by the Econometric Institute of New York City.

The Pan-American Coffee Bureau is a promotion arm of the International Coffee Agreement, of Washington, D. C., comprising 28 coffee-producing countries of Latin America and Africa.

UNITED STATES exports to the coffee countries—chiefly to Latin America—provided the bulk of the coffee-created jobs, wages and farm income: 462,000 jobs in the United States and about $2,426,000,000 in wages and income. An additional 200,000 American jobs and $800,000,000 in wages stemmed from the processing, distribution, and sale of coffee within the U.S.A.

The report noted that while factory wages and farm income generated from sales of Latin American coffee in the U.S.A in 1961 were impressive and significant, the value of the two-way trade that year between the Latin American coffee countries and the United States was the lowest since 1957.

The revenue of Latin American coffee sales in the U.S. market has skidded since 1957 from $1,207,000,000 to $819,000,000 in 1961.

OVER THE SAME period, there has been a similar steady, marked decline in the value of U.S. exports to the Latin American coffee-growing nations, from $4,029,000,000 in 1957 to $2,642,000,000 in 1961.

The survey blamed the drop in price per pound of raw coffee for the decline in revenue. The report pointed out that the steady decline in the U.S. import price per pound of Latin American coffee — from 51.8 cents in 1957 to 35.14 cents in 1961—resulted in losses of nearly $600,000,000 a year in dollars and other foreign exchange for the 15 Latin American coffee-exporting countries.

The report compared this loss to the $707,500,000 aggregate of U.S. economic assistance to the American coffee countries for the first fiscal year (July 1, 1961-June 30, 1962) of the Alliance for Progress program.

IN A STATEMENT issued by the White House late last year, the report noted, President Kennedy stated that a one-cent drop per pound in the price of coffee results in a loss of $50,000,000 a year in dollars and other foreign-exchange earnings for the Latin American coffee countries.

At the time, President Kennedy urged the U.S. Senate to ratify the new five-year international coffee pact signed by the representatives of 54 countries, including the U.S.A., at the United Nations in September 1961.

Between 1957 and 1962, the report said, Brazil alone lost $1,200,000,000, and Colombia $750,0000,000, in dollars and other foreign-exchange revenue because of the drop in coffee prices.

THE REPORT quoted two of the leading statesmen of the Americas, former President Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil and former President Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia, who were appointed in December 1962 by the Council of the Organization of American States to review the Alliance for Progress:

"The Alliance for Progress must not be carried out exclusively in terms of assistance," they said, "but must also be concerned with stabilization of commodity prices — especially coffee, a product that affects the lives of more than 12,000,000 persons in 15 countries of Latin America."

You and Your Problems

Treatment as Equal Is Sought by Wife

by DR. GERARD G. NEUMAN

Dear Dr. Neuman,

I was 17 and my husband was 25 when we got married. I looked up to him and his word was law. I was happy to do what he wanted because my own father was so wishy-washy, he could never act as head of the home. My husband wants things run his way and he's the one who makes all the decisions.

DR. NEUMAN

Now, after 10 years, I suddenly feel I've had enough. I'm tired of being treated like a little girl. I find I want to have some say about what goes on in our home. Why can't I do some of the things I want to do, instead of always what he decides?

It seems like we're quarreling all the time now. He keeps rubbing it in that I'm such a poor housekeeper and don't do anything right. When I tell him I want to be treated like an equal he just laughs and tells me I'll have to deserve it. I feel like our marriage is falling apart, but I don't know what to do about it.

Mrs. A.

When we're very young, we probably believe in the fairy-tale ending, "And so they were married and lived happily ever after." As we grow up and learn more about life and living, we may realize that marriage isn't that simple, but we may still think that once we work out a good marital adjustment it will stay that way.

However, marriage is not a static relationship. A husband and wife continue to grow and develop as individuals. If they can communicate their feelings and understand the other person, their relationship can take the shifts and changes and the marriage is enriched.

SOMETIMES a husband or wife changes in ways that are upsetting to the other person, who just wants things to stay as they are. This is what seems to be happening in your marriage, Mrs. A. You married when young, and you continued to grow up during the early years of your marriage. You've probably been trying to find out what kind of person you are, and you are looking for new ways to express yourself. Since your husband is older, it's likely that he has changed less.

Try to understand your husband's reactions too. Work toward being able to share your feelings with him, so that you can talk together and work out solutions to specific problems, rather than asking for a complete change right away.

Says Society's Paradoxes Are Cause of Mental Woes

American men are expected to be aggressive leaders at work, but at home they have to give up the dominant position and treat their wives as equals.

Paradoxes like this form the groundwork for problems of mental illness, according to Dr. Maurice Kaplan, clinical associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Illinois College of Medicine in Chicago and consultant at the Institute for Juvenile Research.

At a recent talk before the American Orthopsychiatric Association in Washington, D. C., Dr. Kaplan said that "our problem today continues to be the establishment of stable values in an unstable and rapidly changing social system."

DR. KAPLAN pointed out that the increasing mobility of population in the United States is one such important economic change. This mobility helped to break up the family clan.

To an increasing degree, we find "the small, displaced family, usually including no more than parents and a few children," he said. Therefore, "there is an enforced physical and emotional closeness which increases the possibility of greater friction."

Important factors in personality development—such as a "sense of one's position and attainments within the family"—are significantly changed in our society.

"FOR EXAMPLE," he continued, "the child's position in the home is also quite different under modern conditions." With fewer children in the modern family, the child "is invested with great importance."

"But this importance," according to Dr. Kaplan, "is more the product of sentiment and fantasied future possibilities than the consequence of his current contribution to the family.

"Perhaps the basic problem of our times is the matter of achieving a compromise between the needs of the individual and those of the group."

AS AN example of this often paradoxical situation, Dr. Kaplan mentioned our "contradictory attitudes about sex."

"At some social levels the child in early adolescence is pushed towards relatively advanced forms of behavior such as dating, unchaperoned parties and the free use of cars. At the same time he is expected to exercise controls which for him are still rather precarious. The attitude seems to be that of the old jingle . . . hang your clothes on the mulberry bush but don't go near the water."

AAUW to Tour Argonne Lab

April activities of the Arlington Branch of the American Association of University Women include the regular meeting Thursday evening, April 11, and a tour of Argonne National Laboratories Saturday morning April 13.

The meeting, to be held at the Arlington Heights Savings and Loan Association, 25 E. Campbell, will feature a panel discussion by three members of the international relations study group: Mrs. John Coulter and Mrs. Thomas Dabovich of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. W. F. Joy of Mount Prospect.

Inquiries regarding the branch and its activities may be directed to the membership chairman, Mrs. Ted Meyer, CL 9-1049. Graduates of AAUW approved colleges and universities are eligible for membership.

Different Seasonings Add Zest to Low-Sodium Diet

If a low-sodium diet has restricted your favorite seasonings, experiment with some different herbs and spices.

Many seasonings can add zest to foods and eliminate the bugaboo of tiresome meals, explains Harriet Barto, University of Illinois nutritionist.

And as long as the seasoning does not contain salt or sodium, it is probably on the acceptable list, says Miss Barto. But, to be sure check with your doctor.

EXPERIMENT with spices and herbs in small doses. Your aim should be to enhance the food flavor, not overwhelm it, says Miss Barto. Here are some of the many suggested seasonings and foods to use them with: allspice—ground meats, stews, tomatoes and peaches; basil—eggs, fish, lamb, ground meats, liver, stews and soups; dill—fish, sauces, soups and salads; ginger — chicken and fruits; dry mustard — ground meats, salads and sauces; sage — meats, stews and green beans; savory — salads, egg dishes, pork, ground meats, squash, Lima beans and peas; thyme—eggs, veal, pork, onions, peas and salads; and turmeric —meats, eggs fish and rice.

Another seasoning to help make food interesting is lemon juice. It adds a pleasant touch to many foods, including liver, steak, lamb and pork chops and fish.

SOME OF the seasonings that may be restricted are salt, either plain or iodized, celery and garlic salts, monosodium glutamate, catsup, meat sauces, such as Worchestershire sauce, prepared mustard and soy sauce.

A further aid to preparing meals within the restrictions of a low-sodium diet is a special diet cookbook, such as "Low Sodium — Fat Controlled Cookbook" by Alma Payne and Dorothy Callahan.

High Schoolers In Wieboldt's Fashion Show

Hundreds of fashion-conscious high school girls and mothers stepped into a "Wonderland of Fashion" at Weiboldt's Randhurst Store March 22 when the store's high school fashion board presented its first spring fashion show. Models were from all area high schools, Prospect, Arlington, Palatine, Forest View, Sacred Heart of Mary, Lake Park, and also Maine East and Maine West in Park Ridge.

Hostesses for the showing were Mary Trausch of Arlington High and Carolynn Schwind of Prospect High.

Informal modeling takes place each Saturday in the store from 1 to 4 p.m. with fashion board members and their friends as models. Besides lessons in modeling, the girls recently received tips on exercising from Mrs. Donald Swanson, Wheeling Park District dance instructor.

A DELEGATION OF MEMBERS of the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club attended the recent spring meeting of district 3 held in River Forest Golf Club. Guest speaker was Miss Katherine Peden, immediate past national BPW president. Topic of her talk was "Federation Internationally." Three members of the Mount Prospect club who visited with Miss Peden, left, following her talk included, Mrs. Vivian Mertes, Mount Prospect, Mrs. Virginia Dodge, Postmaster of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Ann B. Petrie, Mount Prospect.

Parent Role Is Explored

How can parents help their adolescent children make a successful transition from childhood to adult life?

Mrs. Margueritte Lynch, University of Illinois extension family life specialist, answers this question in a leaflet, "The Changing Role of Parents," recently revised by the College of Agriculture Cooperative Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics.

She suggests that parents help the teenager by encouraging him to do the following things:

(1) Look upon his own physical growth and development as being normal.

(2) Accept the new role of being a young man or young woman.

(3) Be at ease in his relations with young people of both sexes.

(4) Graually become more emotionally independent of parents and other adults.

(5) Become a socially responsible individual.

(6) Acquire a knowledge of and respect for our laws and government.

(7) Choose a career that fits his abilities and interests.

(8) Prepare for marriage and family life.

(9) Select a mate.

MRS. LYNCH explains that helping children through the adolescent stage is just one of the five roles that parents play. As children grow from babyhood to adulthood, parents must assume four other roles in the stages of the preschool years, the grade-school years, the "launching" years and the later years.

Each stage involves a change in role. As the years pass, parents need to understand and assume different responsibilities and obligations if children are to become happy, well-adjusted persons.

More information on how to deal with the responsibilities of parenthood is given in the leaflet. To obtain "The Changing Role of Parents," HEE3630, contact the county home adviser or write to 528 Bevier Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois. There is no charge for the leaflet.

FAMILY FUN is enjoyed by Mount Prospect residents, Mrs. Peter Tsolinas, her son, Mike, and mother, Mrs. H. C. Gemmill, as they relax on the sunny grounds of the Escape Hotel in Fort Lauderdale during a recent stay on the Gold Coast of Florida. Mr. Tsolinas was also with the vacationers but returned early to his business, leaving the family to soak up more sun and fun before returning to their 313 S. WaPella Ave. home March 27.

Travel and Adventure

NEWLYWEDS, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Morris Bell of Long Grove, are pausing in the gardens of the Sheraton-British Colonial Hotel in Nassau where they honeymooned following their March 16 wedding. The bride is the former Mrs. Joan Schreuer Banner of Prairie View. Mr. Bell, until recently a captain in the Army, is the son of George Bell of Vienna, Ill. The couple planned to return to their new home in Long Grove March 26. (T

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Daffy Dilly Luncheon

By Dolores Haugh

Oh, Spring has sprung and the daffodils are waving their beautiful golden heads outside the window and now is the time for all good girls to think of a springtime luncheon. For a theme, misspell a little and have a Daffy Dilly luncheon.

INVITATIONS

You may purchase flower bedecked invitations but handmade ones are so unusual in these busy, hurried times, so if you can, cut a daffodil from yellow construction paper, double fold and place it on a green stem. Make the entire pattern tall enough for a legal sized envelope.

Inside the blossom write the following:

Daffy Dilly, oh so fair,
Nodding almost everywhere,
So come and share this touch of Spring
Luncheon pleasures they will bring.

State time, place and date. Mail at least two weeks in advance, so people may plan for this dilly of a date.

DECORATIONS

Daffodils real or artificial will be the order of the day with bowls of them all through the house and artificial ones arranged in apothecary jars for prizes. Serve on the breezeway or on the porch, if it is warm, and used cardtables.

Serve on pale green cloths, dark green napkins, white or crystal plates and tiny nut cups made by cutting a piece of two sided yellow crepe paper 6 inches long by 4 inches wide. Fold this strip lengthwise in four equal parts. Crease in half, unfold but retain four thicknesses. Fold all four thicknesses in half and cut half a petal shape from center bottom to center crease. Unfold to 6 inch length. Pink top edge. Gather at center crease to make top into cup by gluing ends, and spread bottom petals out for base. Fill with pale green mints and nuts.

THESE MAY be used also as name or placecards by having the guests' names on a long narrow green paper leaf on which the nut cup is placed. Bridge tallies, scorepads and prizes will all be wrapped with this motif. If you want to really cause a sensation, use florist tape in green and make your pencils into daffodils by taping an artificial flower to the pencil. These make excellent favors, too.

For the centerpiece cut each flower and add a spiked leaf, wrap in florist tape and arrange them. After the luncheon, give each guest a corsage of real flowers to wear or take home for her favorite bud vase. You could also use each centerpiece for the prizes, thus accomplishing two "musts" with one effort.

ENTERTAINMENT

MENU

With the lovely green background, your luncheon should be all yellow—fruit salads, sandwich loaves, frosted in light yellow cream cheese, with real flowers on top, peach and pineapple halves with apricot jello centers, finished off with lemon chiffon cake, each piece topped with a daffodil. Hot rolls, relishes and nuts fill out the complete menu.

So don't be daffy, give a dilly of a luncheon with a Daffy Dilly Luncheon soon. (S

Puerto Rico Travel Heavy Last Winter

Puerto Rico, gateway to the Virgin Islands and other Caribbean resort areas, has made a rapid recovery from the slump in travel to this region during last fall's Cuban crisis and had the biggest tourist season in its history this winter, according to J. T. Hoffman Jr., Eastern Air Lines director of community relations.

During the peak Christmas and New Years' holiday weeks, Eastern's business was up 30 per cent over the same periods a year ago, and since then the number of visitors to the commonwealth has been running about 20 per cent ahead of the 1961-62 season.

RECOGNIZING the tremendous potentials of Puerto Rico and its neighboring islands for the Chicagoland visitor, Eastern this winter scheduled 14 jet flights weekly between Chicago and the island.

These services included a daily non-stop jet between Chicago and San Juan, offering a choice of first class "Golden Falcon" and tourist accommodations, providing 1,876 seats each week throughout the popular winter season.

Does Candlelight Make Your Food Taste Better?

by BETTY AINSLIE
Staff Writer

Did you know that you should please all the senses in order to enjoy a meal, and that a steak served from a cracked plate won't taste quite as good as one from a platter pleasing to the eye?

If you consume your food under glaring, harsh lights and to the accompaniment of dishes banging against trays and loud laughter and noise you're not going to enjoy what you eat even if it is food fit for a gourmet's taste, because you are offending two other senses—sight and sound.

A group of individuals were tested in isolated booths under controlled conditions, and Alice Amis Hodges of the University of Florida gathered all this information together. She is now an authority on how the atmosphere in which you consume your food has a bearing on your appetite.

ACCORDING to these findings, if you're eating peacefully and enjoying your meal, but suddenly there is a wild clatter of dishes being dropped or the yelling and screaming of children to disturb the harmony, you'll end up demanding more sugar in your coffee or having a sudden yen for something sweet for dessert.

You just won't react the same way to salty, sweet or sour substances when there is a change in the noise or light level of the room.

For instance, take candlelight—and most women will as it's romantic, softly flattering, adds a soft, warm glow to a room and is generally the bane of every man subjected to the wax light.

HE DOESN'T realize it and personally I didn't either, but this subdued non-glare lighting is promoting the flow of gastric juices and speeding up the reaction of the taste buds. Food served under the glow of tapers will not need so much seasoning because that steak or slice of beef will taste saltier than usual and much more appealing.

"I want to see what I eat," says Pop when I get fancy with the fat candles and exotic holders. He peers suspiciously at every dish and has been known to even use matches or a lighter to dispel the cozy glow.

Most men agree with him. "I don't like the way candles flicker and sizzle," a male dinner guest declared. "I'm always afraid they'll set fire to something." Now I'd say offhand that this fellow's digestive apparatus isn't helped a mite with candlelight if he's going to worry about having to call out the big red fire trucks.

I REMEMBER a summer buffet supper we attended once that was served from a picnic table lighted entirely by candles.

Chafing dishes had small candles busily keeping the contents warm. The coffee slumbered peacefully in the just right heat of a carafe candle. A cluster of fat, red candles of varying sizes with their bottoms incased in red bandanna handkerchiefs cast a soft light over the food laden table. Four anti-bug tapers burned steadily from outside spots at the four corners of the porch.

Baked beans, potato salad and chicken never tasted better—but, shucks, we shouldn't have been so effusive in our compliments of our hostess' cooking—instead we should have complimented her choice of lighting.

SOFT LIGHTS, preferably wax. Muted music, the nonblaring, semi-classical kind are all helpful in savoring the best from our food.

Don't let words like: "What's the matter, Mom, burned the food again," from Son No. 1. "Must be a new dish we're testing," from Pop. "You put mushrooms in the meat again," accusses Son No. 2. Just go ahead and for pleasant digestions and enjoyment turn off the lights and burn candles at the table.

Besides we females are all for candlelight. A gal viewed through the softly flattering candle glow looks younger. Stern lines are softened and eyes take on a sparkle, largeness and long lashed quality hard to find in the Edison's electrically lit brightness.

Anyhow it's romantic so who cares about what affect it has on the way food tastes. Isn't it just nice to see that appreciative look in hubby's eyes as you weave a web of enchantment and magic around that steak and candlelight? (S

Job's Daughters Install 6 Members

Six girls were initiated into Bethel 103, Job's Daughters, Arlington Heights, at the March 27 meeting. The new members are: Linda Faulkner, Elk Grove Village; Susan Brosseit, Janice Randle, Gail Guderley, Carol Malmquist and Karla Koeneke, all of Arlington Heights.

Saturday afternoon a group from the bethel went bowling and then had pizza in the home of Nancy Heilig, honored queen.

MEMBERS are being reminded of two April dates, the first is the stated meeting of April 10. At this time a proficiency test will be conducted by Gayle Johnson, junior past honored queen.

The group will have a yard sale on April 20 at 718 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, beginning at 9 a.m. The Moms and Dads Club will meet the evening before to sort and price the various articles. Sue Livingston, CL 5-1165, may be called for pickup service. (S

April in Kentucky -- Ideal Fare for Fun Vacationing

By JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

"April in Paris" and "April in Portugal" make euphonic song titles, but April in Kentucky is pretty lyrical, too.

Kentucky is not so far away from the Chicago area that it is unfeasible for a trip of only a few days, yet it is far enough south for its spring to be several weeks ahead of ours. It is also far enough south for a drawl to appear in the speech heard on every hand, and a more leisurely pace of living than that to which we midwesterners are perhaps accustomed.

If you can steal away for a few days late in April, plan an unhurried drive down to the blue grass country where the long-legged colts are wobbling around on the white-fenced horse farms near Lexington and the yearlings are exhibiting their beautiful lines and spring-inspired high spirits.

KENTUCKY is a state which takes great and justified pride in its state parks, which subject will be covered in later columns. For this one, sufficient to hint that a good place to enter Kentucky might be at Henderson, just adjacent to Evansville, Ind.

Henderson's Audubon State Park is small in comparison with other Kentucky parks, but it is a little jewel. Set back in the hills, it is not far from the bustling highway yet once inside the park the noise of speeding cars and the exhaust fumes from those cars are soon forgotten.

Log cabins, with kitchens and fireplaces, cluster around a small lake and in April you should have your choice of cabins for an overnight stay. They are far superior, in my opinion, to the neon signs and chrome trimmings of the motels which line the highway nearby. A small museum devoted to the naturalist Audubon and his work is housed in a quaint stone building on the park grounds.

PROCEEDING east from Henderson you'll want to spend a few hours in Bardstown, site of Foster's "Old Kentucky Home," before entering Lexington, the heart of the horse country. There the stones piled up for fences, relics of slave labor, give way to the famed white fences and blue grass which are synonymous with Kentucky. Some of the horse farms allow visitors at certain hours on certain days and a tour is well worth a few hours of your time.

Almost in the exact center of the state is Berea, well known for its unique college. I guess it is possible to pay tuition at Berea College, but the larger part of the student body earns its own way by working in the college-owned industries which make up most of the town. There is a white colonial hotel, staffed by students, with a dining room where real spoon bread always sets me swooning. There is a gift shop where students' handsome handwoven articles and other crafts are exhibited and sold. Make reservations in advance for the hotel and for Sunday dinner in the hotel dining room. In the spring Kentuckians drive for miles for Sunday dinner at Berea.

IF YOU have timed your trip right you should be in the Louisville area around the first Saturday in May—the day for the running of the famed Run for the Roses — the Kentucky Derby.

your return trip, leaving Louisville, you will pass through a beautiful section of southern Indiana, but one which is entirely made up of small farms and tiny towns, with nary a restaurant or motel for miles and miles.

It's a good idea, therefore, to leave Louisville of a morning and plan to arrive in Indiana's famed Brown County and its little town of Nashville for dinner and an overnight stay. Brown County and its rolling hills have been reproduced on hundreds of canvases by the artists who have summer homes in the area. A log cabin restaurant in Nashville serves wonderful hot biscuits and the other items on its menu are usually just as good. (T

Plan Luncheon To Aid Youths

Mrs. Paul C. Johnson, 507 Hillcrest, Prospect Heights, is serving on a committee of the Illinois Lutheran Welfare Association to plan a spring luncheon, fashion show and book review. The affair is set for April 24 at 12:15 p.m. in the Walnut Room of Field's State Street store.

The association is a state-wide child welfare agency providing service in adoption, foster care, counseling parents on the care of their children, aid to unwed mothers and maintenance of a home for adolescent youngsters with emotional problems. (S

Country Club Winter Scene Lends Beauty to Reception

Snow-covered grounds at Old Orchard Country Club provided a breath-taking background for the March 2 wedding reception of the former Sharon Matthiesen and Warren W. Karberg Jr. Following their double ring ceremony in St. Emily Church, Mount Prospect, they welcomed 125 guests to a hot buffet luncheon there, served before a roaring fireplace.

At 2 p.m. that day Rev. John McLoraine united the daughter and son of two Mount Prospect couples — Mr. and Mrs. George J. Matthiesen of 106 N. Maple and the senior Warren W. Karbergs, residents at 529 Pinehurst Drive.

White mums, gladioli and carnations decorated the altar for the candlelight service. Miss Matthiesen, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white chantilly lace. The dress, with scalloped neckline and long sleeves, was designed with a full-hoop skirt. At the back alternating pleated nylon net and lace tiers with fabric roses flowed into a chapel train.

A tiara of pearls and crystals held in place the bride's six-tiered tulle veil, imported from England, and roses and lilies-of-the-valley formed the cascade bouquet.

The bride was attended by Judith Schaefer of Mount Prospect, maid of honor; and bridesmaids, Patricia Bielinski of the same town; and Deborah, her sister, who served as junior attendant. All three carried cascade bouquets of coral carnations. The younger bridesmaid wore a white taffeta dress with a bouffant overskirt of white lace and a headpiece fashioned with white flowers and tulle. Judith and Patricia had parfait coral taffeta dresses of the same design, matching satin shoes and coral tulle and taffeta flowered hats.

Mrs. Matthiesen chose a powder blue silk shantung dress with overlay of blue lace, matching accessories and white carnation corsage. The groom's mother's corsage was identical, and complemented her beige silk shantung gown trimmed with gold, and matching shoes, purse and hat.

TWO MOUNT Prospect men served in the groom's party —Wayne Odom was best man and Gordon Hansen an usher.

Honeymoon destination for the local couple was a two-week stay in Northern Wisconsin, after which they moved into an apartment in Palatine. The bride completed studies at Prospect High School in '62, and the groom graduated from Maine Township High School and Northwestern University.

Frances Roeck, Policeman Wed in Hometown Nuptials

An Arlington Heights pair, Frances Diana Roeck and Gerald Thomas Inch, became man and wife in a candlelight ceremony performed on March 9 by Rev. Robert Bartz of St. Peter Lutheran Church. Vows were exchanged at 5 p.m. and the service was double ring.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roeck of 1318 W. Campbell, chose a turquoise and white color scheme. Before she was escorted to the altar by her father, Donald Herman and Mariann Laseke provided the songs, "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Enhancing the church decor were white gladioli, turquoise carnations and mums, placed at the altar.

WHITE PEAU DE SOIE, reembroidered lace appliques with seed pearls and sequins fashioned Miss Roeck's bridal gown, which was made by her maid of honor, Sandra Shaw of Arlington Heights. The headpiece was a white lace pillbox, embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, and the veil, fingertip.

Completing her ensemble was the bridal bouquet of white orchids and carnations accented with turquoise hyacinth bells.

Five attendants preceded the bride down the aisle, gowned in turquoise chiffon and carrying colonial bouquets of turquoise and white carnations with hyacinth bells. They were Miss Shaw, and bridesmaids, Janice Wise, Park Ridge; and three cousins: Bonnie and Sandra Braunig, Chicago; and Linda Ehlert, also of Park Ridge.

Matching their dresses were pillbox headpieces and shoes, and for contrast, short white gloves.

FOR HER daughter's wedding Mrs. Roeck was attired in a pale yellow peau de soie sheath, matching shoes and flowered hat. She and Mr. Roeck received 200 guests at Old Orchard Country Club later that evening, which featured a smorgasbord and evening of dancing.

Best man was Donald Siebold of Rolling Meadows. Ushers were Dean Roeck, brother of the bride; Jack Weber, John Kaney and Robert Clark, all of Arlington Heights.

After a South Dakota honeymoon where the newlyweds visited the groom's mother, Mrs. E. Inch, at Yankton, they made their first home in Arlington Heights.

The bride is employed at the Randhurst Bank in Mount Prospect and was graduated from Arlington High School. A former student of Northern Illinois University, De Kalb, the groom is with the Arlington Police Department.

Mount Prospect Art Entry Wins First in District

Mrs. Harry Bruhl, art chairman of Mount Prospect Woman's Club, learned this week that the club's entrant, Marcia Johns, 707 Cathy Lane, a Lincoln School pupil, placed first in the district art contest held March 14 in Mozart's High School. This contest was open to seventh and eighth grade students in Seventh District IFWC.

Imagination, originality, neatness, good design, and use of color were considered in the judging. Marcia's winning picture, "City at Night," composed of melted crayon, has been entered in the state art contest to be judged within the next month.

At the district meeting, April 17 in Edison Park, Mrs. Walter Lyman, club president, will receive the award and Mrs. Bruhl will bestow it upon the young artist at a future school assembly.

THE CLUB chorus, under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Kadlack, entertained the Over 50 Club of Arlington Heights March 28.

Mrs. Lyman reports that during the year the club has collected 10 pounds of cancelled stamps to help fight TB in Norway, and donated 250 pieces of jewelry and 15 purses to the Chicago State Hospital for prizes for mental patients.

Cuttings from "The Women" by Claire Booth, and directed by Richard Tyler, will be presented by Arlington Heights Village Theatre at the club luncheon April 23 in Old Orchard Country Club. Mrs. Thomas McCormick, chairman of the annual affair, states that no reservations will be accepted after April 18. Profits from the enterprise will benefit the club's Scholarship Fund. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Thomas McCormick, CL 5-1244 or Mrs. Roy Duda, CL 3-8411.

THE S. C. AMREN residence, 1511 Blackhawk Drive, was the setting March 26, when the Board of Directors and Membership Committee entertained new members at a tea.

Invitations were issued to the following recently accepted members: Mrs. Edward Majircik, Mrs. Charles Homburg Jr., Mrs. Robert A. Williams, Mrs. Stanly Noell, Mrs. James Baker, Mrs. Willard Bartlett, Mrs. William R. Nadel, Mrs. Herbert T. Webb, Mrs. George Strand, Mrs. Maurice Van Eeckhout, Mrs. Otto Zarobsky.

Also Mrs. D. T. Janda, Mrs. Donald Haack, Mrs. V. R. Storey, Mrs. H. O. McDowell Jr., Mrs. Russell E. Anderson, Mrs. Fred Pfeffer, Mrs. E. R. Austerlade, Mrs. Mabel Wagner, and Mrs. Vernon Moore.

A history of the club and a resume of the departments of work were given by Mrs. W. Lyman, president. Also present were five past presidents of the club, Mrs. H. W. Carlson, Mrs. V. F. Bittner, Mrs. L. W. Kester, Mrs. C. H. Cooper and Mrs. H. P. Harnden. (S

Mrs. Hager will address Mount Prospect BPW members at their April 11 meeting and accept for the district a $250 scholarship the club has donated to encourage teachers to take summer courses enabling them to teach exceptional children.

Businesswomen Vote $250 Scholarship

Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club voted recently to award a $250 scholarship to the Northwest Suburban Special Education organization. Purpose of this fund is to grant scholarships to teachers desiring additional study during summer vacations to train as special education teachers, such as for trainable mentally handicapped, educable mentally handicapped and the deaf and blind children in the school districts of Palatine, Elk Grove, Arlington Heights, Wheeling and Mount Prospect area.

Scholarships are being offered only to qualified teachers with at least two years experience in the school district, and the teachers are asked to remain in the district for two years after training.

THE CHECK for this scholarship will be awarded at the next meeting of BPW, Thursday, April 11, in Old Orchard Country Club. Mrs. Phebe Hager, teacher of educable mentally handicapped at Lions Park School, Mount Prospect, will accept the award for the organization, and will address the club telling them about the program.

Mrs. Hager, who received her masters degree from the National College of Education, has been in the EMH program since its inception in the district five years ago.

Marian Baesel, president of BPW, invites professional and business women from the area to attend meetings which are held the second Thursday of every month in Old Orchard Country Club. A social hour from 5:30 to 6:30 precedes dinner. Business women desiring to attend are asked to call either Miss Baesel at CL 3-1332 or membership chairman, Marian Henikin at CL 5-223.

THE CLUB, which will soon celebrate its third anniversary, was organized August 12, 1960 for the purpose of bringing together business women of the Northwest suburban area for their mutual benefit. Besides the $250 scholarship for the district EMH program, the club is also donating $40 to Little City. May 23 the organization is sponsoring "A Night at the Races" at Sportsman's Park, proceeds of which will be used for next year's scholarship fund.

Election of officers for the 1963-64 term will take place at the group's April 11 meeting.(S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

A Charter Member

Dear Peg:

Trite but true, it doesn't seem possible that Megan will be going to high school in September. It seems only a few years ago that. . . . oh well, you know what I mean. . . . anyway no time for reminiscing these days it seems. And so, as an entering freshman, springtime seems to be registration time. After hearing the principal speak about the school, reading the brochure and attending the open house Sunday, I believe we have decided on Carmel High School in Mundelein. It is a Catholic coeducational high school conducted by the Carmelite Fathers and the Sisters of Charity, B.V.M.

We drove out to the school on Sunday. It did seem like a long way to travel by school bus each day, however, I imagine to chattering high school kids the trip to and from will seem short. The school owns 50 acres of rolling countryside on the eastern outskirts of Mundelein. We were quite impressed as we approached the sprawling, one-story brick building. It has the appearance of several buildings, because the classrooms on one side, the auditorium, cafeteria and gym on the other side and the two chapels on either end extend out from what is actually one large rectangle. In the center of the building there will be a patio which will be seen from the windows of the library, the informal lounge and several classrooms. It has a most unusual and attractive design.

Inside, we were impressed by the beautiful simplicity of the modern chapels, the light airy classrooms, the immense gym and large auditorium and the library with its two-story glass windows overlooking the patio. We also noticed the well-equipped science labs and the bright arts and crafts classrooms.

A very new school, much of it is still under construction, but from the architects' pictures of the completed building and landscaping, it promises to be one of the most attractive schools in or around the area. In fact it's so new that Megan will be in the first class of freshman girls to enter — a sort of charter member in the family!

My love,
Patty

Republican Women's Election in April

The nominating committee for the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club was named at the club's regular meeting last Thursday. The election will be held at the April meeting.

Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Bert Jordan of Mount Prospect. Members appointed by the board of directors are Mrs. William Andrew of Prospect Heights, and Mrs. Willis J. Jensen of Arlington Heights.

Representatives from the membership at large are Mrs. Seymour Recht and Mrs. Thomas Caulfield, both of Arlington Heights.

OFFICERS to be elected include vice president, recording secretary, and corresponding secretary. All officers serve for two-year terms.

Plans for a summer theater party and buffet, to be held at Old Orchard Country Club, were announced at the meeting. This is the group's annual fund raising venture. (S

'Medicine Man' Is Next DAR Program

The April meeting of Eli Skinner Chapter DAR meets today, Thursday, at 1 p.m. in Mrs. Gaylord Watland's home at 627 S. Ridge, Arlington Heights. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Frederic Pfeffer of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Thomas Thomas of Arlington Heights.

The program for the afternoon meeting is "Work of the Medicine Man" by Miss Dorothy Stoehr of Chicago.

The nominating committee will also give its report of proposed officers, under direction of Mrs. John V. Bruning.

THE 72nd Continental Congress of the National Society DAR convenes April 15 in Constitution Hall, Washington, D.C.

Newly elected regents from each state will be installed during one of the general sessions. Eli Skinner is permitted one delegate and one alternate to the Congress. Mrs. Arthur E. Cather, regent, has been elected delegate and Mrs. Ruth Oster is alternate. Both are Arlington residents.

The national defense study group of the local chapter will meet April 25 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Oster, 937 N. Chestnut St. Topic of the study is "The Disarmament Plan."(S

THE Golden Years

A PLEA TO RETIRED MEN: "YOUR WIFE IS NO BABY!"

TO THE good, considerate, intelligent—but misguided—husbands, comes this appeal from a retired widow.

And there is sense in what she says.

"I address this to all husbands past age 55 in the belief that most of them are good and loving," she says. "And in the belief that they desire only what is best for their widows in case they die . . ."

Then she proceeds to tell how they are failing and how, oddly, it is the most conscientious husband who fails worst.

"Our four children were married and on their own when my husband died soon after his retirement three years ago. He left his affairs in a manner that is well regarded nowadays in legal and family circles.

"He decreed that everything of value was to be left to me, that I was to have the benefit of it during my lifetime, and that on my death everything was to pass equally to the four children.

"Neat. Proper. Legal. And nice. But did anybody ever bother to ask the widow whether she liked the arrangement.

"As a matter of fact, this particular arrangement hands to a widow the most difficult problem she has ever had to contend with . . . and one she can hardly solve with any peace of mind without dressing in rags.

"Because what the arrangement means is that she is temporary custodian of money and property that go in the end to the children. She only holds it. And while provision is made that she gets the benefits of it—which I presume means she could legally squander it if she chose—what Mother or widow is going to feel free to take benefits? When every benefit she takes means less to go to the children?

"It doesn't matter whether a husband has only a $7,000 house and no will and says 'Mama gets it till she dies,' or whether there is a lot of money involved and everything is spelled out in a fancy will—it comes out the same.

"Every dollar Mama spends means one less dollar for the children. And every good Mama lives constantly under that thought.

"Children, too, I think are good and loving, in the main. They are selfish and grabby, as the young are prone to be. I find nothing distasteful in mine. I believe they would honestly want me to spend freely what Daddy left. I am sure they aren't peeping over fences to see what I do with this dollar or that.

"Still, since they are human, I know they must be as aware as I am of the circumstances.

"If I sold the house, took $2,000 and made a trip to Europe, then came home to live in an apartment, my children wouldn't say anything. But they would think plenty. And if I were one of them I would too.

"So what does a widow left as I was left do? She skimps. She tries very hard to show she is not squandering money. She feels self-conscious everytime she does, or does not, hire repairs made on the house, and every time she takes out her checkbook . . ."

Alpha Gams to Hear Address By Award-Winner Lois Wille

Lois Wille of the Chicago Daily News' editorial department will be featured speaker at the April 9 meeting of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. C. C. Robinson, 212 N. Eastwood, Mount Prospect.

LOIS WILLE

Miss Wille, daughter of the Walter Kroebers of Arlington Heights, joined the Daily News staff in October, 1956. She has won awards from the Juvenile Protection Association, Telegraph Editors Association, and Chicago Welfare Public Relations Forum. In 1958 she was presented the Stick - O - Type Award from the Chicago Newspaper Guild, and in 1959, she was awarded a citation from the Illinois Associated Press.

HER LATEST honor is the Jacob Scher - Theta Sigma Phi Daily News Writing Award. This award was established last year which makes Miss Wille the second person to win the citation. It honors Lois on her 6-part series on "Commitment Procedures" at the Cook County Mental Health Clinic. The series appeared in the Daily News in March, 1962.

Co-hostesses for Tuesday's meeting will be Mrs. D. G. Loew, Mrs. C. F. Beck, and Mrs. J. F. Ulrich, all of Mount Prospect.

New Alpha Gams in the area are welcome to attend the meeting and are asked to contact Mrs. W. F. Davis at LE 7-4204.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

When Kappas meet April 9 in the home of Mrs. Roger F. Dickinson, 806 Lonnquist Pkwy, Mount Prospect, they will hear Mrs. Terrie Wagner of Chicago present "Current Broadway Season," brief reviews of current New York plays, plus a complete summary and dramatization of one play.

Mrs. Wagner was born in Chicago and now lives on the South side as a housewife and mother. She received her BA degree at Rosary College, with a major in speech and drama. Graduate study followed at Northwestern University. Ten years were spent as an English and Speech teacher in the Chicago Public schools. Since high school days she has been an active member of the community theatre having performed major roles in 15 plays.

The dessert meeting will begin at 1 p.m. with the program following. Assisting Mrs. Dickinson will be Mrs. William Van Dyck, Mrs. Douglass Whitehead, Mrs. Gordon Berlin, Mrs. Alan Macdonald and Mrs. Joseph Tolson.

Kappas new to the area may call Mrs. Van Dyck, CL 9-3584, for further information.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

The April 10 meeting of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi will be held in the Mount Prospect home of the president, Mrs. Wilber Mottweiller Jr., 1904 Bonita Drive. The business meeting will begin at 8 p.m. and will be followed by a demonstration on "Sweater Decorating" by one of its members, Mrs. Thomas Moran, who will be using her own original models as examples.

Those interested in attending the meeting and needing transportation may contact Mrs. Ralph McGee, CL 5-5793.

DELTA KAPPA GAMMA

Alpha Psi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma will meet in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Friday evening, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. Martha Stucki of the Social Studies department of Glenbrook High School will be the chairman of the program, "New Frontiers in Teaching," and will honor as guests, members of the Future Teachers of America from area high schools.

Members of Alpha Psi Chapter award an annual scholarship to a deserving high school senior who wishes to enter the teaching profession, and members take this opportunity of acquainting the groups with Delta Kappa Gamma activities. This grant-in-aid is given in memory of Mrs. Josephine Klingler, one of the society's members who was curriculum director of Elk Grove District 59 at the time of her death.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

Lambda Alumnae of Alpha Gamma Delta have set the date of April 6 for their annual dessert-bridge party to be held at the chapter house on the Evanston campus of Northwestern University. As before, proceeds will be donated to the Illinois Children's Hospital in Chicago. Specifically, the money will go to the Activities in Daily Living Fund and will be used for the special individualized equipment needed by cerebral palsied children.

Junior Alums originated the special fund four years ago and have continually supported it through the years. Through the origination of this fund the hospital has been able to interest other donors into establishing their own fund and therefore channeling all the donations of this type into the same purpose: giving aid to the child that has special needs but isn't eligible for such equipment through the normal state and federal grants.

Often the instrument the child needs is so specialized that it usually isn't adapable to other cases, but Alpha Gams feel that this isn't a waste if it can help just one child help himself.

DESSERT WILL be served at 1:30 followed by cards which will be interrupted with a wig demonstration. Mrs. Robert Burhop of Mount Prospect is special arrangements chairman.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Mrs. Norval Blair Stephens Jr., 402 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, will represent Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club of Kappa Alpha Theta as delegate when she attends the fraternity's district II convention, April 5 to 7 in Evanston. Other Thetas attending the 3-day convention from this area will be Mrs. David Gow, Mrs. A. M. Johnston and Mrs. Wilbur Daeschner, all of Arlington Heights.

Highlights of the convention will be a luncheon at the recently enlarged and redecorated Theta Chapter House on Northwestern University campus and a banquet on Saturday evening, April 6th, at the North Shore Hotel in Evanston.

Major service project of Kappa Alpha Theta is support of the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, center for dealing with speech defects. The Foster Parent's Plan is also a part of Theta's philanthropic program.

DELTA ZETA

Art will be the subject of Delta Zeta's guest speaker April 9 when members of Arlington Heights Area Alumnae Chapter meet in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. R. William Elam, 1501 E. Euclid.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. and reservations can be made by calling 392-2960.

Members of the Arlington Heights group recently dyed materials for a display to be used in the new museum to be open next August in Mississippi Palisades State Park.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Mrs. George R. Busse of Mount Prospect will be in attendance at the 16th biennial Illinois State Day of Delta Delta Delta Saturday, April 20, in Olympia Fields, Ill. Mrs. Busse is president of the Chicago Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter. (S

DES PLAINES SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION

Home Mortgage Loans - Savings Accounts insured up to $10,000 by Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp. of Washington, D. C.

The first Savings and Loan Association was founded in 1831. From that single, small association, the savings and loan business has grown in size until it is now one of the nation's leading financial operations.

Des Plaines Savings & Loan Association, 781 Pearson St., Des Plaines, Illinois, is very much a humane organization. There is real warmth and friendliness in their attitude toward customers and they do have a sincere desire to help you follow a plan of systematic savings that will return you liberal dividends, year after year.

An official of a savings and loan association has no greater foresight than any other businessman. But his contacts with many people give him a complete view of business conditions than can be of benefit to you.

The officers and directors of this institution are local people and sympathetic to the Home Financing needs of this area.

Des Plaines Savings & Loan Association offers modern, courteous service, and facilities for Mortgage Loans and Insured Savings Accounts that pay dividends at the rate of 4¼ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually . . .

For April 9 Feasting

Chicken and Valencias A Fine Passover Entre

This year on April 9 when Passover starts at sundown, Jewish families everywhere will gather around the Seder table and with ceremony, song and symbol, celebrate the deliverance of the Jews from Egyptian bondage over 3,000 years ago.

PARTICIPATING households at this season are seemingly turned upside down, for the feasting period brings many changes in the usual homemaking routine. Special kitchen utensils, silver, china and glassware are taken out of wraps for the celebration. Specific attention must be given to meals, for Passover foods have definite restrictions.

Matzos, the unleavened bread, is a symbolic food, and different ways of utilizing the matzo meal provide menu variety.

Florida Valencia oranges, now in the market, give sweet, refreshing flavor to this recipe for Holiday Orange Chicken. Pieces of the fowl are dipped in matzo meal, then browned and cooked in Florida orange juice, orange slices and prunes for a delicious, economical dish.

Reconstituting frozen Florida orange juice concentrate is a simple way of preparing the juice required in this recipe. Despite the slightly higher prices on frozen concentrate, it is still your best citrus buy for healthful vitamin C.

HOLIDAY ORANGE CHICKEN

1 egg
1 tablespoon water
½ cup matzo meal
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 fryer chicken, cut in pieces
¼ cup oil
1⅓ cups Florida orange juice
8 to 12 prunes
1 Florida orange, thinly sliced

Beat egg and water together. Miz matzo meal, salt and pepper. Dip chicken pieces in egg mixture; roll in matzo meal to coat. Brown chicken pieces on all sides in hot oil in skillet.

Add orange juice and prunes. Cover and simmer 30 minutes, basting chicken occasionally. Add orange slices and continue cooking 10 minutes longer or until chicken is done. Yield: three to four servings. (SH

CHICKEN PIECES DIPPED in matzo meal and cooked with Florida orange juice and slices make an appetizing entree to feature for Passover.

Chocolate Layer Cake From Land of Bananas

While the banana family is native to Southeastern Asia, the big, delicious banana which reaches our produce counter today is a Middle American discovery. It is the descendant of a "sport," discovered on the island of Martinique in 1836, by a Jamaican planter named Pouyat.

A "sport" is a new variety of plant which just happens. No one knows why or how. When M. Pouyat spotted this handsome fruit—large, yellow and very sweet, he promptly dug up the plant and took it back to Jamaica. He also named it after himself, the Banana Pouyat.

The name didn't stick, however, for some time in the last 127 years the name was changed to "Gros Michel."

Gros Michel is the most prolific, commercially most important of Western Hemisphere bananas. Millions of bunches of Gros Michel go to all parts of the world. Millions of additional bunches are consumed right on the spot, in banana-growing countries and islands of the Caribbean. Another important variety (Number two in production in the Americas) is the Cavendish, a delicious, high quality fruit.

HOME ECONOMISTS of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association bring us these tested recipes from the banana lands. From Jamaica, a Banana Chocolate cake — two chocolate and banana layers, topped with Viennese Mocha Frosting. From this same beautiful island also, the recipe for delectable meringue shells filled with mashed bananas and whipped cream.

From Haiti, sauteed Bananas au Rhum. This should be served cold and may, if desired, be topped with vanilla ice cream. From the Lesser Antilles the idea of crushing bananas and adding lemon juice and water to make an easy and delicious accompaniment for meat or poultry.

No matter how prepared, the banana is not only noted for the pleasure it gives the consumer, but for its high nutritional value. Banana carbohydrates are virtually all in the form of fruit sugars which are 96 to 99.5 per cent utilizable by the body. The bland, smooth flesh of bananas is ideal for persons of all ages from the infant to the very old. And the banana fits ideally into either a low sodium or low fat diet.

BANANA CHOCOLATE CAKE

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
⅝ teaspoon soda
1½ cups sugar
2 large eggs
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 cup mashed bananas, (about 3½)
¾ cup sour milk
Viennese Mocha Frosting

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Set aside. Mix together shortening and soda. Gradually blend in sugar. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Melt chocolate over hot water and stir into sugar mixture along with pure vanilla extract. Add half the sifted dry ingredients and bananas. Stir in remaining flour alternately with sour milk.

TURN INTO two well-greased lightly floured 9-inch round layer cake pans. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Turn out on wire racks to finish cooling. Spread Viennese Mocha Frosting between layers and over top and sides.

This cake is more moist and is of better flavor if it is made one to two days before serving. Yield: One 9-inch cake.

VIENNESE MOCHA FROSTING

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons water
2 large egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter or margarine
1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate, melted
1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 teaspoon instant coffee

Place sugar, water, egg whites and salt in the top of a double boiler. Place over hot water and beat seven minutes or until mixture stands in stiff peaks. Remove from heat, cover with a damp cloth and let stand until completely cold. Soften butter or margarine and blend in melted chocolate and pure vanilla extract and coffee.

FOLD, ABOUT ¼ of the mixture at a time, into the cooked frosting, being sure it is well blended. Spread between two 9-inch layer cakes and over top and sides. Yield: Sufficient frosting for tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

BANANA MERINGUES

1/8 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract
Banana Cream
Ground nutmeg

Add salt to egg whites and beat them until foamy. Add cream of tartar and continue beating until egg whites stand in stiff peaks. Beat in sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, and pure vanilla extract. Continue beating until egg whites form very, very stiff peaks. (This step is important for successful meringues.)

TRACE 3-INCH circles on brown paper with a pencil. Spread each with the beaten egg whites ¼-inch thick. With a spoon or pastry bag, build a border around each to a height of 1½ inches, leaving the center unfilled. Place paper on a baking pan. Bake in a preheated very slow oven (250 degrees) 1¼ hours.

Turn off heat and cool meringues in the oven 30 minutes. Remove from oven. Place meringues on a wire rack to finish cooling. To serve, peel meringues from paper and fill with Banana Cream. Garnish with a sprinkle of ground nutmeg.

BANANA CREAM

3 medium ripe bananas
1½ tablespoons fresh lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Peal bananas and slice into the lemon juice. Add salt. Mash until smooth. Fold in confectioners' sugar, pure vanilla extract and whipped cream. Turn into ice cube trays. Freeze. Remove from freezer about 30 minutes before serving to allow cream to soften. Spoon into meringue shells. Yield: 6 servings.

BANANES AU RHUM

6 large ripe bananas
¼ cup hot olive oil or melted butter or margarine
½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract
3 tablespoons rum or cooking sherry
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Peel bananas and cut each into four lengthwise slices. Saute in hot olive oil or butter. Drain on paper towels. Cool. Place bananas in a serving dish. Blend pure vanilla extract with rum or sherry and pour over bananas. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve cold as dessert. If desired, top with vanilla ice cream. Yield: 6 servings.

PUREE DE BANANES VERTES

6 large firm green bananas
Fresh lemon juice
1 cup boiling water

Peel bananas and scrape the entire surface. Brush well with fresh lemon juice and cook in boiling water 10 minutes or until they are tender. Drain and mash. Serve as an accompaniment to meat or poultry. Yield: 1½ cups or 6 servings. (SH

Dinner for Two Special

Ham, Asparagus Head Springtime Favorites

Easter dinner for a young couple might well be the traditional ham, but in their case a ham steak slice for two and asparagus with cheese sauce makes a simple dinner even a new bride can prepare. These springtime favorites are so good they warrant frequent serving; no point limiting them to a holiday.

A tangy glaze that lifts ham steak out of the ordinary is easily made with golden beer or ale, brown sugar and prepared mustard. Beer and ale are interchangeable in recipes; some people simply prefer the more tart flavor of ale.

A RICH, mellow Welsh Rabbit Sauce is just the thing to serve over that favorite of spring vegetables, asparagus. The best rabbits have beer or ale as an ingredient which enhances the cheese flavor with a subtle tang, and makes this sauce a luscious topping for the green vegetable.

GLAZED HAM STEAK

1½ inch thick slice ready-to-eat ham
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
¼ cup beer or ale

Slash fat edges of ham to prevent curling. Place in heavy skillet; do not add fat or water. Pan broil slowly about five minutes on each side or until meat is browned. Combine brown sugar, mustard and beer and spread part of mixture over surface of ham.

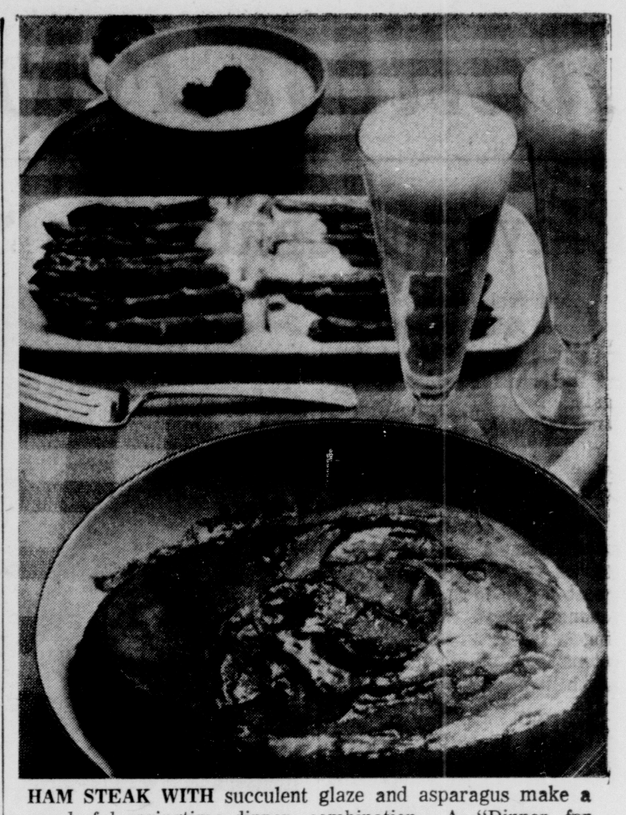
Turn ham in skillet and spread with remaining glaze. Cook over low heat about two minutes longer on each side. Yield: six servings.

ASPARAGUS—WELSH RABBIT SAUCE

1 tablespoon butter
1 pound Cheddar cheese, grated
½ cup beer or ale
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon salt
2 pounds fresh cooked asparagus or 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen asparagus, cooked

Place butter and grated cheese in top of double boiler over hot, not boiling, water. As cheese begins to melt, gradually stir in beer. Cook only until smooth and hot.

Stir in Worcestershire, Tabasco and salt and serve over hot cooked asparagus. Yield: 4 to 6 servings. (SH



HAM STEAK WITH succulent glaze and asparagus make a wonderful springtime dinner combination. A "Dinner for Two" special menu for young cooks and the young at heart.

Kite Fans Cautioned By Expert

Kite flyers, take care!

There's more fun and less danger in chasing the clouds when you string along with safety, says Public Service Company.

Richard J. Seitz, District Superintendent of the utility offers these suggestions:

1) Fly kites only in open spaces, away from traffic, trees, poles or wires.

2) Use string, not wire, and do not use metal in any part of the kite.

3) Never fly a kite in an electrical storm.

4) Abandon the kite rather than risk injury by climbing a pole or tree to retrieve it. (A14

Young America Bakes

Philadelphia Sticky Buns

FAMOUS ROLLS EASY TO MAKE

Of all homemade yeast breads, perhaps the recipe attempted with most misgivings by young cooks is the one for Philadelphia Sticky Buns.

There's no need for hesitation, however, in trying these famous rolls, for they're prepared in basically the same way as a simpler dough.

THERE'S MORE fun than fuss in dressing them up in their traditional brown sugar-pecan topping—which becomes a topping only after the rolls are taken from the oven and turned upside down.

If you'd like to prepare and freeze them beforehand for a a special-occasion breakfast or brunch, return the rolls to the pans after they're cold, freezerwrap and freeze.

To reheat them, cover the tops of rolls in pans with foil and heat in a 375 degree oven about 15 minutes.

TOPSY-TURVY BUNS from Philadelphia are baked with brown sugar-pecan topping in bottom of pans. Buns are inverted while cooling.

PHILADELPHIA STICKY BUNS

¾ cup milk
⅓ cup sugar
1¼ teaspoons salt
½ cup (1 stick) margarine
½ cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
3 eggs, beaten
5 cups unsifted flour (about)
¾ cup margarine, softened
2 cups dark brown sugar
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
¾ cup light corn syrup
6 tablespoons margarine

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl; sprinkle or crumble in yeast; sitr until dissolved.

ADD LUKEWARM milk mixture, eggs, and half of the flour; beat 2 minutes at medium speed with electric mixer, or 300 vigorous strokes with spoon. Stir in enough additional flour with a spoon to make soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly-floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about ¾ hour.

WHILE DOUGH is rising, prepare pans. Spread 4 tablespoons of soft margarine in each of three 8-inch round pans; sprinkle ½ cup brown sugar and 1/3 cup pecans in each pan. Pour ¼ cup syrup into each pan

Punch dough down and turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide into three parts. Roll each part into 9 by 5-inch rectangle and spread each with remaining 2 tablespoons softened margarine; sprinkle with remaining brown sugar.

Roll each up from long side and cut into 9 slices. Arrange 9 rolls in each pan, cut sides up. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about ½ hour.

BAKE IN A hot oven (400 degrees) about 25 minutes, or until done. Cool in pans 10 minutes; invert onto plates to finish cooling To freeze, return to pans when cold, freezerwrap and freeze.

To reheat, cover tops of rolls in pans with foil and heat in 375 degree oven about 15 minutes. Makes 27 rolls.

Flavor Elegance In Salad Athena

There's real flavor elegance in Walnut Salad Athena, a new recipe from the Diamond Walnut Kitchen. It's perfect for entertaining whenever you want a different, tasty meatless main dish salad, and is ideal for family menus, too. Serve it very cold and crisp.

You'll like the crunchy Diamond Walnuts combined with prawns or shrimp, interesting spices and a tangy lemon herb dressing. Serve Walnut Salad Athena with a soup beginner course, hot muffins and jam, and fruit pie for dessert.

WALNUT SALAD ATHENA

2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon dried rosemary, finely crumbled
1 cup walnuts, large pieces or halves
Lemon Herb Dressing
2 cups cooked, cleaned prawns, or large shrimp (fresh, frozen or canned)
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
2 tablespoons finely chopped chives or green onion
Crisp salad greens
6 radishes, whole or sliced
6 pitted ripe olives, whole or sliced
6 pitted stuffed green olives, whole or slices
½ cup small pickled onions
3 medium firm ripe tomatoes, cut in wedges
¾ cup crumbled Feta or cubed Jack cheese

Melt butter with rosemary in heavy skillet; add walnuts. Heat, stirring now and then, over low heat until walnuts are lightly toasted, about 10 minutes. Remove and cool.

Pour herb dressing over prawns or shrimp. Add parsley and chives or green onion; mix gently, cover and marinate in refrigerator an hour or longer.

When ready to assemble salad, line chilled serving dish with crisp salad greens. Toss all remaining ingredients together with prawns and marinate until well mixed. Arrange on greens. Makes six servings.

Lemon Herb Dressing: Measure into a jar ½ cup olive oil, ½ cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt, ¼ teaspoon seasoned pepper, 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder, ½ teaspoon dried oregano, ½ teaspoon dried marjoram. Cover and shake until well blended.

Chicken Cacciatore Has Enticing Sauce

by LOIS SEILER

Mrs. Marvin P. Schramm of Palatine does a lot of cooking for men and enjoys it! Her husband often brings home business acquaintances for dinner (sometimes on short notice) and Mrs. Schramm welcomes the opportunity to delve into a cook book and busy herself with some gourmet dish.

"There is nothing more satisfying than cooking for men," says this accomplished cook. "They eat heartily, and so thoroughly enjoy good food."

Mrs. Schramm admits being partial to Italian food, and one of her specialties is Chicken Cacciatore. She uses Francois Pope's recipe, made with an enticing sauce which makes this recipe different from all others.

The chicken is browned, seasoned well with garlic and oregano, and simmered in tomato juice and a bit of wine. Mushrooms are added, and the chicken is served with Sauce Cacciatore, a savory well-seasoned tomato sauce which is poured over all.

"As accompaniments I serve buttered spaghetti, a green salad tossed with an oil and vinegar dressing, Italian bread and sticks, and a dish heaped with Italian relishes," Mrs. Schramm said.

"Because this dish is rich, a light dessert is desirable," she continued. Her choice would be spomoni, tortoni, or small slices of cheese cake.

"CHICKEN Cacciatore freezes beautifully—sauce and all," Mrs. Schramm commented. She freezes it in a covered casserole and reheats it in the oven.

Another of Pope's recipes which Mrs. Schramm especially likes is an elegant tea time treat called Marzipan Slices.

"Although this secipe takes time to prepare, it is well worth the effort for special occasions," this good cook commented.

Made in four layers, these delicious slices have a white cookie base, a tinge of red from a thin layer of raspberry jam, a pale green marzipan filling and a chocolate frosting.

They are attractive and colorful in appearance and dress up a cookie tray. Mrs. Schramm always includes them in an assortment of Christmas cookies, and she has served the slices for church teas and other festive events. "They can be cut into diamond, square or rectangular shapes," Mrs. Schramm said, "and they freeze well, too."

The Schramms moved from Milwaukee to their home at 1312 Joan Drive in Winston Park five years ago. They have a daughter, Janet, who teaches school in Racine. Mrs. Schramm is vice-president of the Women's Association of the Palatine Presbyterian Church.

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

4 chicken breasts
2 tablespoons butter
1 clove garlic, cut fine
1 whole pimiento, cut in 1-inch squares
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon black pepper
About 1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons Marsala wine or sherry combined with ¼ cup tomato juice
¼ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced thick
2 tablespoons butter

Heat butter and brown chicken on all sides, having flame moderately high. Sprinkle with above ingredients, except the mushrooms. Saute mushrooms in the last 2 tablespoons butter and set aside.

Cover skillet or saucepan and simmer about 30 minutes for frying chicken, 60 minutes for roasting chicken, or until fork tender, adding more wine or tomato juice if chicken appears dry. Turn chicken several times while cooking.

When chicken is tender, pour over it the cupful of fresh, sauteed mushrooms. Cover again and continue to cook for about five minutes. Cook uncovered for last few minutes if there is too much moisture. Serves 4. Serve with the following Sauce Cacciatore:

2 tablespoons butter
1 medium onion, cut in ¼-inch squares
1 very small fresh green pepper, cut in ½-inch squares
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons Italian cheese
1 cup solid Italian-style canned tomatoes
2 tablespoons finely-cut parsley

Heat butter until quite hot. Add onion and green pepper; saute about five minutes. Then add tomatoes, crushed with hands into medium-size pieces, and seasonings, Simmer, uncovered, for about 15 minutes or until mixture is quite thick.

When chicken is tender, arrange on platter or serving dish. Pour any remaining ingredients from cooking over it and cover with Sauce Cacciatore. Serve with buttered spaghetti.

MARZIPAN SLICES

½ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup granulated sugar
1 egg yolk
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 cups silfted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup seedless raspberry jam

With electric mixer or spoon, cream butter thoroughly. Add sugar a little at a time and beat well. Add vanilla.

Combine egg yolk and milk and mix well with a fork. Add to batter alternately with the flour and soda which have been sifted together, forming a very soft dough that can be spread with hand into a baking sheet.

Pat and spread dough, using hand, into a lightly-greased baking sheet, 10x14 inches, having dough come up to the top on all sides. Place waxed paper and another flat pan over dough and press down to flatten dough evenly. Remove paper and upper pan. Place pan with dough in refrigerator while preparing fillings.

With a fork, beat the raspberry jam until smooth. Pour jam onto chilled dough and spread as evenly and smoothly as possible, using a fork. Prepare the following almond paste filling:

1 egg white, unbeaten
¾ cup commercial almond paste (½ pound)
⅓ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons soft butter
3 whole eggs
Few drops green food coloring

Add unbeaten egg white to almond paste and cream with electric mixer. Add granulated sugar, a little at a time, vanilla, soft butter and three eggs, one at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Last, add a few drops green food coloring. If mixture appears lumpy, it is better to put it through a food mill or strainer.

Pour green mixture over layer of jam and spread gently with a fork, so as not to disturb bottom layer.

Bake at 350 degrees for about 35 to 40 minutes, or until delicately brown and just firm to the touch. When it is done, remove from oven and place on a cake cooler and let stand until absolutely cold. When cold, spread with the following fudge frosting:

6 tablespoons butter
2 squares chocolate
¼ cup coffee cream
2 heaping cups confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

In top of a double boiler, melt chocolate and butter. Add sugar and cream and mix well. Cook for 10 minutes. Remove from fire; add vanilla. Beat slightly to remove intense heat. Spread over cooled cookies. Cut into diamond shapes, squares or slices. (SH

Week's Best Food Values

Promotional price levels continue dramatically low for selected beef, pork and poultry, reports the University of Illinois for the market week of April 1-6.

General price levels are holding firm, eggs are cheaper and roasting chickens are rising in supply at less than year ago prices, with turkey slated for a drop in price soon.

CITRUS FRUITS hold high, but many values are listed on the April claendar of produce values of foods in peak supply: fruits, avocados, bananas, pineapples, pears, rhubarb and strawberries; vegetables, anise, artichokes, asparagus, beets, broccoli, cabbage, sprouts, carrots, celery, dandelions, endive, green beans, lettuce, horseradish, mushrooms, peas, radishes, shallots, spinach, sweetcorn, turnip greens and watercress.

Fears Rush For Birth Certificates

Cook County Clerk [illegible] d J. Barrett has appealed to all parents who are enrolling their children in school for the first time to secure their birth certificates now.

Schools in Cook County are enrolling first-year students now for the fall term in September.

Barrett urged parents to come to the Vital Statistics Department of his office on the 2nd floor at 130 N. Wells St., now, to secure their children's birth certificates, thereby avoiding unavoidable delay through a late rush. (A-14

Cast Excellent

'Rainmaker' Play A Dramatic Cloudburst

by JIM PHILLIPS
Drama Critic

A wonderful thing happened last Friday night in Dempster Junior High School Auditorium: Masque and Staff's production of N. Richard Nash's "The Rainmaker."

A terrible thing happened last Friday night in Dempster Junior High School Auditorium: the cast almost outnumbered the audience. And this is one of those mystifying facets of suburban theatrical life that once-in-awhile erupts, causing bewilderment and disappointment.

AGAIN, DUE to a thoroughly well - directed well - produced dramatic offering, M&S has proved worthy of attention by not only the citizens of Elk Grove Village, but by the rest of the Paddock population.

Of course, "Rainmaker" is one of those simple, warm touches of life that will leave its mark on an audience—depending upon intelligent handling by the director.

And Shirley Johnson, who seemed to know exactly what should have been conveyed, also showed a marked talent for being critical of staging as well as interpretation. Her sensible attitude was as evident in the easier scenes (the opening moments of the play) as it was in the more difficult scenes (the fistic exchange in the sheriff's office).

PRODUCER Liz Brodersen made "Rainmaker" an organized, smooth-running machine, oiled by such positive lubricants as a well-constructed set which was tastefully decorated, makeup which was "natural," costumes which were properly unpretentious, and lighting and sound which were accurate and well-timed.

I found the cast nothing short of excellent. Sollace Hotze's Liz Curry was one of those rare examples of an actress becoming more her character with every passing minute of the play. Although at times her motion of letting her arms fall against her hips in "defeat and discouragement" got to be too much of a habit, Miss Hotze's general talent for sqeezing every ounce of warmth out of the part made up for any shortcomings.

Her "moment of love" with Jim Spahr (Starbuck, the Rainmaker) in Act Two was one of the finest interpretations of the scene I've ever witnessed in Community Theatre. Mr. Spahr was successful because he never let himself become a carnival barker, as so many actors have done with this particular role.

HE BROUGHT forth the "con man" in a way which was believable. And therefore, swung the audience to quick sympathy and attention.

Guy Kowalski (Pop Curry) was, at times, a little slow in picking up his lines—but he mastered the characterization. He is a big man with a big voice, and ironically he didn't permit that voice to make Pop Curry a blustering, overbearing father.

Bob Johnson (Noah Curry) was just right in the "nasty" department. Mr. Johnson, like his colleagues, remained human enough, however, to give another shot in the arm to the believability angle. Fred Brodersen (Jim Curry) was in fine form as the young whippersnapper of the family. Mr. Brodersen had most of the funny lines, and gave them every sensible aid in his acting book, from cigar smoke-blowing right down to brow-wrinkling.

THE ROLE of File was played by Guy Marsh — and if Mr. Marsh continues to analyze his part as well as he must have analyzed this one, he will do M & S proud. In particular, the "dog" scene in the Sheriff's office with Earl Marshall (Sheriff Thomas) was a real triumph. And it's brief scenes like that one which are, at times, overlooked as unimportant by directors. The timing, line exchange, and comic mood of the scene was a pleasant blend with the talented writing of Richard Nash.

And, back to the acting category, Mr. Marshall's portrayal of the sheriff was just another positive point to add to the whole proceedings.

All the wonderful accomplishments M & S managed Friday night certainly couldn't be accidents—there was hard work involved.

I GET the idea that this group doesn't just "up and do a play." Their productions, for the most part, show some detailed attention to organization and the discussion of roles and how they are to be played.

If this isn't the case, then I will be the first on the doorstep to find out what M & S producers and directors (in particular, Miss Broderson and Miss Johnson) are doing.

As to the audience following M & S is getting—I think it's pathetic. Not only that, but it reeks of disinterest on the part of not only Elk Grove Village, but every doggone suburb in Paddockland that claims it is interested in Community Theatre.

THIS IS NO time to have foolish pride—this is a time to get out of your particular town and away from your own local theater productions and "see what the others are accomplishing for a change." In fact, it is surprising to me that more members of other theater groups aren't making the rounds to "spy" on the compeition!

M & S will stage two more cloudbursts on Friday and Saturday night. If you haven't anything to do, put on your raincoat and take a run out to Dempster Junior High School.

'Winning' Films Told For Clark

Award winning films highlight the April schedule at the Clark theatre, 11 N. Clark St., Chicago.

The Russian film "Summer of Happiness" will share the bill with "Naked Night" Sunday. "Summer of Happiness," a Cannes Film Festival winner, is the story of a small boy on a Russian collective farm.

"Two for the Seesaw" will be shown on Saturday, April 20, featuring Shirley MacLaine in the role gaining her nomination as best actress of the year. Sharing the bill will be "Period of Adjustment" based on the Tennessee Williams play.

TWO BRITISH award films will be shown as part of the Sunday Guild Programs. "A Kind of Loving" shares the bill with a Japanese film, "Odd Obsession" on Sunday, April 21.

The following Sunday, April 28, "Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner" ("Rebel With a Cause") is featured with "Kill or Cure" starring the English comedian Terry-Thomas.

"Judgement at Nuremberg," nominated as Best Movie of 1961, will be shown on Saturday, the 27th, along with the Peter Sellers comedy short, "Case of the Mukkinese Battlehorn."

Suburb Talent Show Set by BOB Players

Over 60 members of the Best Off Broadway Theater group have made themselves available for talent shows which have been given throughout the northwest suburban area.

Most recent appearances were given for the Exemptor's Club of Chicago, United Citizens of Palatine political dance, Palatine Masonic Lodge 314, and Flexonic Industries of Elgin.

Tom Ellison, 617 W. Main St., Barrington, says, "Our group is deep in talent and our shows are tailored to the requests of these engaging us. We have fun shows, comedy shows and variety shows.

"OUR VOICES range from operatic soprano to blues to musical comedy type selections. I am happy to see these talent shows continue even while the group is busy preparing its next hit, 'Silk Stockings.'

"We welcome new people to our talent group. Anyone with ability and a desire to perform year around or occasionally would be greeted with open arms."

Best Off Broadway also engages in promotional shows at the times of their productions. Songs and dance routines are taken from the current shows and so produced for an evening of free entertainment.

Anyone wishing further information regarding the talent or promotion shows should call Tom Ellison, director of talent shows, DU 1-1980 or June Postweiler, coordinator of shows, CL 5-4288. (Bill

Art Center Slates Talk By Painter

Vincent O'Connor will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Countryside Art Center at 8 p.m. today, Thursday, in the Pioneer Park fieldhouse.

O'Connor will give a lecture and demonstration of protrait painting.

He has studied under such artists as Alice Jacob, Andrew Loomis, and Sudduth Goff, and his art career has included teaching both in Ireland and in the United States.

AT THE present time he teaches in his Elmhurst studio and at the Palette and Chisel Academy in Chicago.

The artist, who works with oils, watercolors, and pastels, has exhibited his work widely and recently won the Palette and Chisel's silver medal for one of his works.

Thursday's meeting will be open to the public. The Pioneer Park Fieldhouse is located at 500 S. Fernandez in Arlington Heights. (Bill

Does This Make Sense?
If we make wills and plan for retirement years ahead, why not also plan funeral arrangements in advance of need?
More families are using our Pre-Arrangement Plan than ever before in our thirty-five years of service.
Ask us about it. There is no obligation.

The Most Amazing Discovery

of human experience is that God loves us. So great is the measure of His love that Jesus Christ, His Son, died to give us a place in heaven. Share the joy of this discovery with us at our church this Sunday. "God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved." John 3.17

An 'A-jestment' Review

Ol' Tenny Writes Himself A Comic Play of Ol' South

by JIM PHILLIPS
Dramatic Critic

Waaal, snap mah suspenders and skim mah milk, if it ain't that whip-crackin', type-writin', Son O' The Ol' South, Mistah Tennessee Williams! And look what he's gone an' done! He's type-writ a play and he's callin' it his first comedy-like drama!

It's got one o' them fancy educational-like names, too: "Period of A-jestment." Now, lemme tell y'all 'bout this here story.

It all takes place right down where Tennessee jes loves to write 'bout. The South—yessir. Now, when ah sat down in mah chair in that there Country Club The-ater, ah was all set to give out with a hoop-and-a-holler—cause ah know'd it was s'posed to be one of them there funny stories like everybody said it was gonna be.

Waaal, as the whole durn thing turned out, ah couldn't hardly tell whether there was anythin' to knee-slap 'bout, 'cause no matta how ah squirmed and scratched an' kept the wax kinda clear 'o my ear drums, ah still didn't hear anythin' which'd put a itch in my long-johns.

FACT 'O THE matter is that this here play put one feller in the audience as sound to sleep as a hog layin' in the mud after feedin' time! An' another feller who was tryin' to get to the privy durin' the intra-mission time was complainin' that he swore'd he jes' 'bout didn't make it 'cause the first act was so long with all that unnecessary talkin'.

Waaal, as it turned out, ah didn't see much point to th whole shootin' match 'till the very last act. Right then'n there, everythin' Tennessee was a-tryin' to say all night long finally got jes' as clear as creek water after you let it set fer a spell. Nope—ah had to agree—po' ol' Tennessee jes' isn't befittin' to be one o' them comedy-like story-tellers.

'CAUSE WHEN AH got to thinkin' 'bout all them characters runnin' 'round the stage drinkin', shoutin', and swearin' and makin' all that philos—philosophosyical — waal, you know what 'tis when them people start in a-talkin' funny, like they wasn't more'n four swigs away from finishin' the whole jug—like ah say, when I got to thinkin' 'bout all them people and what they was doin' ah finally decided that po' ol' Tennessee was right back writin' 'bout the same people and the same problems he's always been writin' 'bout.

Lookahere now—don't misconstruct me. Ah don't mean that them Country Club Theatre people didn't do a rightly job. This here fella Gordon Oas-Heim was jes as fast-movin' and ex-citin' as a tick on a hog's back. An' can that boy put away the beer!

AND THE GIRL who was playin' the part o' that Southern belle who's s'posed to be kinda un-educated 'bout love-makin' an' all—Ann Gordon ah guess is her name—waaal, ah'd pour her cider at the country social any time!

There's another feller called Ed Albrecht who was jes doin' a real chicken-pluckin' job as the feller what married up to Miss Gordon—in the play, ah mean! And there was a few ladies by the names o' Winifred Landis, Kathryn Darrell, and Patti Beegun. And they all seemed to know jes what was goin' on enough to keep the whole story kinda alive and that.

Near the end o' the play, there's a po-leeceman what makes his entrance. In real life, he's called Norman Rice and he's the po' feller who didn't get but one or two lines—and ah thought to mahself "That po', po' man comin' all the way out to the country and all and havin' no chance to give any speeches of the like."

AN' STITCH MAH britches, ah almos' fergot 'bout Harry Perlman, the feller who was spos'd to be one o' them mean, ol' people what Tennessee likes to bring into his stories when things is gettin' as hot as bacon grease on the scrambled eggs. Waaal, he got so mean durin' one time there, he near forgot what he's suppos'd to say—now don't that just take the skin off'n the cat?

Waaal, like ah said afore—this here Tennessee Williams story is sure familiar—but ah reckon the crowds won't notice it too much—'specially if'n they fall into sleepin' 'fore the last act.

Mr. Ted Liss—he's the feller who tells the people on the stage where to go and what to do—Mr. Liss was kinda smart by tryin' to get Tennessee's "Period of A-jestment" into the country ahead o' the other theatres hereabouts.

It's jes too bad that po' ol' Tennessee type-write himself such a herd of words 'bout somethin' he's type-write afore, an' that he was tryin' to be funny-like when he's as cut out for funny writin' as a mule is fer harness racin'. (Bill

Thomas Sheen

Organ Society Plans Guest Organist Show

Thomas Sheen, a teacher and demonstrator for the Electro-voice Company of Chicago, will be guest organist April 9 at the 8 p.m. meeting of the Northwest Chapter of the Hammond Organ Society at the Lyon and Healy store, 708 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights.

Sheen has represented several electronic organ companies in concerts throughout the country. He recorded a theatre pipe organ album recently in New York entitled "Invitation to an Organ Concert."

ADDITIONALLY he has played in the Chicago area and Washington, D.C., supper clubs. He headed his own weekly radio show in Prairie du Chien, Wis., where he also was organist and choir master during his high school years.

In January, as part of the Allen County (Ohio) Historical Society's annual meeting, Sheen provided musical background for a showing of the silent film classic "Phantom of the Opera."

Society President Paul W. Trava indicates a professional photographer will be at the meeting to take a group picture of club members. Active and inactive members are urged to attend the meeting since the group photo will be published in the June issue of the "Hammond Times," official publication of the organ company.

The public is invited to attend the session and avail themselves of an opportunity to meet club officers and members. Additional information about the society may be obtained by phoning Secretary Wilma Kups at CL 3-1599. (Bill

Art Works Shown At Country Club

An art exhibit of works from the Adele Rosenberg Gallery, 931 Linden, Winnetka, is on display at the Country Club Theatre, in the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand and Euclid, Prospect Heights.

Apermanent feature of the Country Club theatre, the current art exhibit displays water colors by Hugo Mazzini, oils by Giovanni Pontini and Jerome Walker, and collage by Jack Powell.

Exhibits at the Country Club will be changed periodically under the direction of gallery owner Adele Rosenberg.

On stage at the Country Club Theatre is Chicago's first professional stage production of the Tennessee Williams comedy "Period of Adjustment." It will be staged nightly except Mondays, through April 21.

Art Guild to Learn Ceramic Techniques

Ruth Kastner, 208 S. Albert, Mount Prospect, who has exhibited and sold her pottery throughout the Chicago area and at one time had her own studio, will demonstrate techniques in ceramics for Des Plaines Art Guild members Monday at 8 p.m. in West Park Fieldhouse, 651 S. Wolf Road, Des Plaines.

A short business meeting and election of officers will precede Mrs. Kastner's ceramics demonstration, and refreshments will be served following the program. Visitors are welcome.

Mrs. Kastner says her talent is largely self-taught through experimentation over some 20 years.

SHE HOPES in Monday night's demonstration to make the art of ceramics understood by all as she shows the step-by-step process a piece of clay goes through before it becomes a finished piece of pottery.

She will pour molds, show several ways of decorating pottery and illustrate each phase of the forming, firing, decorating, glazing and refiring.

A member of the Des Plaines Art Guild since she returned to live in Mount Prospect from Tampa, Fla., about a year-and-a-half ago, Mrs. Kastner and her family formerly lived in Wheeling. (Bill

Edens Exhibits Famed Paintings

The Edens Theatre, in Northbrook between Dundee and Lake-Cook Roads on Skokie Highway, is now exhibiting 21 paintings from the Gilman Galleries, 103 E. Oak St., Chicago.

Among the artists represented in the exhibit are Richard Wilt, now showing at the Brooklyn Museum International Show; Garfield Seibert; George Suyeoka, some of whose works are included in the American Federation Of Arts exhibit, which will tour the Middle East under the auspices of the State Department; Fred Brian; Robert Allen Gough; Richard Wynn; and Glenn Bradshaw.

This is the second of a planned series of exhibits at the new Edens from the leading art galleries in and around Chicago. The current exhibit will continue through mid-March. (Bill

Col. Hartung Named Interim Engineer

Lt. Col. Kenneth B. Hartung has been appointed Acting District Engineer of the U.S. Army Engineer District, Chicago, effective April 1 with the departure of Col. J. A. Smedile for duty with the Inter-American Defense Board in Washington, D.C.

Colonel Hartung will be acting district engineer until the arrival on June 15 of Col. John C. Mattina for duty as district engineer. The latter is now a student at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Washington, D. C.

Colonel Hartung, a native of Arkansaw, Wis., attended the University of Wisconsin prior to beginning his service in 1943. He came to the Chicago District in September, 1962 after a one-year tour of duty in Korea as area engineer on the staff of the U.S. Army Engineer District, Far East. His previous assignments have included duty with the Honolulu Army Engineer District, with the Eighth U.S. Army in Korea during the conflict there, and with the U.S. Army Japan Construction Agency in Tokyo. He also saw service as post engineer at Fort Randall, Alaska, and at several stations in the United States. He was commanding officer of the Army Engineer Test Activity, Yuma, Ariz., from 1959-61.

He resides with his wife and three sons at 919 S. I-Oka Ave., Mount Prospect. (BB

Lamac Talks Before Navy Institute

George Lamac of Mount Prospect spoke on "The Manager's Role in Salary Administration" April 2 at the Industrial Relations Institute for activities of the Ninth Naval District, now in session at the U. S. Navy Electronics Supply Office, Great Lakes.

Sponsored by the Office of the Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C., the week-long Institute has attracted 40 military and civilian executives from Naval activities in the Ninth Naval District, a 13-state area which employs 12,000 Navy Civil Service personnel.

THE AIM of the Institute is to seek and find ways for more effective use of manpower, according to Captain C. S. Sharrocks, Supply Corps, USN, conference host and Commanding Officer, Naval Supply Depot, Great Lakes. "Through better management we plan to get more work done for each dollar spent," the Captain said.

Lamac is director of the wage and classification division, consolidated industrial relations department, NSD, Great Lakes. He has had 27 years' experience in the federal service since graduating from the University of Chicago, where he was awarded a Bachelor of Philosophy degree. He and his wife live at 303 N. Russell, Mount Prospect, with their daughter, Judy, a senior at Prospect High School. (BB

Lagod Joins Savings and Loan Staff

A. J. LAGOD

Anthony J. Lagod, 728 S. Belmont Lane, Arlington Heights, will join the staff of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Assn. The announcement of Mr. Lagod's appointment was made by Paul E. Collins, president of the savings institution at 25 E. Campbell St.

Lagod has been affiliated with Krause and Kehe Real Estate of Arlington Heights in sales since May of 1959. Prior to that time, he was in business for himself in Arlington Heights for almost eight years.

Lagod moved to Arlington Heights in the spring of 1946 after serving as United States Postmaster in Blue Island, a post he held since 1938. Lagod graduated from De Paul University where he earned his Ph.B degree in Sicence and Education. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Chamber of Commerce and the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

Lagod will assume his new duties in the mortgage loan department. (BB

Buyers Warned About Real Estate By Mail

Concerned with mounting federal evidence that the number of cases involving fraudulent sale of land by mail has "snowballed," Charles K. Burval, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, today repeated earlier warnings about purchasing property sight unseen.

Mr. Burval recommended one of two steps before a person signs an agreement to buy land. These were: 1. Personally inspect the property yourself. 2. Employ independent real estate counsel to analyze values.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which Mr. Burval and the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors are members, was one of the first to express concern about the number of offers by mail, newspapers, television, or radio to sell relatively undeveloped land to persons who rely upon the representations made without actually viewing the property and determining whether it is suitable to their personal use or that it has investment value.

As long ago as last May, NAREB's president was cautioning the public about the hazards of purchasing tracts sight unseen on the basis of glowing advertisements, many times misleading. Later he and many of the more than 1,430 local boards and 73,000 members across the country continued to sound the warning against the wave of promotions by unprincipled operators of land sites for vacation or retirement homes that are ill-suited for use or investment.

Mr. Burval's action came on the heels of a Senate investigation into the growth of fraudulent sales of land by mail. The Special Senate Committee on Aging is weighing whether to broaden the powers of the Securities and Exchange Commission to require those selling land in interstate commerce to disclose basic information concerning the land, such as its assets and its location with respect to community facilities and other improvements.

The Senate committee is also considering giving the Post Office Department more power to curb this unscrupulous practice. At present, the Department has to prove criminal intent before it can deny access to the mails, a difficult thing to do. Recently, a Post Office official said the number of cases involving fraudulent sales of land by mail has "snowballed." "What is particularly disquieting about these land con-men," said Mr. Burval, "is that they prey on the pensions and life savings of our senior citizens.

"And what makes their approach especially insidious is that their advertisements are based on the traditional American desire of almost everyone to own a piece of property, a good and healthy attitude." Basically, the land-mail fraud scheme works something like this: A man buys cheap, often useless property at very low prices. Then, in extensive advertising, he uses glowing, inaccurate descriptions. Essential facts are omitted, and he resells lots by mail at prices 90 to 100 times their value.

Phrases such as "a short drive away" can often mean a two-hour trip.

"Exquisite surroundings" in one case meant a jungle. (BB

Fifteen years ago Terry Foods, Park Ridge-based frozen foods producer, sold their first customer, Wieboldt Stores. To mark the occasion (which coincides with Wieboldt's 80th anniversary celebration now going on), Terry's shared an anniversary cake with customers in Randhurst. The cake was in the form of a rolled roast beef, major ingredient of Terry Foods products. Salute from Terry's to Wieboldt's shown on the cake read, "Thanks Wieboldt's — Terry Foods, 15th anniversary." (BB

New Bank Celebrates 1st Business Account

Electric Storage Battery Co., which this year is celebrating its 75th anniversary, has opened the first commercial account with the new Bank of Elk Grove, which opens for business April 1 at 22 Park and Shop, Elk Grove Village.

The account was opened by Edward F. Dougherty, sales branch manager for the company's Exide Division for automotive batteries which is moving into a new facility in Centex Industrial Park, in an informal ceremony held in the bank's temporary quarters at 25 Park and Shop in the village.

Dougherty told Forrest E. Hansen, the new bank's president, he felt his company and the financial institution were "partners in progress" because this year "marks an important milestone for both of us."

OPENING OF the first commercial account provided an unusual backdrop to plans the bank is making for holding an open house for area businessmen on Wednesday, April 3, from 3 to 6 p.m. and for the public on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 4, 5 and 6 during regular banking hours.

Full banking services will be offered for individuals, businessmen and home owners. The modern-style building will have five teller booths, a night depository and a drive-in window for convenience of shoppers to make deposits and withdrawals.

Pure Oil Promotes Two Men

Two new assignments effective April 1 in the Pure Oil Company's Sales Service Department in its general offices near Palatine have been announced by N. D. Williams, department manager.

C. S. Hansen, 1517 W. Fremont, Arlington Heights, formerly manager of industrial sales, becomes sales manager of consumer sales with supervision and coordination of all Pure's branded lubricant sales to industrial, flee and farm consumer customers.

W. J. Smith, 253 W. Kennilworth St., Palatine, formerly supervisor of Pure's national accounts, becomes sales manager of national accounts in a new alignment. He will be responsible for supervising and coordinating company - wide sale of all branded Pure products to national accounts (buyers having operations in more than one of the company's sales division). He will also be responsible for the sale of all branded products outside of Pure's regular marketing territory. (BB

Rush Is Promoted To District Post

Promotion of James A. Rush of 26 N. Phelps, Arlington Heights, as Chicago district sales manager for the Insulite division of the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company was announced this week by B. W. Evans, dealer sales manager.

The appointment is effective April 1, 1963 upon the retirement of R. L. Anderson, who has been a district sales manager in the central U.S. since 1947.

In his new assignment, Rush will direct the activities of 15 Insulite territory representatives, serving building material wholesalers, jobbers and dealers in Illinois and substantial portions of Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky and Indiana. This is a major sales area for Insulite products which include acoustical and decorative tileboard, Primed Siding, sheathing, Roof Deck, hard board wall paneling and Fiberglas insulating wool.

RUSH HAS been with Insulite since 1947. His service includes nine years experience in the Chicago area and additional field work in Kansas City and Louisville. A native of St. Paul, Minnesota, Rush attended St. Thomas College and the University of Minnesota, where he received a B.A. degree in business administration. He served as a Marine Corps pilot during World War II and in the Korean conflict, and presently holds the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Marine Air Reserve. (BB

Executive Insured for Five Million

A $5 million insurance policy on the life of a key U.S. executive has been issued by Occidental Life Insurance Co. of California, according to Burton L. Herman, the company's branch manager in Elmhurst.

Herman said that the policy, having an annual premium of $75,000, is believed to be the largest ever issued to an individual in the U.S. or Canada.

The insurance was purchased by a corporation on the life of its president.

In 1960, Occidental, a Transamerica Corporation subsidiary, issued a $3.3 million policy on the life of an eastern U.S. corporation executive, a record amount up to now. (BB Appointment of Joseph J. Lazor as an industrial sales engineer is announced by D. A. Cameron, Industrial Group sales vice president, Parker-Hannifin Corp.

Lazor Joins Industrial Corporation

Lazor joins the sales office at 501 S. Wolf Rd., Des Plaines, under direction of D. A. Hastings, Parker-Hannifin regional manager for metropolitan Chicago and upper Illinois. Products handled include industrial hydraulic and pneumatic cylinders, valves, pumps, fittings, and related fluid power components.

Lazor was formerly in sales work with Hanna Engineering Works. His military career included service as a first lieutenant with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in Korea in 1953. He attended Georgia Tech and is continuing studies at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, working toward a business administration degree. He is a member of the Chicago chapter of the National Fluid Power Society. He is married, has two children and lives at 1508 W. Grove St., Arlington Heights. (BB

ELGIN'S FIRST HIGH-RISE apartments receive certificate of occupancy from city officials, and taking part in the ceremony were (left to right) Robert Brunton, city manager; LeRoy A. Mote, mayor; Samuel A Wax, president of Merrill Development Co., Inc., owners and builders of the new luxury apartments; Thomas M. Loveday, Elgin Real Estate Broker Leasing Agent. Named the Regency, the 32-unit building is located at South State and Standish Streets, in an area that was the original location of Elgin's "Gold Coast," a group of majestic homes overlooking the Fox River. The location is close to trains with tollways and expressways nearby, on a bus line, within easy walking distance to Elgin's downtown business district, and situated close to several firms dealing in special services. Growing Elk Grove Firm Makes 27 Auto Products

A father-and-son team has parleyed experience and modern merchandising into a combination that has made Penray Company a leading manufacturer of products used by motorists to keep their cars in running order.

When Bernard L. Latousek and his son, Robert B., founded Penray in 1950 they had one product — a cooling system conditioner — which they manufactured in a 2,000-square-foot plant on Chicago's northwest side.

Now, 13 years and four expansions later, Penray manufactures 27 products ranging from the original cooling system conditioner to waxes, polishes, radiator flushes, engine sealers and fuel additives in a 30,000-square-foot plant located at 1801 Estes Ave. in Centex Industrial Park. It is situated on a three-acre site to provide plenty room for expansion.

THE PLANT is the largest in the country devoted exclusively to the manufacture of chemical products for service stations, automobile dealers and garages.

It houses modern facilities which make it possible to convert raw materials into filled containers ready for shipment within a single working day.

Outdoor tanks, hidden from direct view, contain chemicals and ingredients that provide the raw materials for an automated production line capable of handling as many as 350 containers per minute, from empty cans to filled, sealed cases.

THE YOUNGER Latousek, who took over as president of the firm in 1961, said Penray's growth was based on three policies prompted by his father's 20 years experience in the automotive chemical field.

The policies — production of quality products, establishment of sales incentives and avoidance of cut rate competition — have been woven into a sales program that virtually created a revolution in the automotive chemical business and paced Penray's production from 100,000 containers the first year to the more than 5 million currently flowing from the Elk Grove plant.

According to Latousek, Penray is unique in the manner in which it carries out two of these policies.

ONE IS THAT Penray sells only to automotive jobbers under a contractual arrangement that guarantees sale of its products exclusively to garages, service stations and car dealers. This is directly opposed to most other firms in the field which place major emphasis on selling through discount and chain outlets.

Penray's sales policy is upheld through rigid policing of distribution which itself is unique in the industry because the firm has always sold this way and is legally entitled to enforce limited distribution while other manufacturers cannot.

"This policy," explained Latousek, "probably is the largest single factor for our firm's growth. It avoids cut-rate competition and is fair to everyone. The motorist purchases our products at competitive prices under a money-back performance guarantee. The service station owner, garage proprietor or supply store owner receives a fair profit and our business grows."

THE OTHER unique factor in the Centex Industrial Park firm's operation is the incentive program it has for retailers to sell Penray products.

The firm was the first in its field to offer dealers quality premiums as sales inducements.

Prior to Penray's program, premiums offered by the industry to dealers as an inducement to sell more products were of little value. Penray offers such merchandise as quality electric drills, bowling balls and jackets. (BB

Insurance Without Physical

One of the nation's largest life insurance companies has struck a blow in favor of romance.

The Chicago general agency of Aetna Life Insurance Co. said the company is now issuing life insurance without the usual physical examination to newly married men age 35 or younger.

J. D. Nall, western suburban district manager said the company was also substituting a simple health question for the detailed medical questionnaire normally required when life insurance is issued without a physical. Young men embarking on matrimony are usually in robust health, the company explained.

Aetna Life said the insurance could be applied for anytime within 31 days after the ceremony. (BB

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Spring is the busiest time of the gardening year; but after a long cold winter it is certainly most welcome even though it brings with it a long list of yard chores.

In spring, most of us think first of our lawns. Some careful attention now will avoid some problems later in the season when you will probably be less enthusiastic about gardening.

As soon as the soil is dry enough to work, rake out the thatch which accumulated during last season. Then mow the grass quite short to uncover the new tender grass blades. A verti-cut mower, if one is available to you, will do both jobs nicely.

Apply a complete lawn fertilizer such as 10-6-4 at the rate of 20 pounds per 1,000 sq. ft. of lawn. (Use higher or lower analysis fertilizers at a rate to apply 2 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 sq. ft.). Then roll the lawn with a light roller.

SPRAY FRUIT trees and lilacs with dormant oil spray to control scales.

Spray elms with methoxychlor to protect them from Dutch elm disease; spray maples with malathion to prevent the black and red galls that appear on the leaves in summer.

Prune late blooming shrubs and trees, but don't prune any spring flowering materials or you will remove already formed flower buds.

SET OUT pansies as soon as the soil is workable. These friendly little flowers will bloom continuously if you keep the old flowers picked.

Dormant roses planted carefully now will produce a large number of roses this year.

Begin cautiously removing mulches from perennial and shrub beds.

A thought from the Gardener's Almanac (Massachusetts Horticulture Society) suggests starting and keeping a garden record book. Record dates of sowing, transplanting, time of bloom, etc. for future reference. Your own experience is the best guide to plantings in your garden.

Early one morning last week I heard the honkers on their way North. Also, robins were singing in the warm gentle rain. Mother Nature's masterpiece of re-birth and reawakening is upon us—Spring is here! (BB

The Way We See It

A Common Ailment

If the coming school board and municipal elections prove one thing it is that democracy functions best in a clash of ideas. Grassroots democracy — as reflected by these elections — seems to be overgrown with apathy this year.

The reasons for this "spring fever" which has voters yawning over the prospects of casting ballots are familiar: lack of opposition, uninformed and unimaginative candidates, a preoccupied electorate.

Whatever the reasons, the cause of good government isn't served by such indifference.

In some communities where the caucus method of selecting candidates for village trustee and school board is in effect, the system is blamed for contributing to disinterest.

The caucus system is an attempt to secure the best qualified candidates by a process of interviewing them for office and reviewing their credentials before endorsing a slate.

The system has secured excellent men for office. But the fact that caucus candidates often run unopposed shows that many people consider it infallible. Any system, of course, is only as good as the people participating in it.

Arlington Heights is one community where the election has already been decided for all practical purposes since caucus candidates have no opposition. All that remains is to go through the motions of an election.

Those elections where voter interest is high, such as Mount Prospect, Palatine and Addison, are ones that are fiercely contested.

It seems somewhat paradoxical that a system selected to guarantee the best possible candidates also inhibits democratic processes. Critics of the caucus system would be well advised, though, to present candidates of their own rather than grouse about this method of selecting men for public office. Substituting another system won't solve anything.

Township and park board elections on Tuesday warmed voters up for the school board elections set for April 13 and village board balloting April 16.

If voters find themselves in a situation where there is no opposition and they aren't pleased with the candidates, they may register their protest with a write-in vote.

The important thing, of course, is that they do exercise their right to vote. This thought has been stated so often that it appears shop worn. It may resemble a cliche but it isn't. Webster's defines cliche as "an outworn expression; a stale or trite remark."

Description of the ways people participate in their government may become outworn and trite, but democracy isn't. One way to keep it from going stale is by participating in it. This can be done by every citizen. He may not join in high level decision making or inner circle plans, but he is not — and cannot — be excluded from the polling place. This is where his voice is heard and his beliefs expressed.

We hope the electorate doesn't suffer laryngitis this time around. The ailment is always easier to catch the second time. In some societies it has even been known to be fatal.

Boxing Mirrors Man

Another wave of nausea and indignation has rolled across the country following the ring death of former featherweight champion Davey Moore. Legislators in Congress and in a number of states (including Illinois) have stepped up their efforts to have boxing abolished.

Pope John has called boxing barbaric and "contrary to natural principles."

Prize fighting is a barbarous, brutal form of entertainment. But is it contrary to "natural principles?" Isn't it another one of those vestiges of the past, an inheritance which constitutes the psychological makeup of man? Does it not appear as a manifestation of man's savage emotions, of the dark side of his nature altered little since the dawn of being? The man in the gray flannel suit surrounds himself with all the artifacts of culture; but beneath this civilized facade exists the heart and mind of the Neanderthal.

The institutions for retarded children in Illinois also fit the description "barbaric." Who is there to mourn them? Parents treat their children in brutal, indifferent ways. Who is there to teach them? Our institutions for delinquents are intended to punish, not rehabilitate. Who is there to lead them?

Our veterans' hospitals and mental wards are filled with the horrors of past wars, of men who exist as vegetables, while nations persist in refining new "Doomsday" instruments to possess the capacity to wage war.

Is boxing any more brutal than slum landlords, than nations which wall in their cities, than countries which erect trade embargoes to penalize other nations but deprive families of needed food? Is it more barbaric than the system which treats men of another color as subhuman?

This is not to say that professional boxing — in its present form — should be allowed to continue. Gloves with more padding, head protectors, cushioned rings, demanding physical examinations, and a prohibition on the number of times a fighter can engage in his trade during the year should be protections instituted immediately. To do so, of course, would toll the end of prize fighting financially. People do not pay extravagant prices to witness an exhibition of boxing skill; they go to the squared arena to see men annihilated.

Probably only the purists would be attracted to such matches, which would stress boxing ability rather than brute clubbing. But it would convert the spectacle from a business into an athletic art.

It is true that fatalities occur in other sports. The difference is that prize fighting is the only engagement where everything is concentrated on rendering your opponent insensible. Anthropologist Margaret Mead's complaint that boxing is one of the few areas left where maleness has not been emasculated is shallow. There are many sports that test strength, skill and endurance.

An outright ban on boxing could — and might — popularize an illegal form of the endeavor, as has happened with cock fights, the Volstead amendment, and gambling.

It should also be seen as a reflection of our society; it mirrors the dark drives and impulses which a coating of civilization has not eliminated. Boxing's emphasis should be redirected to stress skills instead of destruction.

In an age when man remains stranded in the jungle while his technology propels him toward the stars, anything that can be done to curb his baser instincts and encourage his nobler aspirations should be done.

Son of the Father

Highway Policy

Doing Things The Toll Way

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

If I sense the trend of things correctly, Illinois is drifting toward a very bad highway policy.

Recently the legislature approved a measure which in essence authorized the construction of a toll highway across the northern part of the state.

During the debate on the measure, Sen. David Davis of Bloomington pin-pointed the whole issue clearly when he said that the legislature was doing more than just adopting one more toll road, it was also determining the future direction of road construction in the state.

Sen. Davis specifically mentioned that if this measure would be approved—and it was, though not with my vote—during the next session there would be a request for a toll road from Rockford to Cairo, roughly paralleling Highway 51.

IT SEEMS safe to predict that in future sessions there will be additional requests for toll roads.

What's wrong with that? A number of things:

1) According to information I have received from one federal official, it will cost Illinois about $4.25 in toll road fees for every dollar of highway construction. The $400 million in toll roads we now have will cost us $1,700,000,000. The difference goes for interest on bonds and employment of men to collect money, among other things.

2) If the trend continues, we will have the state dotted with toll roads. Automobile users pay a hefty gasoline tax and are already paying enough to provide adequate highway service.

3) This also means that where a toll road is constructed, there will be no construction of free roads, most of which could get a 90 per cent subsidy from the federal government.

Around Chicago, for example, there is now a toll road. If this were not there, unquestionably a free limited-access highway would have been built. Now one will not be built for fear of taking money away from the toll roads.

In the northern part of the state, the highway department was making plans for a limited-access four-lane highway paralleling Highway 30. Now with the toll road coming, this will not happen, and residents of that area who want good highways will have to pay the toll. I completely understand the desire of these people to have a highway, and have it now. I question the wisdom of doing it the toll way.

4) The final thing that is wrong with all of this is that it gives one agency of government a great deal of money with too little safeguard. I am sure all of the rumors around Springfield about some of the goings-on are not true, but when you permit an agency to get that much money, there is an invitation to abuse. Just as one example, there is no requirement for competitive bidding on the bonds.

This article may be "shutting the barn door after the horse is out." I hope not.

Rep. Jack Bairstow of Waukegan and others have been warning for many years about the way things are going. It is a difficult position to take. When you speak against a toll road, you are speaking for a delay in bringing a highway to an area, for doing it the free way takes a little longer. This is the only sound argument for toll roads: it gets the roads built quickly.

BUT ONE OF these years we may wake up and discover that to travel anywhere in the state will mean paying tolls constantly.

Once these tolls go on, we will have a hard time ever taking them off.

Critic's Corner

Sheriff Named Lynch

by BOB SELTZNER
Supervising Editor, DuPage County

A recent interview with the sheriff of DuPage County belied first impression of Stanley Lynch, the man who bosses a 65-man department charged with responsibility of maintaining law and order in that county's unincorporated area.

As a Republican who could not succeed himself as sheriff after a four-year term four years ago, Lynch is now four months into an abbreviated second term.

He doesn't look like a sheriff.

If there is some standard for Chicago area sheriffs, Stan Lynch most certainly does not know about it.

SELTZNER

He has a game leg, and leaves a lasting impression he is some kind of unobtrusive visitor in town checking on the daily grain quotation.

Stan Lynch won't mind the description, since he has a severe case of hay fever from which he derives considerable discomfort late in the summer, and the fellow is about as down to earth as the proverbial apple pie.

Nonetheless, he drives a crisp black 1963 Chrysler, possibly as one huge concession to the dignity of his office.

STAN LYNCH sits back, intertwines his fingers against the lower portion of his belly, and talks at the drop of a hat.

Photographers find him a difficult subject.

He's just too blame normal, or average, or unglamorized, and the things he says come out straight and sharp and often shrouded in subtlety.

It is still somewhat of a mystery just who he was referring to during the interview when in replying to the question: What do you plan to do in four years? Stan Lynch declared he had given the subject some thought and had arrived at the conclusion he should run for governor.

Republican colleague Elmer Hoffman, U.S. Rep. Elmer Hoffman, who hasn't exactly said he will not run for governor in '64, probably was Lynch's target (Elmer is a former sheriff), but it is an open question.

Stan Lynch went out of office four years ago with as good a reputation with which any sheriff can go out of such an office.

He served four years in the old fire trap DuPage County jail at Wheaton which has since been replaced by a splendid multi-floor structure which is imposing even beside the attractive new county courthouse addition recently completed.

His wife used to cook the meals for the prisoners.

ONLY FOUR years ago DuPage County was considerably less congested with population than it is today, with a lot more farm land, a lot smaller operational fund, and certainly less men and patrol cars to direct.

This year the DuPage sheriff's operational fund, from which Lynch is anticipating turning $53,000 back to the general fund at the end of the fiscal year, is $630,000, and Lynch is thinking strongly in terms of it not being near enough to do a good job next year.

The DuPage sheriff's office is a fee earning office like most county offices at Wheaton, and Lynch enjoys telling you that his own five-figure salary depends upon fees just as it always has.

He makes light of the fact that every salary of his clerks must be paid out of fees the department collects before he does, and it is conceivable if the department does not collect enough in fees he doesn't get paid.

If Lynch has enemies, political, criminal, or any other kind, you will have to look for them.

When he took over his office last fall after swamping his Democrat opponent, Lynch gathered together his personnel and told them he did not intend wholesale replacements as has been the custom among politically inspired sheriffs the country over for a multitude of years.

He told them he would put on the line what his plans are and if there were any present who could not adhere to his directives they had better leave.

Lynch during the interview threw out some thoughts, some lightly disdainful, of some of those around him.

Of Cook County Sheriff Richard Ogilvie, another Republican elected in November, Lynch remarked that if the man caught some of the criminal element in Cook County and did not chase them into DuPage County, DuPage County would have little problem.

Of William Bauer, another Republican, and DuPage County state's attorney, Lynch said he believed he had now established with Bauer that he (Lynch) was law enforcement and Bauer was prosecution.

Concerning one particular village administration in DuPage County where the boast had been made that there existed there no juvenile problem, Lynch declared he would have to "get together with those people to see how they do it."

He pointed out that during a recent gathering of law enforcement in the Chicago area to discuss the restaurant-bombing situation, "you would have thought from the way they talked there had never been any cooperation between all these agencies."

LYNCH SAID he told the group he didn't think a lack of cooperation was the problem.

After reporting that there have been only two accidents involving sheriff's cars in the past two months, Lynch said he felt it was the result of his "slogan" for the department: "If there isn't a different kind of driving among deputies, there will be a different kind of driver."

This was after he revealed there had been 57 accidents involving sheriff's cars in the last four years under Springborn.

Some Lynch-isms taken at random:

—On the juvenile situation: "If the parents would band together like these young people are banded together," we would go a long way toward solving whatever problem there is.

—On young people driving cars, "It's our fault, we never should allow a driver's license to be issued to a person under 19. If we had started it a long time ago they would never have missed it, but to try to change it now would be impossible."

—On the subject of narcotics, "One out of every five burglars we arrest are narcotics addicts."

—"I'LL NEVER be known as a stand-pater."

—"Why is it the headlines so often say, "Teenager kills . . . ? I don't think I have ever seen a headline which said, "Adult kills . . . ! "

Silence Refuted

Kindergarten of Death

By MARTIN E. MARTY

Religious people often look for some good sign in a bad event. When things cannot get much worse—for instance, when a death seems senseless, seems to represent the waste of a young life, people of faith resign themselves and say, "God must have meant something in all this."

I am not sure why, but I tend to fall silent at such times. None of us know very much about God, and we have to wait a long time to find much plot and pattern and history.

So I am often shocked to hear people looking for something good to come out of an event such as World War II. Look at the medical progress, we are told. Look at the scientific development. Look at the nation's new desire for peace (that I'd like to see!)

MARTY

When I think of the pain of the death of one man in one family; or of the demonic slaughter of six million Jews; or of the 40,000,000 displaced persons, must I look for some good thing to come of it?

Time and again, however, the silence and the cynicism one feels are themselves refuted by a sign or a signal that even in the worst of times some new understanding, some resurrection, some spiritual force as a breath of spring falls upon a diseased and autumnal world.

For me, the gradual recovery of the spiritual literature of people who suffered under Nazism has represented one such sign. Thousands of Christians have profited from the witness of Pastor Paul Schneider or Professor Dietrich Bonhoeffer.

As the years pass, a Catholic martyr has come into prominence. The publication this season of The Prison Meditations of Father Delp, with an introduction by Thomas Merton provides a sign of understanding and resurrection. (Herder and Herder, $4.50).

Father Delp was an anti-Hitler Jesuit, a man of uncommon spiritual force, alert to modernity. He was obsessed by the problem of man's estrangement from God, by the pervasive unbelief of today's man.

His prison diaries reflect his anxiety over the way man is a wolf to man, deaf to the cries of God in the suffering and hope of the world. Protestant and Catholic alike would profit from reading this book late in Lent, 1963.

Think of this man of God, dragged out each day for a beating, speaking of it as "the kindergarten of death." Then he can write, "I am so thankful for the Eucharist that I had had in my cell since the first of October."

On a good day he can say, "I have a great deal to do with the Lord God, I have much to ask him and much to tell him . . . the world is so full of God."

A black day a week later he can write, "God must really be very intensively concerned with me, in that he has thrown me so exclusively on my own resources."

Most of all, Delp knew how few believed, how few believed with intensity. He analyzed the hungers of men and the failures of the Church—but he died for the Church!

"Of all messages this is the most difficult to accept—we find it hard to believe that the man of active faith no longer exists."

"Modern man is not even capable of knowing God."

A bit of the hope broke through when he spoke of the Church's task today: "The great task in the education of present and future generations is to restore man to a state of fitness for God."

Through the Schneiders, Bonhoeffers, Delps of the world, I like to think on the bright days between the black ones, that if we are patient we may—once again—be capable of knowing, of hearing. It is a dream worth living for, as they died for it.

Offers Aid on Economic Lag

Very few days go by without some sort of news media mentioning unemployment. Many solutions have been suggested but not once have I seen the Armed Forces mentioned among them.

It is true that not all young men can qualify for enlistment but the large majority can. Why are the Armed Forces seldom if ever included among other occupations in career guidance articles? Is a career in the Armed Forces considered undesirable? Many of our presidents have been career service men.

The security of an Armed Forces career cannot be approached by most occupations. A man can retire after 30 years service with ¾ pay for the rest of his life. How many occupations can offer this?

LET US TAKE an example of a career in the Navy. A high school graduate can enlist upon graduation and be guaranteed a school in the field of his choice. This school will train him in the basic duties of his Navy occupation, of which there are over 60. Let us say that this young man was 17 years when he enlisted and advanced in the normal manner then retired at age 47 after completing 30 years service. He would receive a check for $330 a month for the rest of his life. If the proposed pay raise now in Congress is approved this figure would be $420.

If this young man had attended college and received his B.A. degree prior to going in, he could be sent to Officer Candidate School and start his career as a Commissioned Officer. If he retired at the rank of Commander after 30 years service his retirement check would be about $580 a month for life and here again the proposed pay bill will add about 10 per cent to this figure if it is passed.

At age 65 Social Security checks will start rolling in. For all practical purposes you can completly retire at age 65. How many people in civilian occupations can do this?

IT IS QUITE true a service career has its disadvantages, but what career hasn't?

I hope that sometime in the future, newsmen, etc., will not overlook the Armed Forces as a help to unemployment. If young men between 17 and 31 years of age cannot find employment, I suggest the Armed Forces as the best solution. When career guidance is given young high school graduates, the Armed Forces should always be included.

Busse Marvels Over Progress

Please accept my sincere appreciation for the story you had in your paper concerning me as a 50-year subscriber, and your mention of the Busse family and the use of our large family picture.

Thinking back over these last 50 years, I am sure the senior Paddocks marvel with me at the progress that has taken place in our area from a predominantly farming community to a suburban metropolitan area.

Thanks again and best wishes to your fine newspaper.

Street Crew Complimented

My thanks to Mr. Bill Luehring and his street maintenance crew in Arlington Heights for the prompt and thorough job they did to clean up the alley that runs behind our house.

I requested this service on a Thursday morning and when I returned from work the job was done. I can see how this alley could be missed by the sweepers as there are so few in Arlington Heights. A continued, routine sweep whenever the men are in the Stonegate area would be deeply appreciated.

This is written because there are too many critical remarks made and not enough compliments paid.

Candidate Raps Coverage of Municipal Election Campaign

It seems to me that a newspaper should have as a principle of its operation other than, of course, its function as a private corporation, a civic duty to provide the community it serves with accurate and timely information on important public issues of the community it serves. The Wheeling Hrald I believe has admirably fulfilled this responsibility in many respects to the village of Wheeling residents. There is one area of information, however, which does not seem to have been given the reportorial service it deserves. This is the subject of the issues facing the village in the coming election of village trustees on April 16.

The future of our village government rests in the actions taken by this board. The persons who fulfill the positions of trustees and what they believe in will mold this future.

With the exception of the printing of the bare platforms of the parties and some comments about their mechanics of submission, a description of how valuable a public forum for trustee candidates is to the electorate, an acknowledgment that such public forum was held, there seems to me to have been a conspicuous absence of any reporting about what the individual candidates or parties have said about their principles and positions either at this forum or at any other time or place.

WITH ONE minor exception, I have seen no description of the nature of the campaigns waged by the parties, their campaign tactics, or the entities promoting them. I happen to be a candidate for village trustee on the Planned Growth Party and, of course, have a biased opinion. However, it seems that the publication of such information is properly a part of the function of local newspaper reporting and should be published whether it is good, bad or indifferent to ours or any other party is immaterial, but the newspaper should fulfill its responsibility of trying to have at the polls on April 16 an informed electorate so that they can make intelligent choices based on objective and accurate information and not on hearsay, innuendo, or partisan clap trap.

Fence Post Mail Welcome

Letters to the Fence Post should be brief and concise. All letters must be signed, but names will be withheld from publication on request. No anonymous letters will be considered for publication. Deadline for letters to appear week of publication is Monday noon. All letters should be addressed to: The Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights, Ill.

You may, or may not, crowd the two remaining issues of your paper between now and the election with such information. I don't know. But even if your paper chooses to, it seems to me, there is a great amount of information which could have been considered newsworthy in the past weeks which has lost its timeliness. I sincerely hope that in the coming two weeks, at least, your newspaper will see fit to provide voters of our village with this kind of information.

Why Educators Remain Silent

Re: Senator Paul Simon's article, "Cloistered Educators Should Speak Their Minds," Roselle Register, March 21, 1963. I would agree that cloistered educators should speak their minds. There are a number of good reasons why they don't:

1. College presidents and faculty are employes of the board of trustees and can be fired for speaking out. The American Association of University Professors has records of hundreds of such firings.

2. Professors at state universities are understood by the public to be public servants, not public leaders. For such professors to speak on controversial topics, such as those Mr. Simon suggests, is for them to criticize their employes — the legislature and those voters who hold the opposite view. This is a bad attitude for an employe. Plato, whom Mr. Simon holds up as an ideal, was neither an employe or civil servant.

3. MR. SIMON overlooks the social class differences inherent in such speaking out. Criticism of public opinion by professors is viewed as snobbish by the general public.

4. American democracy as championed by Andrew Jackson in 1832 is a democracy of the local people, the common people. Because the college professor is neither a local person or common person, his comments are considered out of place by the public.

Considering how long the above conditions have lasted, it is unlikely that they will change soon. I don't see much reason to hope that cloistered educators will speak out.

James A. Marshall

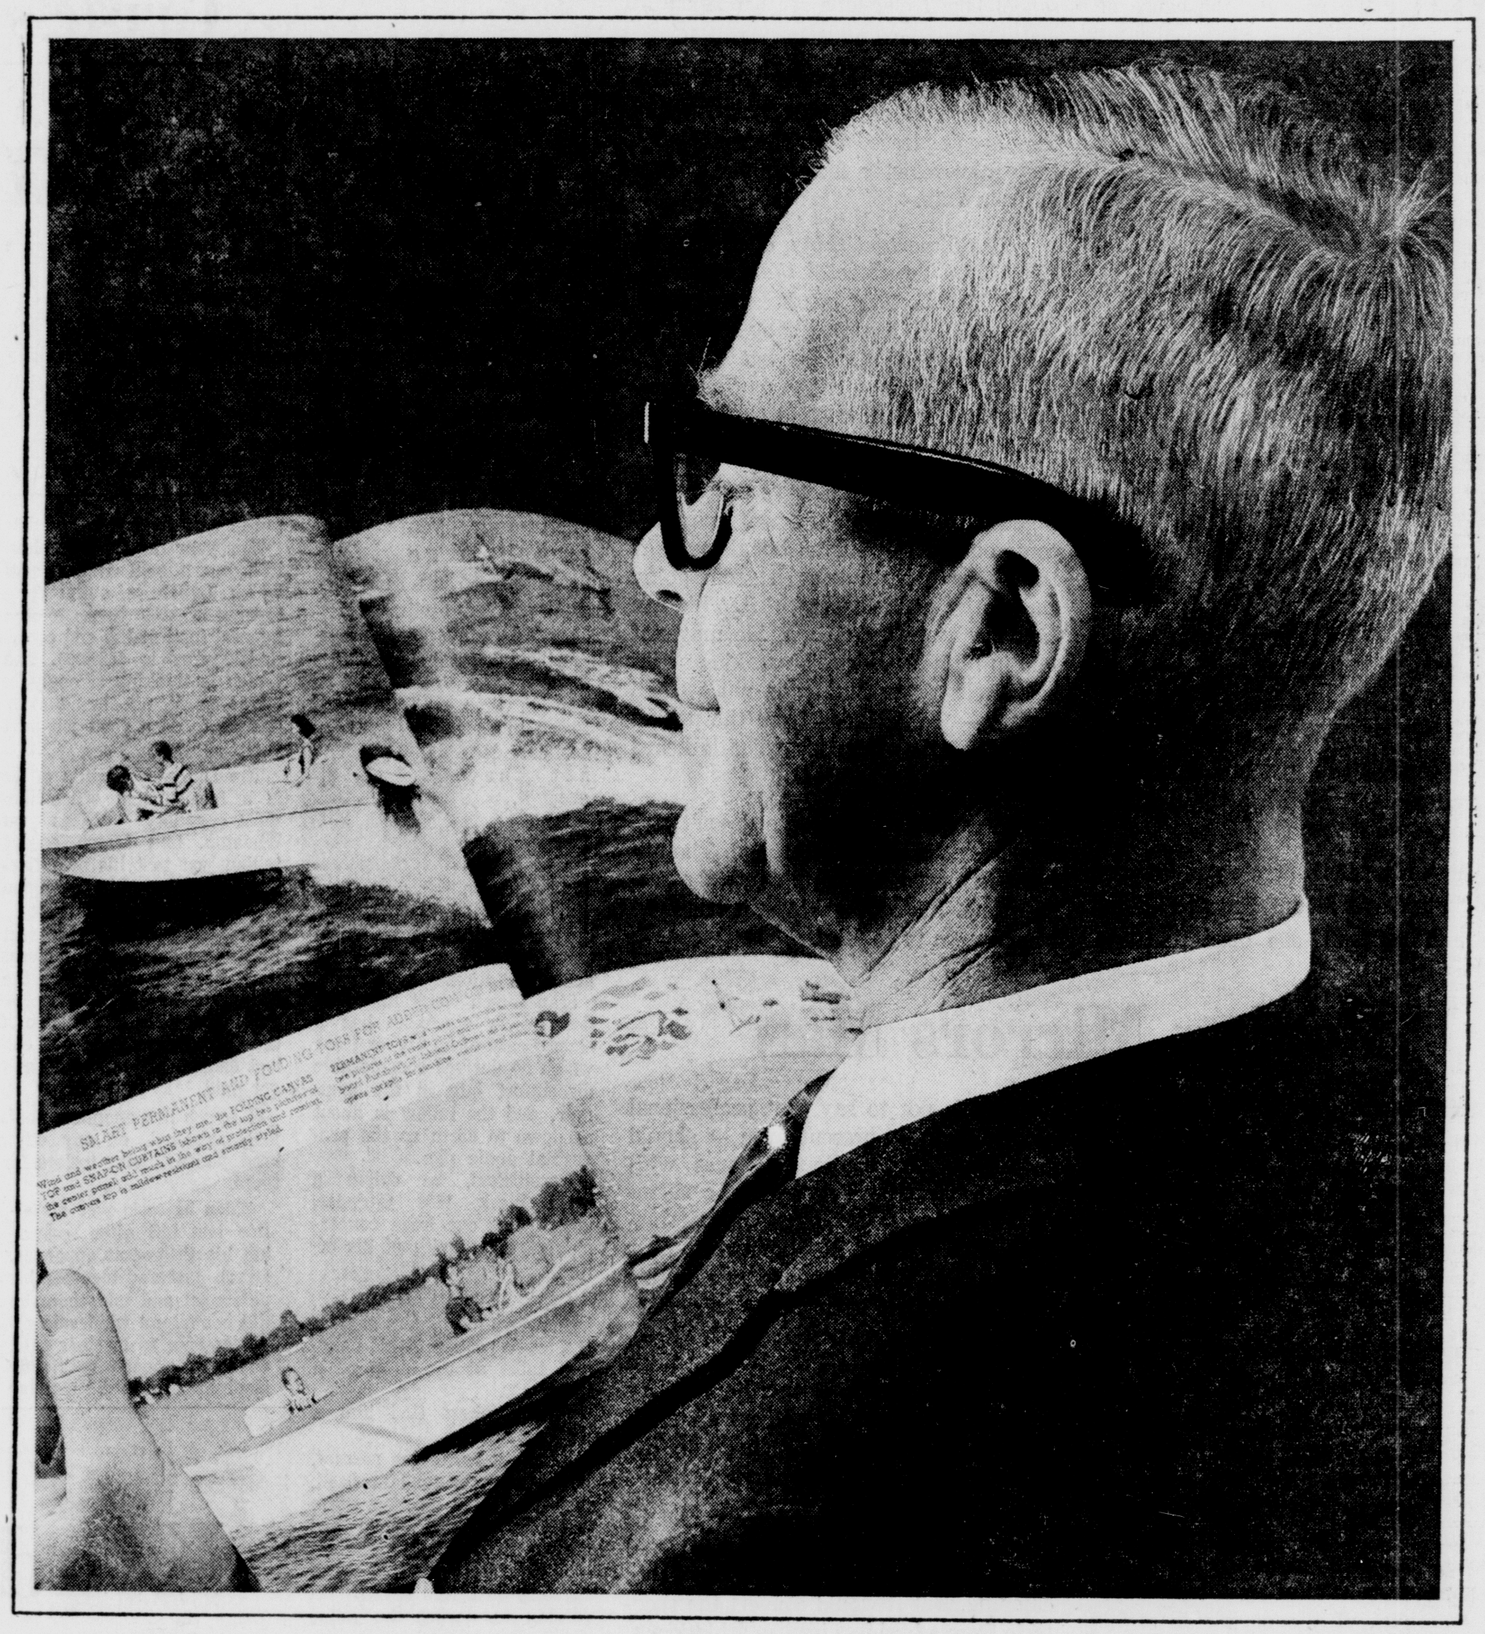
This is one of a new series of informative reports on the unique advantages of print media presented by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association



DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people generally do.

Not only do they read; they cut out and show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples.

When people see an advertisement in print, they can compare designs . . . features . . . and prices of nationally known products and services. (And people do compare before they go out and buy.)

Advertising in print is a handy thing. You can check back; the message is still there even when your attention is distracted.

When you add it up, print advertising—the kind you read in this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of most consumers, print makes sales.

Don't you read before you buy?

BUYING NEW FURNITURE?

If you are, no doubt you will be wanting to get rid of your old furniture.

The fastest, least expensive way for you to do this is to use a Paddock Publications Want Ad.

For as little as $2.00 you can place an ad for merchandise for sale which will appear in all fourteen of Paddock Publications.

Placing a Want Ad is easy. Simply pick up your telephone and dial CL 3-1520, ask for a Want Ad taker. The girl will be happy to assist you in wording your ad or answer any other questions that you might have.

Why not help pay for your new furniture by selling the old? You can do it when you use Paddock Publications Classified Ads.

Campus Capers

At Illinois

Lucy Wrobel of 1404 W. Fremont St., Arlington Heights, was initiated into Alpha Kappa chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, located on the University of Illinois campus.

Miss Wrobel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wrobel of the same address.

Miss Wrobel is a freshman presently enrolled in the college of agriculture. Her activities include assistant treasurer of the house. She is also a James Scholar. (CC

At MacMurray

Two Arlington Heights students have received academic honors at MacMurray College for the first semester. Mary Anne Klabe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Klabe of 1108 Northwest Hwy., was named to the honor roll. To qualify, a student must achieve an A average and carry at least 14 hours of academic work.

Stephen Massie, son of Mrs. Melba F. Massie of 821 N. Chestnut Ave., received honorable mention. To receive honorable mention, a student must achieve a B average and carry at least 14 hours of academic work. (CC

At Grinnell

Marilyn A. Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard N. Nelson of 701 E. Davis St., Arlington Heights, has been elected president for next year of one of seven women's residence halls at Grinnell College. The new house presidents were announced and honored at a formal dinner this week after their election by the women students.

As a house president, Miss Nelson will serve on the Associated Women Students Board, the women's legislative and executive body. She and the other six new hall leaders will work with the present board the remainder of this year and will take over full duties next September.

Miss Nelson has served as vice president of her freshman class, and has been a member of the Women's Recreation Association and the Board of Religion. She is a sociology major.

A junior at Grinnell, she is a 1960 graduate of Arlington High School. (CC

At Grinnell

Marie H. Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Martin of 506 S. Elmhurst Ave., Mount Prospect, has been elected president for next year of the Associated Women Students at Grinnell College.

As president, Miss Martin will preside over meetings of the A.W.S. Board, the women's legislative and executive body, and sit on the Executive Cabinet of the Student Government Assn. She will work with the present board the remainder of this year and will take over full duties next September.

A history major at Grinnell, Miss Martin is a member of the International Relations Club, and has been a member of the committee which plans Student Union activities. In addition, she is a member of the college choir.

Miss Martin, a junior at Grinnell, is a 1960 graduate of Arlington High School. (CC

At Augustana

Linda Stoneberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Stoneberg, 720 E. North St., Itasca, was recently initiated into Key membership in Sigma Alpha Eta honorary fraternity at Augustana College in Rock Island.

Sigma Alpha Eta is a national organization for students of speech and hearing therapy. Key membership is open only to students of professional promise.

A speech correction major, Miss Stoneberg is a junior.

At Drake

Bruce Jiede, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Jiede, 314 N. Pine, Mount Prospect, has recently been activated into the Drake University chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, professional fraternity in the field of commerce and business administration.

Objectives of Delta Sigma Pi are to foster the study of business in the universities, to encourage scholarship and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice, and to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce.

Jiede is a sophomore majoring in marketing in the college of business administration at Drake. (CC

Anderson Among DePauw Students On Pacific Tour

Jack Anderson of Arlington Heights is among 14 student singers from DePauw University who will leave Indianapolis March 24 to begin a 9-week tour of military bases in the Pacific area, including a 2-day stopover in Saigon, Vietnam.

JACK ANDERSON

A junior at DePauw and majoring in English composition, Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, 504 S. Lincoln St.

Jack and his student cohorts, who are known theatrically as "The Collegians," will present musical shows for servicemen and their families in Hawaii, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, Formosa, the Philippines, Vietnam and possibly Thailand under the auspices of the United Service Organization (USO) and the National Music Council.

One of 29 college groups selected this year to augment the USO's paid professional entertainers, The Collegians will be on the tour from March 24 to May 25. Director of the group is Chip Wilhoite, Indianapolis; Joe Busey of Leroy, Ill., is business manager.

After arriving in San Francisco from Indianapolis Sunday, the students will remain overnight at nearby Travis Air Force Base prior to flying via military air transport to Hawaii Monday for a week of shows.

April 3 they will land in Japan, hop up to Korea for two days, then set up shop for the next 24 days at American installations in Japan. From May 1 they will be island hopping first to Okinawa, then to Formosa, the Philippines, and finally swing around to Saigon where they will be the first college group to perform for the USO in Vietnam.

Composed mainly of upperclassmen, The Collegians specialize in popular numbers from Broadway's best musicals, past and present, plus a variety of well known standards.

Members of the singing group are admitted after rigorous audition, and most, according to their declared major subjects, are just singing "for the fun of it." (CC

CADET RICHARD SEERY receives congratulations from Lt. Col. J. S. Gardner, commandant at Missouri Military Academy, Mexico, Mo., after receiving the M.M.A. Soldiers' Bar for March. The award is made monthly to ten Missuri Military high school students judged outstanding in military courtesy, bearing, neatness, attitude and performance. Cadet Seery is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seery, 72 N. Dewey Rd., Palatine.

The Uproar Over Rachel Carson: Can Your Garden Live Without "Poison"?

How to Succeed on Your INCOME TAX Without Really Trying BY SHEPHERD MEAD

Europe this Summer?

Positano, Italy. Wherever in the world you travel, you're better off with Pan Am—World's Most Experienced Airline!

For so many reasons—of fact and of feeling—you'll be glad you chose Pan Am

It's a fact! Only Pan Am gives you a choice of 21 European cities direct from the U.S. by Jet. See as many as 19 cities for the price of a round trip ticket to Rome. As little as $402* Jet economy Group fare.

Only Pan Am can fly you to Europe from any one of 15 U.S. cities without change of plane. Go one way, return another at no extra fare.

Only Pan Am offers you a choice of 102 Jet flights a week this summer from the U.S. to Europe. 69 a week from New York alone. Result: you can see more Europe in less time. Leave the U.S. late on a Friday, for example, and come home late on a Sunday. Enjoy 16 full days abroad on a 2-week vacation!

It's a feeling! On the ground and in the air, you'll sense know-how, courtesy and competence that can derive from only one source—experience. Pan Am has more of it than any other airline in the world.

You travel with veteran U.S. flight crews—trained to U.S. standards, highest in the world. You enjoy incomparable cuisine by Maxim's of Paris with either a first-class President Special or Jet economy Rainbow ticket.

Best of all, you'll arrive in Europe with the feeling that everything that makes for a pleasant trip has been done for you. Only then will you fully understand why the Priceless Extra of Experience is indeed priceless. *From New York, eff. April, 1963, subject to Government approval.

"Poisons" in Your Garden? . . . page 8

Since Rachel Carson's book "Silent Spring" attacked pesticides as a menace to health, gardeners and nongardeners have been worrying about the effect of chemicals on their lawns—and themselves. Gardening authority Samm Baker sets the record straight as he tells how to use pesticides safely—and why you can't raise a garden without them.

How to Succeed . . . page 18

. . . on your income tax, of all things! Shepherd Mead, author of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," turns his attention this month to devices useful in "keeping a little of your money." Among his topics: Capital gains for Indian wrestlers who invest in papaya juice.

Money Isn't Everything . . . page 22

The prize-winning Public Library of Barrington, Rhode Island, suffers from a common malady—lack of funds. With National Library Week coming up, here's a look at some of Barrington's ingenious short cuts, including paperback books for schools and mimeographed (not printed) reading lists.

Home Craftsmen, Take Note! . . . page 28

Here are three ideas that give you lots to show for a minimum of effort in your workshop. There's a picnic table that's just right for a lawn or patio—and folds up neatly for storage. The lawn glider will amuse the youngsters for hours—and give adults a place to relax. And the music-storage wall is a home for your hi-fi, with storage space built in.

On the Cover

April is the month of flowers—and showers! Artist Pat Prichard shows the nurseryman's tables, laden with pansies and daisies and bright geraniums. The suburban gardener comes with her own floral finery and kneels to look at a pot of annuals. And—oh dear!—he wasn't watching, and the hat looked like all the other flowers, and maybe water perks up artificial daisies, too?

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

"AT THE Red Cross Blood Donor Center," writes Mrs. Ray Williams of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, "I was stretched out in a high bed next to a weary-looking young housewife and overheard the nurse congratulate her on the contribution of her eighth pint of blood, making her a Gallon Donor.

" 'It's the only volunteer work I know of that I can do lying down,' she sighed."

Fourteen-year-old Bruce of Birmingham, Michigan, wasn't getting very good grades in school, and his father decided to give him an object lesson in the value of working hard in order to have acceptable grades for college. "If you were running Dominico's Pizzeria and needed an assistant," his father said, "would you hire a man who had an eighth-grade, twelfth-grade, or college education?"

Bruce thought a moment and then his face brightened. "I'd take all three back to the kitchen," he said, "and hire the one who could make the best pizza."

We knew spring was here when we heard this story from O. W. Bjorgan of Burlingame, California. "My gardener-wife noticed a nest in one of our apple trees," he writes. "She decided to take a look at the 'little family' and, getting up on a ladder, she found one fuzzy baby robin and one warm apple. Mrs. Robin had been covering both!" Mrs. Bjorgan removed one.

A family in Oak Lawn, Illinois, reports that it has to keep its cuckoo clock covered to protect it from the family parakeet. When the cuckoo comes out, the uncaged parakeet tries to attack!

Thanks for the tip, Mrs. Marty Bertrand of Dallas County, Texas. "When buying slip-cover material, I get at least one extra yard," she says.

"The arms of the cover always wear out first, so when it happens, I just stitch up some new arms out of my extra material."

A reader in Reading, Massachusetts, tells the story of a man who won first prize in a 25-words-or-less contest on the topic "How I Want My Wife to Dress for a Party."

His one-word answer: "Quickly."

A teacher in Jefferson County, Kentucky, asked her fourth-grade class who Joan of Arc was.

"I think," ventured one small voice from the back of the room, "that she was Noah's wife."

GETTING AROUND

The science class at Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights, Illinois, has been treated to some firsthand study of fossils, thanks to Edward and Leo Rembowski. The two brothers were plowing Leo's field last spring when their rig caught on a large object in the soil. They uncovered it and found a massive bone, which the American Museum of Natural History later identified as the thigh bone of a mastodon, an animal resembling an elephant that wandered the earth 10,000 years ago! Since then, the Rembowski brothers have found part of the leg, foot, pelvis, and spine. Experts at the museum say that while the huge animals roamed many continents, this is the first time that any remains have been found in this area. They theorize that the mastodon wandered into a stream bed which "was like quicksand" from the silt of fast-melting glaciers. He got caught and the deposits of silt preserved his skeleton.

Report from Richmond Heights, Ohio: When a mother and her daughter, who was going on six, went into the local mother-daughter dress shop, the manager, as was his custom, gave the little girl a lollipop. As usual, the mother prompted her:

"What do you say, dear?"

The little girl thought a moment and then answered brightly: "Charge it, please!"

The Women's Auxiliary of the Cooper Hospital in Camden County, New Jersey, has put out a cookbook called "Garden Fare" with 240 pages of recipes from well-known New Jersey residents—everything from Norwegian fruit soup to a cream-and-egg dessert called "a dish of snow" that goes back to 1594. The sepia-toned pages are dotted with lore about New Jersey and sketches of famous landmarks, so the book is fun to look at, even if you don't cook—and we think any bride would like to have one in her kitchen. The auxiliary has already received orders from nearly every state, the proceeds going to renovate the hospital's accident and emergency departments.

If you want further information, write the Cooper Hospital "Garden Fare," P.O. Box 267, Haddonfield, New Jersey.

Hats off to Kathy and Ray Reinbold of Bellevue, Washington! Both of these young people have been confined to wheel chairs for the past five years as a result of separate automobile accidents—but they haven't let their handicap stop them from leading an active life. They met at a rehabilitation center in Canada and were married in 1958. They live in an attractive one-level house that is just like all the others on the block, except for widened entryways. After his working day as an accountant, Ray plays with the Seattle Flyers, a wheel-chair basketball team. Kathy, in addition to being a homemaker, works as a sewing-machine operator for a children's wear firm. The Reinbolds drive anywhere in their own cars, which are equipped with special hand controls. Kathy sums up their philosophy this way: "Anybody can do anything. On wheels, too."

When the national anthem was played during the flag-raising ceremony at the opening of an elementary school in Hamilton County, Ohio, the spectators—youngsters and Legionnaires—all stood at attention. The surprise came when a road crew that was working nearby dropped their shovels, lined up at the curb, and stood in silence with their bright yellow helmets over their hearts, until the anthem was over.

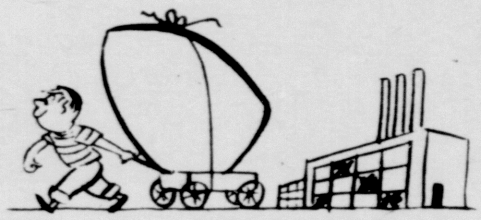
Dale Jones, aged nine, of Monrovia, California, is the owner of a real white ceramic nose cone (from a rocket) which he came by the hard way. During a forbidden rock-throwing session with his friends, Dale broke a plate-glass window in a large plant that makes nose cones for missiles and rockets. Tearfully, Dale ran home to tell his mother. Together they called factory officials, explained what had happened, and offered to pay for the window. They were assured, however, that the company would take care of the damage.



A little later in the day an executive called back and asked Dale and his mother to come to the plant. They arrived—Dale, by this time, somewhat fearful—and found the whole office staff waiting for them. And in front of everyone, Dale was given the two-and-a-half-foot nose cone—because he had told the truth. "It seemed a wonderful thing for those men to do," said Dale's mother, "to help and praise a little boy when they must be so busy themselves." Now the nose cone reposes in a place of honor in Dale's room—where all his friends can see it.

SUBURBIA TODAY

Without "Poison?"

staff of professionals takes care in handling pesticides, just as a good worker takes care in handling machinery.

Ask any of the hundreds of thousands of people who have visited the United Nations gardens. They'll tell you that the magnificent grounds are enriched with the sight and sound of lovely birds, in spite of the week-in, week-out use of pesticides, the same products that are used in home gardens. There is no "silent spring" on the U. N. grounds (and certainly not in the Assembly Hall).

So what's the scare all about? Recent attacks on the use of insecticides have frightened many, and perhaps mostly the people who don't garden but are afraid that chemical "dusts" and "sprays" may devastate the world. Many of the status gang, who are automatically for anything that is against the norm, have joined the attack on pesticides without knowing all the facts. They glibly quote the case of Michigan State's campus which was strewn with dead robins after a heavy spraying for Dutch elm disease. Or they will tell how the bald eagles in some areas became sterile after feeding out of streams polluted with DDT. Unfortunately, it's all true. But it is confusing the issue to condemn all spraying, and especially limited home spraying, because mistakes have been made in certain cases of mass application.

All chemicals are dangerous if they are not handled properly, but in the case of garden insecticides, the dangers today are being exaggerated.

WHAT'S THE TRUTH ABOUT DDT, FOR EXAMPLE? There has been talk about DDT accumulating in the tissues and poisoning people. Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, chief of the toxicology section of the U. S. Public Health Service in Atlanta, answers with facts: 51 convict volunteers were fed 200 times the normal amount of DDT that one might be exposed to, over a year's time. They were thoroughly checked with a control group who had the same diet without extra DDT, and the scientists noted no ill effects whatsoever.

More facts, not scare-talk: Robert Rollins, chief of the division of chemistry of the California Department of Agriculture, knows the situation in his fruitful state. He concludes flatly that the proper use of insecticides does not present a threat to humans, no matter how widespread the practice. Proper use, yes—careful use—like the proper and careful use required for ointments, medicines, headache tablets, and any other common home remedies.

ARE PESTICIDES KILLING MASSES OF PEOPLE? Again, Dr. Wayland J. Hayes of the United States Public Health Service answers: "Pesticides cause less than one death per million of population each year, based not on guesswork but on data collected over a 20-year period." And these deaths were caused primarily by human carelessness. Meanwhile thousands were killed by automobiles, accidents with electricity, careless overdoses of common medicine-cabinet items. Should you then give up autos, electricity, medications, and use of wonder-working, life-saving chemicals?

FINALLY, PESTICIDES ACTUALLY SAVE LIVES. Dr. E. F. Knipling of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture estimates that no less than 100 million illnesses (and countless human deaths) have been prevented through using chemicals for control of insect-borne diseases such as yellow fever, typhus, malaria, dysentery and many other afflictions. Herbicides and pesticides have become necessary to man's survival. Without them, it is estimated that an additional five million people would have died in the interval between World War II, when DDT was discovered, and today.

Getting back to the garden, how can you gain the utmost benefits, safely, from the use of the many miracle gardening chemicals available to you? The techniques are simple:

- First and always, read directions on the package you buy, and follow exactly. Repeat the process every time, no matter how often you use a pesticide, or how familiar you think you are with the directions.
- Avoid inhaling or direct contact with eyes, nose, mouth.
- Don't use on a windy day. Don't apply in hottest sun.
- Don't mix different pesticides together, unless specifically instructed on packages.
- Don't apply immediately before picking vegetables, fruits, berries: follow directions on package regarding minimum interval between spraying and picking.
- After using, wash hands thoroughly before touching face or eating anything (just common sense, isn't it?).
- Put pesticides out of reach of children, preferably in a locked cabinet (as you should do with medicine).
- Keep checking garden, grass, and house plants regularly, to fight infestation by spraying early before extensive damage is done by pests or by diseases.
- Spray bottoms as well as tops of foliage and blooms as thoroughly as possible. Insects attack bottoms as well as tops.
- Clean out sprayers or dusters thoroughly after each use (not aerosols or squeeze-dusters, of course—recap these tightly).
- Don't be upset about precautions; you follow safety rules in driving a car, and you should do the same in using pesticides.

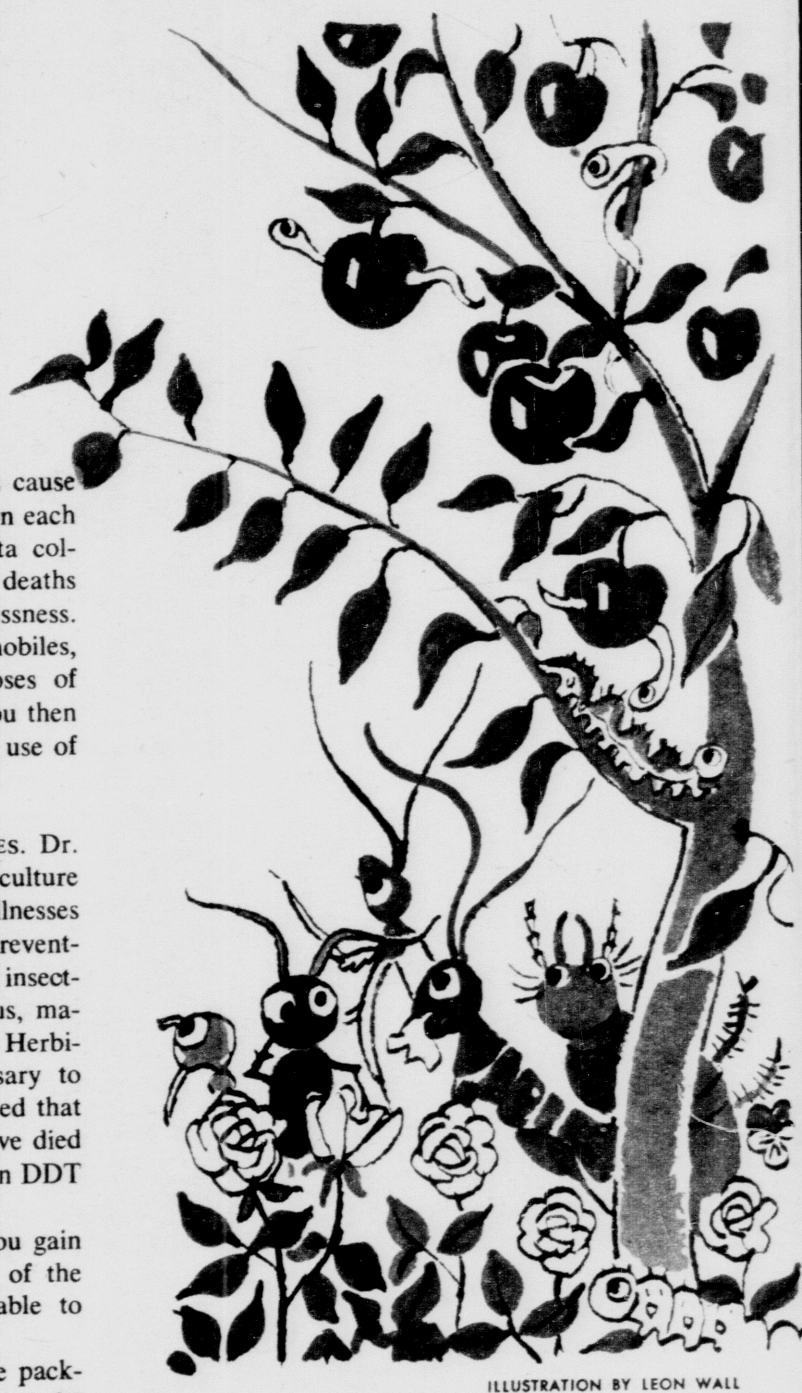

ILLUSTRATION BY LEON WALL

A specific good may come from all the controversy, if more people are led to handle garden and household chemicals more carefully. It's worth repeating that the focus of Miss Carson's frightening book is not on home gardening but on wholesale spraying of wide areas by airplane, tank trucks, and other mass means. I leave proper control of that essential to government and horticultural scientists whom I respect and trust. The conservative Pennsylvania Horticultural Society reminds us: "Without pesticides it would be impossible to feed 180 million Americans and a large segment of the world's population, in addition to our own."

I've only been able to touch some highlights in this brief space, but I hope I have been able to set the record straight and to reassure you gardeners, now that April's here, that pesticides are safe in safe hands.

Can Your Garden Live

The scandal—and the truth—about that dangerous weapon, the gardener's spray gun

BY SAMM SINCLAIR BAKER
author of "Miracle Gardening Encyclopedia"

ARE CHEMICAL PESTICIDES a garden-saving, life-saving boon—or death-dealing poisons? Ask any group of people today, gardeners or not, and you'll usually ignite a violent controversy. The aim here is to search out the truth, for gardeners who want healthy and beautiful lawns and gardens and indoor plants, and for non-gardeners who fear that the widespread use of pesticides may be endangering them and their families. ("Pesticides" mean all gardening chemicals that fight insects, grubs, fungus, diseases, and weeds.)

The main reason for the current explosion is the scholarly and often dull but frightening best seller, Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring." The title refers to the poisoning of wild life, especially song birds, by the misuse of pesticides. The dire consequences that have followed on careless mass sprayings and dustings are described in detail, with the result that many people—even gardeners—have now come to believe that pesticides in themselves are a deadly menace.

Is that the truth? Absolutely not. In case you've been needlessly alarmed, here are some plain facts that will help you simmer down. First, note this well: At no point does even Miss Carson claim that home-gardening use of pesticides causes vast destruction. She's primarily against mass spraying of large acreage.

"It is not my contention," she says, "that chemical insecticides must never be used." But then she fills 367 pages with pesticide horror stories calculated to scare the daylights out of you.

One of the best home gardeners I know said to me, "I got so frightened by all the talk about pesticides last summer that I stopped using them altogether. By the end of the season my lawn was choked with crab grass and ruined by fungus. The roses had black-spot and had been scarred by beetles. My best tomatoes and vegetables were destroyed by worms and bugs, and after years of wonderful crops I didn't pick a single unspoiled apple from my trees.

"Finally I came to my senses and realized that we had to use pesticides to get the beautiful lawns and gardens we'd been enjoying for years. In all those years, by the way, our children never had had the slightest ill effect from my use of chemicals, and neither had our dog nor the cats. Our gardens had been lovely and filled with birds, even though I sprayed regularly. I've learned my lesson. From now on, I'll spray with proper care as I always did. I'll get the lawn and gardens back again and nuts to this hysteria."

I have come to the same conclusion, as a result of considerable recent investigation of my own, plus the practical home-gardening experience I have had since I was five, when I planted my first radish. I am backed up by an overwhelming majority of horticulturalists and other scientists, government experts, nurserymen, farmers, and successful home gardeners, when I advise you, in spite of all the alarms, to go ahead and use our excellent modern pesticides regularly for the benefit of your lawn and garden: use them with proper, sensible care, as directed on the packages and as instructed in any standard gardening book. (You'll find some basic, simple, and good-sense guides later in this article.)

I asked the head gardener at the United Nations, for one, what he thought about using pesticides. Alert, knowledgeable Tom Blaney and a staff of 12 men tend the world-famous rose gardens, lawns, trees, and other beautiful growth at the U. N. headquarters in New York City. He shrugged and said simply, "Without the chemicals we wouldn't have any worth-while roses or shrubs or greenery."

When I asked whether he knew of anyone ever having been injured by using pesticides, he shook his head. He mentioned matter-of-factly that his

So You Think You Can't Save Money?

It's all a matter of finding a way to spend less than you earn. Millions of people have discovered a good way to do just that. They use the Payroll Savings Plan to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Under the Plan any amount they choose is set aside from their pay for Bonds. This makes saving very easy because they've found that the money they don't touch is money they're sure to save—and can't dribble away.

Why U.S. Savings Bonds are such a good way to save

• You can save automatically with the Payroll Savings Plan. • You now earn 3¾% interest at maturity. • You invest without risk under a U.S. Government guarantee. • Your money can't be lost or stolen. • You can get your money, with interest, anytime you want it. • Buy Bonds where you work or bank.

NOW every Savings Bond you own—old or new—earns ½% more than ever before.

You save more than money with U.S. Savings Bonds

The Blaesing family's own heated and air-conditioned bus.

Four of the children—Marilyn, Carol, Karen, and Michael—lounge in the "family room" at the back of the bus. There's a rug on the floor and bright curtains at the windows. Traveling this way, everyone is relaxed.

Right: Ken Blaesing at the wheel. Below: His wife serves a quick snack. She also can prepare a full-course meal in her electric galley, which is powered by the cruiser's 5,000-watt generator.

It's an extraordinary bus! The outside looks standard enough, until you notice the curtains at the windows and the white letters "Private Cruiser" across the top. But the real surprise comes when you climb into the cozy blue and brown interior of this roomy house on wheels.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Blaesing of Bensenville, Illinois, who also have a large, non-mobile home, find that their 35-foot bus is just right for weekend travel and vacations with their six children, ages 3 to 13.

Past the driver's seat up front, there are two tables, one on either side of the bus, that are built right into the wall. With windows everywhere, the sun comes streaming in, and the children love to linger over breakfast here. At night, the Blaesings fold up the tables and lower the bunk beds, built-in overhead, to sleep nine. The bus also has two built-in radios in this area, and a tv!

There's a bath on board, too, with a stainless-steel tub and shower that won't stain no matter how hard the water is. Mrs. Blaesing's pride, however, is her electric galley with a compact stove and even a deep freeze. And it's no trouble for her

The back of the bus is the "family room" with foam-cushioned couches, a rug on the floor, and, once again, windows everywhere.

The Blaesings bought their bus secondhand, a year ago—as an easy way to travel with their children. "Ours is worth about $28,000," says Mr. Blaesing, "and I suppose a new one would cost twice as much." It gets nine miles to the gallon and uses diesel fuel.

"It's easy to handle," says Mr. Blaesing. "Our top speed is about 60 m.p.h.—and we even cruised right up a mountain road to Tucson."

The family's longer jaunts have included a trip to the West Coast and the Wisconsin lakes.

The bus makes quite a stir with passing motorists. The Blaesings were flagged down in Texas by curious on-lookers, and when they stop at filling stations people ask to come aboard. At night, they park in a roadside trailer camp or on a shopping-center parking lot or even on the street. "Traveling in our bus," says Mrs. Blaesing, "we have all the comforts of home, and we don't have to impose on anyone."

HERBED LAMB KIDNEYS IN RICE RING

1 clove garlic, crushed in a garlic press
½ lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced lengthwise through caps and stems
1 large onion, sliced
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
3 to 4 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon crushed rosemary
12 lamb kidneys, cut in half lengthwise and trimmed
Parsley Rice Ring (see recipe)

1. Heat butter in a large skillet. Add garlic, mushrooms, onion, salt, and pepper; cook until mushrooms and onion are lightly browned and tender, stirring occasionally. Remove vegetables with a slotted spoon and keep warm.

2. Mix lemon juice and rosemary into butter remaining in skillet. Add kidneys and cook, turning frequently, 9 to 10 min., or until kidneys are tender but still slightly pink in center.

3. Return vegetables to the skillet and mix lightly with the kidneys. Spoon into center of rice ring (see photo). Serve remaining sauce in a gravy boat.

6 to 8 servings

PARSLEY RICE RING—Bring 4 cups chicken broth to boiling; add 2 cups uncooked rice and 2 teaspoons salt. Cover and cook over low heat for about 25 min., or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir ¼ cup butter and ½ cup snipped parsley into the cooked rice until well blended. Pack with a spoon into a lightly buttered 5½-cup ring mold. Let stand 10 min.; unmold rice ring onto a warm serving plate.

CITRUS MOLD MARASCHINO

1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
¾ cup cold water
½ cup quartered maraschino cherries (about 20)
½ cup drained mandarin oranges
½ cup small seedless green grapes
3 tablespoons (3 env.) unflavored gelatin
⅔ cup sugar
1 cup maraschino cherry sirup
⅔ cup grapefruit juice
⅔ cup lemon juice
⅔ cup orange juice
½ cup lime juice

1. Lightly oil a 2-qt. charlotte mold or a straight-sided soufflé dish with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); set aside to drain.

2. Soften 1 tablespoon gelatin in the ½ cup cold water in a small saucepan. Set over low heat until dissolved, stirring constantly. Mix in remaining water and pour one-half of the gelatin into the mold; chill until almost gelled. (Set remaining gelatin aside at room temperature.)

3. Lightly mark gelatin layer into quarters with a wooden pick. Arrange cherries in two opposite quarters, mandarin oranges in third, and grapes in fourth (see photo). Carefully pour remaining gelatin over fruits and chill until just set, but not firm.

4. Meanwhile, mix remaining gelatin and the sugar together in a saucepan. Stir in the remaining ingredients. Set over low heat until sugar and gelatin are dissolved, stirring constantly.

5. Turn into a medium-sized bowl and set over ice and water, stirring frequently, until gelatin mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white.

6. Beat gelatin mixture with a rotary beater until very light and fluffy. Turn into mold, covering fruit layer, and chill until firm, about 3 hrs.

7. Unmold onto a chilled serving plate. Garnish the plate with stemmed maraschino cherries and green grapes (see photo). If a glaze for cherries and grapes is desired, lightly brush each with light corn sirup.

8 to 10 servings

COCONUT TWISTS

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup lard, hydrogenated vegetable shortening, or all-purpose shortening
¾ cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
⅔ cup flaked coconut

1. Blend first three ingredients together in a bowl. Cut in the lard with a pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse corn meal.

2. Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients; add buttermilk all at one time. Stir with a fork until dough follows fork. Gently form dough into a ball and put on a lightly floured surface. Knead lightly with finger tips 10 to 15 times.

3. Divide dough into halves. Roll each half into a rectangle, about 13x5x¼ in. Using one-half of each of the remaining ingredients for each portion of dough, brush dough with melted butter and sprinkle one lengthwise half with brown sugar, then coconut. Cover with waxed paper and lightly press mixture into dough with rolling pin; remove waxed paper. Fold buttered half over other half; press long edges together to seal.

4. Cut dough crosswise into ½-in. strips. Twist strips; place about 1 in. apart on baking sheets lined with heavy-duty aluminum foil; press ends to seal.

5. Bake at 425°F about 10 min., or until golden brown. Spread with Glossy Orange Frosting and serve warm.

About 4 doz. twists

GLOSSY ORANGE FROSTING—Beat 1 egg white slightly; beat in 1½ cups confectioners' sugar. Add 1 tablespoon butter, melted, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, and ¼ teaspoon orange extract; beat until smooth.

A Captivating Brunch

with a "merrie olde England" influence

SPICED CHOCOLATE-MOCHA

3 sq. (3 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces
2 qts. reliquefied nonfat dry milk (follow package directions)
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup instant coffee
2 4-in. cinnamon sticks
4 whole cloves
Mocha Fluff (see recipe)

1. Put chocolate and 1 cup of the milk into a large, heavy saucepan. Set over low heat and stir until chocolate is melted.

2. Add the remaining milk, sugar, instant coffee, and spices; stir until blended. Heat slowly, stirring occasionally, until steaming hot. Remove and discard the spices. Serve with Mocha Fluff. 8 servings

MOCHA FLUFF

Combine ½ cup nonfat dry milk and ½ cup ice cold water in a bowl. Whip until soft peaks are formed. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice; continue beating until stiff peaks are formed. Add a mixture of ¼ cup sugar and 2 teaspoons instant coffee gradually, beating well after each addition.

PARTY STUFFED EGGS MORNAY

6 eggs, hard-cooked and peeled
Mornay Sauce (see recipe)
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon minced onion
1 cup (about 4 oz.) fresh lump crab meat, bony tissue removed

1. Prepare Mornay Sauce while eggs are cooking. Cover and keep hot over simmering water.

2. To prepare stuffing for eggs: cut eggs lengthwise into halves. Separate yolks and whites; set egg whites aside. Mash egg yolks with a fork and blend in the next four ingredients and about 2 tablespoons of the hot Mornay Sauce.

3. Mix in the crab meat. Spoon filling into the egg whites. Place stuffed eggs in the chafing dish blazer over simmering water.

4. Cut slices of ripe avocado into pieces and stir into the Mornay Sauce. Pour sauce over and around the eggs in the blazer pan. Cover chafing dish; heat to serving temperature. 6 servings

MORNAY SAUCE

3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
¾ cup cooled chicken broth (use 1 chicken bouillon cube and ¾ cup hot water)
1 cup cream
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
⅓ cup (1½ oz.) Gruyère cheese, cut in small pieces
1 tablespoon butter

1. Heat the 3 tablespoons butter in a double-boiler top over low heat. Blend in the flour and heat until mixture is bubbly.

2. Remove from heat and stir while gradually adding the chicken broth and cream. Bring rapidly to boiling, stirring constantly; boil 1 to 2 min.

3. Remove from heat. Blend several tablespoons of the hot mixture into the egg yolks; immediately return to mixture in top of double boiler.

4. Cook 3 to 5 min. over simmering water, stirring occasionally. Add the cheese and butter and stir until melted. Serve hot. About 2 cups sauce

I suppose there are women who don't use Tampax, although personally, I can't fathom it. As they say in the textbooks, autre generation, autre views. It just seems to me, however, too screamingly outrageous to be trapped in the backwoods country. The Tampax way is the modern way. And that's that.

* * * *

Tampax has received thousands of letters that express sorrow, sympathy and even disdain for the non-user. The Tampax user is apt to be pretty firm about her convictions. She insists that ours is a better way, a nicer way, a marvelous way. She points to the virtues of no odor, no bulge, no embarrassment, no fuss, no trouble. She mentions traveling. She stresses freedom. We've even received mail that states . . . "this is the first day I've used it; I couldn't wait to write you".

NO BELTS

HOW TO SUCCEED ON YOUR INCOME TAX

(Without Really Trying)

author of "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying" and—coming this month—"Dudley, There is No Tomorrow!" "Then How About This Afternoon?"

Thanks to this free and timely advice, you can breeze through your returns and get back to mending and painting the screens

■ HAVE YOU SEEN this year's "Federal Income Tax Form"? It runs to 28 pages—28. I've just counted them manually (the government in its offhand way left a few unnumbered at the end).

"Our tax laws have become unbelievably complex," as Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin says. All the more reason not to panic, to be sure you have a clear understanding of basic procedures before you bog down in the complexities (p. 3). In this area, in view of my considerable experience, I believe a few points from my book, "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying" will be a valuable aid to the wary taxpayer. Putting first things first:

000, small return for your effort.

Take advantage of the capital-gains law, and it will be a far different story. Make a deal with, say, a rising canner of concentrated papaya juice. Buy 100,000 shares of stock at ten cents a share. Appear on his television program and in all his advertising. Soon the papaya juice will be so popular you can sell your stock at $10 a share, giving you a profit of $990,000, a capital gain, and taxable at about 25%. Thus you will clear more than $700,000, which will enable you to live as a good Indian wrestler should.

Under this clever system Indian wrestlers are encouraged to think about papaya juice as well as Indian wrestling, more capital is poured into industry, and everyone benefits.

This method can be used on a more complicated but equally effective scale in most businesses.

Have an Expense Account

The expense account will be a powerful ally in your struggle to keep some of your own money. All business expenses are deductible, no matter how frivolous they may seem to you, as long as they are kept on a high plane.

For example, your shipping clerk will be sternly reprimanded — and rightly so — if he attempts to deduct his commutation fare from Parkview to the office, whereas a sympathetic government wisely allows you to deduct the expense of a few weeks in Miami, as long as you can show that it helped to further customer relations.

Many useful services are deductible if properly explained.

"Uh, Mr. Finch, how do you explain this deduction of $150 a week to a Miss Yvonne Schultz at 470 Park Avenue?"

"Research, market research. She does it for me on a personal basis. Frightfully efficient girl, earns every penny."

Remember that the government wants only its legitimate tax dollar. You will be encouraged to make all legal deductions.

Buy an Oil Well

You don't have to be from Texas to have unlimited and practically untaxable wealth. Anyone who can afford an oil well can do it. No need to pay most of your income in taxes. The lucky oil-well owner can deduct most of his as "depletion of reserves."

A few sly fellows have tried to claim that by working they were depleting their own mental and physical reserves. A vigilant government soon put a stop to that. The law is intended to encourage investment and conserve mineral resources.

Anyone can imagine how morally dangerous it would be to try to conserve human resources.

Just the same, why don't you put away your tax forms and go quietly now and digest these truths on the golf course?

"Is it bullish or bearish that makes you like a big breakfast?"

ROSE GROWERS!

new health and vigor can be yours

ARE YOU WAN AND NERVOUS, WORRYING ABOUT YOUR ROSES?...WORN OUT TRYING TO BRING THE BLOOM BACK TO THEIR CHEEKS? ...RUN-DOWN TRYING TO FIGHT OFF INSECTS AND DISEASE? HELP IS HERE AT LAST! ORTHO HAS PUT TOGETHER A ROSE KIT THAT TAKES CARE OF EVERYTHING BUT THE THORNS!

At last you can relax. Instead of struggling with a special spray for this insect and a special dust for that...or trying frantically to find the perfect fertilizer...you reach for one handy rose kit. The ORTHO people have packaged together everything you need to get the blooms you planted for: the ORTHO Rose Duster and a bottle of ORTHO Liquid Rose Food.

Rose Dust controls both insects and disease. And ORTHO Liquid Rose Food is just what the experts ordered to feed roses—a balanced formula in easily-digested liquid form.

EASY DOES IT

The ORTHO people wanted to simplify the time-consuming task of rose care. First they invented Rose Dust. By combining insecticides and fungicides, they did away with the need for doing two jobs: controlling diseases and halting insects. Then they developed the pliable plastic duster. You just aim the Rose Duster and squeeze. You put protection on blooms and leaves—"pouf"... like that! If you "pouf" around the rose bush about every 7 to 10 days during the growing season, you'll probably stop trouble before it ever starts. Rose Dust wards off most bugs and blights that ruin roses. Aphids, thrips, rose weevil, Japanese beetle, powdery mildew, black spot and rust.

ROSE FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Then they set out to make a perfect rose food. They had to find a formula that gave roses all the nutrients they need; a food that also gave a quick feeding for a surge of growth as well as a steady feeding to keep bushes growing strong. The answer: ORTHO Liquid Rose Food, loaded with nitrogen, phosphorous and potash. With a chelating agent added to "unlock" iron and other valuable minerals in the soil and make them available to the roots. They made it liquid so roses could take it in quickly through their leaves as well as through their roots. So ORTHO Liquid Rose Food goes to work fast, then lingers in the soil for lasting feeding. Result: you get bigger blooms and more of them. Longer, stronger stems. Healthier foliage.

WHAT PRICE GLORIOUS BLOOMS?

Now before you rush down to the bank to withdraw your savings to buy this kit, listen to the news. ORTHO Liquid Rose Food and the Rose Duster together in one box cost just $1.88. Ordinarily, you'd pay $2.28. You actually save 40 cents! So why not apply that to the purchase of an ORTHO Lawn Sprayer if you don't already have one? It's the perfect way to apply ORTHO Liquid Rose Food. It dilutes the liquid to just the right proportion as it sprays. And it gives you the perfect spray for proper foliar feeding. Extra bonus: it's guaranteed for four years.

So pin a rose on the gardener who visits his authorized ORTHO dealer tomorrow and gets the best rose deal going: the new ORTHO rose kit going for just $1.88. Better hurry; he only has just so many.

Your Income Tax

There are increasing numbers of businessmen who, because of carelessness or foolish mistakes, often find themselves behind bars. Unfortunate as this is, it is gratifying to note that the old social prejudices are rapidly approaching the vanishing point. A short stay with the government is being accepted more and more as "part of the game," and some of our girls are devoting their afternoons to preparing going-away baskets, organizing visiting teams, and writing cheer-up letters.

Though it is true that you may form many valuable and lasting friendships among your fellow inmates, it should be pointed out that it is difficult not only to do your job from these institutions but also to rise in your own organization. Many a man has been passed over for promotion because he was temporarily not "on the spot."

Hail to the Graduated Tax

Although breaking the law may be considered fashionable by some, it is not always necessary. In this country we have what is known as the "graduated income tax." This means, simply, that when you graduate to the really big money, a grateful government finds many little ways to let you keep it.

The very poor and the very rich pay relatively few taxes. It is the middle-income salaried man who supports the government. If you insist on keeping money, it is well to leave this classification as soon as possible and get into what is sometimes called the "real gravy."

Make It a Capital Gain

The capital gains law is a fine, generous system for encouraging initiative, free enterprise, and hard work.

It operates very simply. Let us say you are the world's greatest Indian wrestler, able to command a million dollars a year in personal-appearance fees. If you just take the million, you will have to pay more than ninety cents on the dollar in income taxes and will keep less than $100,- taxes are high. The owner of a $30,000 house pays $794. Delinquent taxes are rare; collections last year were 98.88%.

Town Manager Paul H. Hermann, young and towering, thinks the library is doing quite well with its regular budget and the money for a new wing to be added to its present quarters in the Town Hall, built in 1888. The heavy demands for schools leave no extra funds for the library, he says.

Barrington has spent some $5,000,000 on new schools since 1939, and it expects to spend another $5,000,000 in the next seven or eight years.

"The average municipal budget in Rhode Island allows 6/10 of 1% for libraries, and we are spending twice that," Hermann says.

Prize-winning Library —on a Shoestring

Wing at right houses Barrington Library.

THE PRIZE-WINNING Public Library of Barrington, Rhode Island, suffers from a common condition of libraries—short rations. (Ask the nearest librarian. He or she can recite all the symptoms.) In spite of the handicap, this library in a suburb of Providence has vigorously embarked on a number of projects that others might envy—or copy—and has built a national reputation for excellence.

Book circulation is more than 10 volumes per capita annually, against a national average of only four volumes. Although Barrington ranked only 17th in population among Rhode Island cities in 1960, the library's total circulation of books is third highest in the state.

This year the Barrington library won the Rhode Island award in the Book-of-the-Month Club's annual contest for small-town libraries. The $1,000 prize, given in memory of Dorothy Canfield Fisher, was voted by a committee of the Public Library Association, a division of the American Library Association.

The money will be joyfully spent for new books. The library has a tight budget of $36,468, which permits only $6,000 for books, periodicals, and phonograph records. Salaries of the seven and one-half staff members total $24,668. This is an average of only $63 a week, almost equal to the $64 minimum for janitors in the Barrington public schools.

How can the library perform so well with so little money? One reason is Miss Susan E. Demery, the librarian. A blue-eyed, reddish blonde, she was well endowed by her Canadian-Irish-Scotch-French Huguenot forebears to cope with the rigors of a sparse economic climate. Another reason is a devoted staff and a sympathetic board of trustees. A third explanation is that most of the 15,382 people in Barrington like the library and some are permanently in love with it. Witness the episode of the green stamps:

The library's social life in a community of high social standards had been handicapped for lack of a silver service. To request one in the annual budget was unthinkable; to hope for a bequest was unrealistic. Miss Demery turned to a handy reference volume entitled Catalog of Premiums. She found what she wanted, for 33 books of stamps.

Plainly, as she wrote in her mimeographed Notebook for library patrons, "One old maid can't buy enough produce to fill many books, even if she has a cat with a lion's appetite." Thirty-nine townspeople responded with stamps. One elderly lady brought in most of a sheet, her reward for buying a corset. Another reader donated six completed books.

The silver service is now in use. Coffee and tea are unlimited, thanks to Russell W. Field, Jr., chairman of the trustees. His business is Brownell & Field Co., distributors of coffee and tea.

Other benefactions have included tomatoes, bluefish, candy, squash, ice cream, turnips, eggnog, and fruit cake. The Garden Club provides fresh flowers all year.

ABOUT 80% of Barrington's breadwinners commute to Providence in the northwest or to Fall River in the southeast. Incomes are generally comfortable and often cozy. Because the town has only one important industry, the Rhode Island Lace Works, residential

If you're shock treating your pool, you're making a dreadful mistake.

If you have to periodically shock treat (superchlorinate) your home pool, you're making a mistake. Even if you're using Olin's pool chlorine, HTH,® to do it. Because if you have to shock treat, you're not getting enough active chlorine into your pool on a day-to-day basis. Which means that for at least part of each week you and your family are swimming in water that is not free of bacteria and algae. And that's something you can't undo by shock treating.

There's a reason, of course, why people go on making this mistake. They think it's too much bother to chlorinate every day. And daily chlorination is the only way to avoid shock treating.

Bother? What bother?

Except that it doesn't have to be bother. It isn't when you use HTH, anyway. And the reason is that HTH contains 70% free, available chlorine. The 70% figure means that it's concentrated: you get a lot of chlorine in a small space. So you only have to pour a small amount into the pool each day. (The exact amount depends upon the pool size.) As soon as the HTH hits the water, its chlorine is released and the bacteria are destroyed. So are the algae; you don't have to buy a special algaecide when you use HTH. And, you can immediately swim in the water.

And because HTH is concentrated, a single 100-lb. drum (delivered to your garage) provides enough chlorine for the entire average swimming season. The total cost is about the same as (or less than) what it costs you to haul jugs of liquid bleach all summer.

Free or locked-up?

Of course you could use the long-lasting organic chlorine compounds. They also provide a summer's worth of chlorine in a relatively small space. But when these compounds are in your pool, they keep a large part of their chlorine "locked-up" chemically. Such chlorine is not always "free" and "available" to sanitize pool water. It will give a chlorine "residual" reading on your test kit, but will not necessarily provide an adequate bacteria-kill when needed. That's why you have to shock treat (the mistake) when you use organics. (For more information, write for Olin's free booklet: Home Pool Care.)

HTH granular is available in 100-lb. drums, 35-lb. pails and 3¼-lb. plastic bottles. Slow dissolving HTH tablets are also available by the drum, pail and bottle. Either granular or tablets will do an equally good job at saving you from your shocking habit.

Librarian Susan Demery stretches her $$.

Prize-winning Library

But I don't think we could ever satisfy Miss Demery."

Nor could Barrington altogether satisfy the American Library Association which, despite its modesty, recommends a public library expenditure of $3.50 per capita. Barrington is spending $2.36.

Although the town has spent heavily on schools, it has skimped on school libraries. The high school and one junior high school have libraries. The second junior high and all five elementary schools have none. The public library has tried to make up for the lack, but that's like asking a child to do an army's work.

The Barrington library is pitifully short of space (only two tables for children), short of personnel (only one trained children's librarian), and short of books (only 8,167 for children). Obviously these facilities cannot serve adequately all the children from schools that have no libraries.

The public library has tried to fill the bookless void with several devices. First, collections of books are lent to teachers who request them for classroom use. Second, teachers are encouraged to give the library advance notice of their assignments, so that paperbacks can be bought when needed. Third, groups of students are shown how to make use of library resources. Fourth, teachers are invited to tea in September to see what the library has—and what it doesn't have.

"Books are more important today than ever before," says Miss Marion F. Holt, the children's librarian. "School assignments are tougher, especially in science. The children's reading levels are higher. Seventh and eighth grade students are using adult books."

Small libraries run by volunteers have been established in two elementary schools. Fifth and sixth grade pupils are in charge of one, and the other is managed by a reading teacher and the PTA. Most of the books come from the public library.

But there is no dodging the acute shortage of books, space, and trained personnel. Although municipal officials may not be irked by the library's inadequacies, the young readers are.

"The Barrington Times article said there should be 100,000 books in a library of this town's size, but there are only 35,000," comments Jim Paroline, 15. (His figures were right.)

Guido Colarulli, Jr., also 15, pushes aside the 1884 edition of John S. White's Boys' and Girls' Plutarch to add:

"Another thing wrong is that lovable law that you can't go upstairs or downstairs to the stacks without being an angel with wings, because some kids do something wrong."

Miss Demery concedes that limited access to the stacks is a nuisance to young readers and also to staff members, who must search for books. The rule was made when a few students used the walls for Barrington's main reading room is popular and attractive, but more space is badly needed.

observations on their classmates, and others began to remove portions of books. The Barrington library is stoutly opposed to vivisection.

"Since only two of eight public schools have libraries, we have a heavy load," Miss Demery says. "One result is that our adult readers get pushed around. When I order new books, I find myself thinking about what the teachers want for classroom use. The more books we get for the schools, the fewer we can buy for general readers."

The schools also provide general readers. One of them is Judy Feigert, 12, who watches television about two hours an evening but still finds time for the Black Stallion series of Walter Farley. "Horses and I just go together," she says.

SUCH EXTRAVAGANCES as printed letterheads and a good mimeograph machine are not seen at the Barrington library. Fortunately, the public schools have decorated and expertly mimeographed a series of pleasure reading lists prepared by the library for various grades.

One of Miss Demery's ideas is an example for the nation. She invented an organization that elects no officers, keeps no minutes, collects no dues, and functions beautifully. This is the Bristol County Library Association, which includes both public and school librarians and meets at a different library each month.

"We just get there and talk about books and other things," Miss Demery says.

The librarian sees little hope that the dream of a new and separate library building, envisioned by the League of Women Voters and other thoughtful citizens, will be realized in the next years. There isn't enough pressure, and in civic affairs it is pressure that tips the scales. Since 1939 the library hasn't acquired an extra square foot of space. But in that period the town's population has grown from 6,000 to 15,000. Five new schools have been built and four school buildings enlarged.

"Everyone glibly asserts the value and indispensability of the public library in the educational, informational and recreational life of the town, yet few people seem to think it must grow as the town grows," Miss Demery wrote in the library Notebook two years ago.

Barrington is not alone, of course, with its problems of public and school libraries. The nation's public libraries are trying to serve their communities with an average per capita expenditure of only $1.62.

Even with the $3.50 per capita recommended by the American Library Association, a good job for both adults and students would be impossible. Ask Miss Demery, who gets $2.36.

If you drink Cointreau you'll be arrested!

True. That exquisite orange flavor is arresting. Delectably different. By itself, after dinner (tonight!). In highballs. In the tastiest of cocktails, the Side Car. P.S.—Cointreau Liqueur and its 19 companion cordials are magical in the kitchen, too, in main dishes and desserts.

Banana Meringue au Cointreau:

Split 6 bananas lengthwise. Macerate for 1 hour in mixture of 2 oz. Cointreau Liqueur and 2 oz. brandy. Draw off liquid and saute bananas in butter for 10 minutes on slow fire. Twenty minutes before serving, prepare meringue: Beat 5 egg whites, gradually adding 10 tablespoons of sugar. Pour half of maceration juice over bananas. Add another 1 oz. brandy. Set aflame. Cover bananas with meringue. Place in hot oven to brown lightly. MUSIC WALL

Everything from a place for stereo equipment to room for the children's boots can be built into this storage unit. The plans show how variations are made.

DRAWING BY HANKE

A Lot to Show for a

Each of these three projects for the family craftsman should give a big springtime lift to anyone's home-improvement program

■ THE DO-IT-YOURSELF movement today is bigger than ever, according to Donald R. Brann, who has been designing patterns for the home craftsman for a generation. More leisure and the tedium of much tv fare, he says, have something to do with it, but the high price of labor is an even greater inducement to make your own home improvements. At $3.50 an hour—a modest rate for a carpenter these days—how much would you save if you put in two weeks of your own spare time at one of the three projects shown on this and the opposite page?

They were picked by Mr. Brann because all three show quick results with a minimum of time and effort.

The Music Wall is designed so that it can be adapted to any wall-to-wall space, and you can include what you wish—bookshelves, radio, television set, hi-fi components, record bin, or storage cabinets. The 36-page booklet and patterns give plans for all sorts of variations and show how to install components.

The Lawn Glider (pattern also available) is an old-fashioned favorite that's coming back strong. Mr. Brann says one reason for its popularity with craftsmen is that you're not likely to find it in stores.

A Picnic Table, of course, is a standard fixture. But the one shown on the next page, upper right, has a unique feature. Seats and table top can be folded for protection against bad weather.

To make any of these items, the first of the few tools you'll need is an ordinary pair of scissors—to clip the coupon below.

Why just one feeding of Vitogro for Grass greens your lawn from spring to fall

A healthy lawn has a vigorous appetite, and needs a steady diet of good food to stay green and healthy all season.

But this no longer means monthly bouts with the spreader, thanks to the plant scientists at Swift's Research Laboratories.

One well-balanced meal

These nutritionists set out to formulate a lawn food that would contain enough nitrogen and other essential nutrients for 24 to 26 weeks of feeding, in a form that would require one feeding and one feeding only for a full summer of growth.

The biggest problem was not how much food to put in, but how to regulate the release to space out the feeding properly. For though nitrogen is life to growing things, too much at one time causes rank, watery growth. Certain other nutrients, if fed improperly, can burn out an entire lawn overnight.

Built-in regulator

The result of this research is Vitogro for Grass, the lawn food with a built-in regulator . . . so well-stocked with nutrients, that one application nourishes your lawn all summer . . . so gentle-acting that you could spread double the recommended amount without burning a blade of grass.

Vitogro's special greenish granules release the nutrients into the soil through bacterial action. This feeds your lawn at a controlled rate, day after day. No need to water-in. No chance of brown-out. With enough moisture to get through the "dog days," your lawn will stay lush and green up to fall.

Try Vitogro for Grass on your lawn. Apply it this spring, and see how you can make your grass stand up and behave all summer—even if you're a first-time user of lawn foods.
